12,775 nights of homework.
1820 weeks of cheering on the Warriors. 420 months of laughing with friends. 35 years of strong DHS traditions!

Every fall for the past 35 years, DHS halls have swarmed with groups of students. As students grew to be adults, and the world constantly changed, one thing became apparent...
Spirit remained constant,
enthusiasm stayed the same.
In fact, what it all comes down to is that

SOME THINGS NEVER CHANGE!

Deerfield's 35th year also meant Deerfield's 35th senior class. These graduating seniors are proud to carry this title, as they cheer on the Warriors at their fourth and final pep rally. Nights like these, along with time spent amongst friends, are what makes up 35 years of fond memories. As students come and leave DHS every year, they can find reassurance in the fact that these memories will never die! (LEFT) Photo by Halterman Photography.

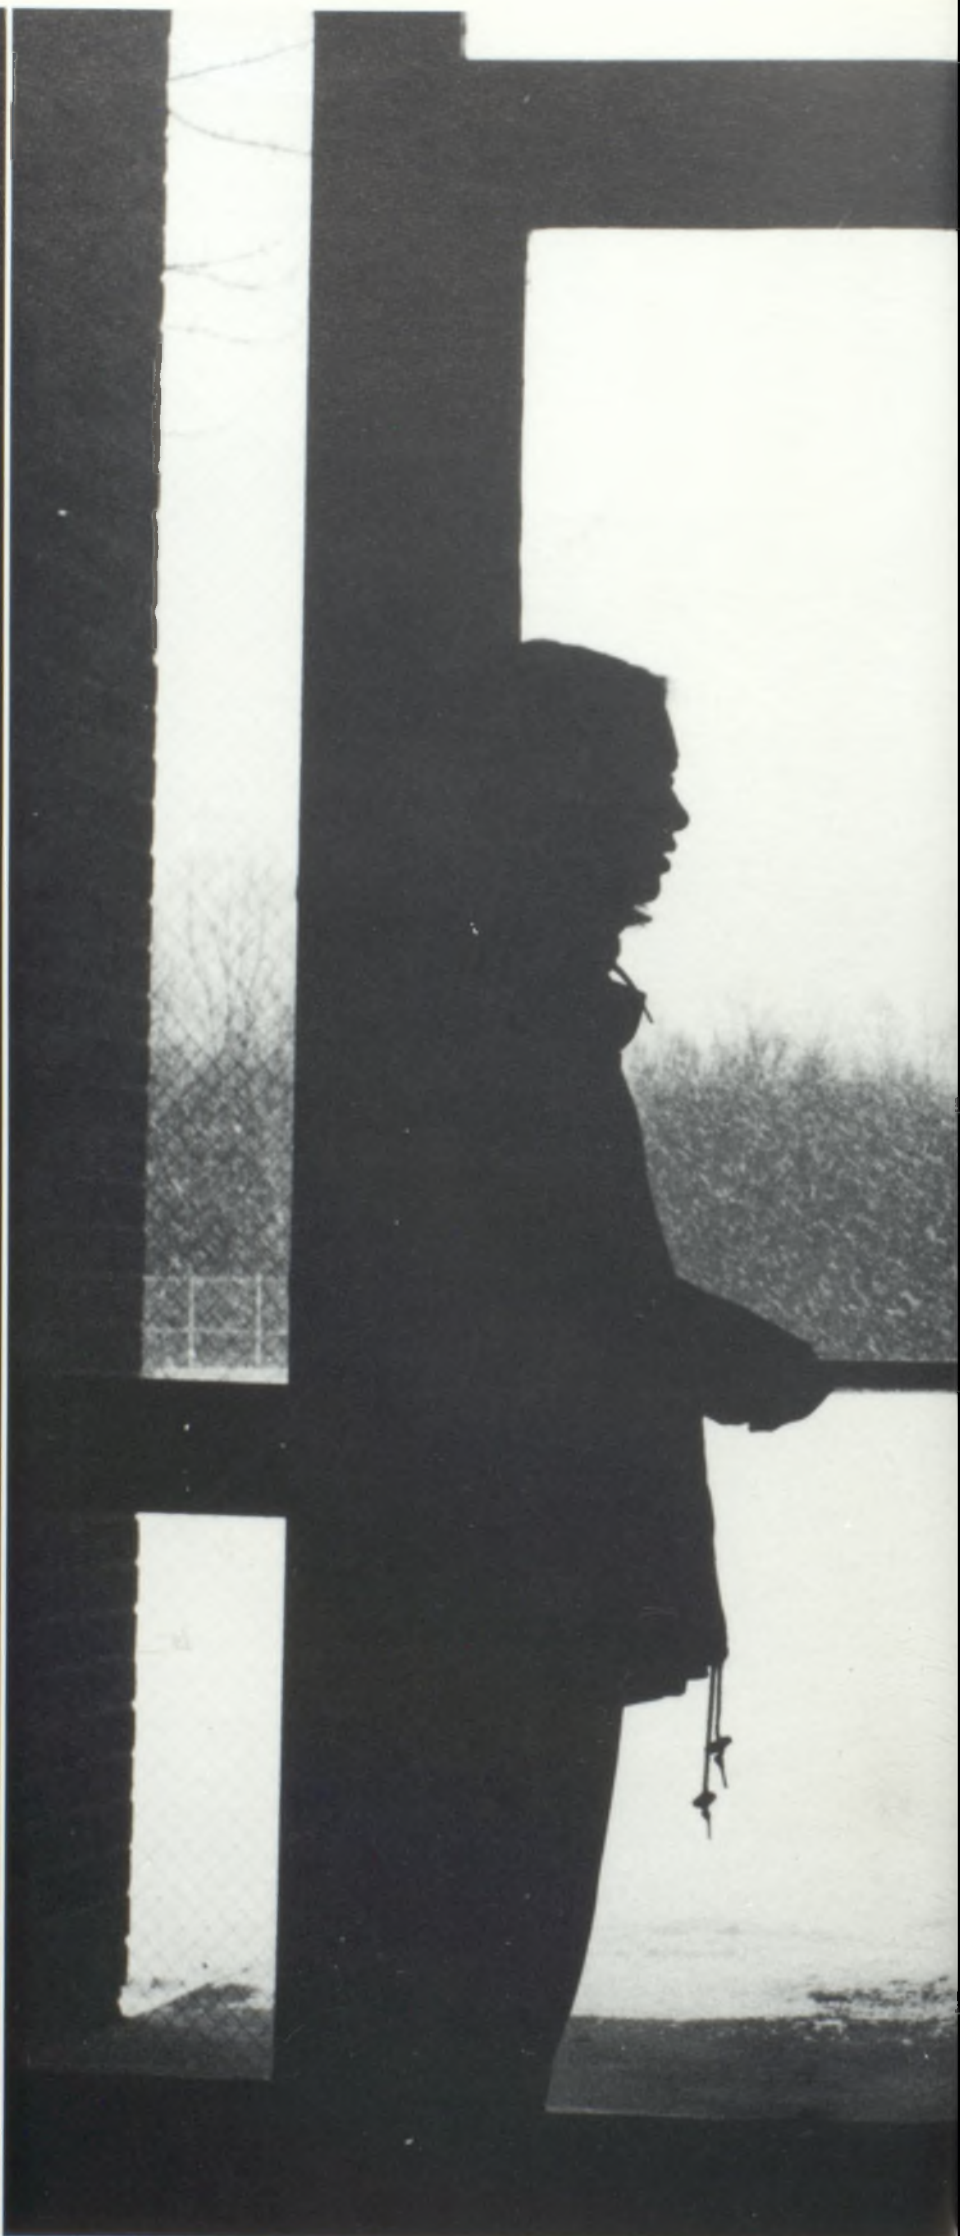

For 12,775 days, the halls of DHS have been open to thousands of students. In that time, computers have revolutionized the way the school is run, and the Class of '96 is going out into a much different world than the Class of '61. Even though so much seems to have changed, the attitudes and spirit of DHS students has stayed the same. 35 years ago, 204 students were proud to say that they graduated from DHS, and this year, 287 are proud to say the same thing. SOME THINGS NEVER CHANGE!

Student Life

Traveling through Toledo, Spain, Seniors Lindsay Kruss, Amanda Rubel, and Michelle Kruss spend time touring with Señora Sanchez, and Highland Park Seniors Joanna Pluta, Juliana Sanchez and Jaime Genender. According to Michelle, "During my two weeks in Spain, I learned a great deal and made many new friends." (RIGHT) Photo given by Michelle Kruss.

After her Irish step dancing competition in Atlanta, Senior Nancy Ziemba proudly displays her trophy. Summer is a time for students to take a break from the stresses of school and enjoy participating in activities that they usually don't have time for. (ABOVE) Photo given by Nancy Ziemba.

"I waited 73 consecutive hours for the ice cream man to come...he didn't." - Freshman Jonathan Goorvich

"I went to a camp called Trail Mark in the state of Washington where I hiked, camped out, white water rafted and kayaked. It was amazing!" - Sophomore Liz Berlinsky

"I was a bank teller this summer. One of the tellers next to me was robbed by a man with a gun who ordered her to give him all the money in her drawer." - Senior Nancy Ziemba

"This summer I went to Israel for six weeks. I learned a lot and made friends from all over the world." - Senior Laura Septon

"I was in the play Sound of Music and when the lights went out, I tripped over three people and fell." - Junior Sara Noerper

KICKING OFF THE NEW year

Laughing, dancing, and spending time with friends after a long summer really made a successful evening at the annual kick-off dance. Deerfield's Student Council began the year with a bang on the first Friday night of the new school year. Over 450 students attended the Kick-off dance and enjoyed the music provided by Mobile Music. Student Council benefited from the profits in order to provide students with a memorable Homecoming experience.

The most talked about question of the night was definitely, "Have you met your Homecoming date yet?" It has been the oldest slogan for the kick-off dance and students were often asked to Homecoming throughout the night.

The annual Mudfest was also a huge success. Deerfield students spent the entire day caked in mud at Jewett Park as they competed in tug-of-war and volleyball in mud pits as well as the pie eating contest. The Deerfield community sponsored this afternoon of fun, games, and slovenliness. The band "Joanie's Loaf" played live during the busy day of activities. All participants left with souvenir tee shirts sporting blue pigs and two senior teams took home the award winning sports towels.

LIVING THE LIVES OF stars

The stars were out on the night of Homecoming in the cafeteria as students attended the "Hollywood Nights" dance. Music filled the cafe as couples danced the night away. The upbeat music of the deejay made Hollywood seem even closer to Deerfield. At the end of the night, satisfied students left school, but to many their night was only beginning. Many groups of couples went on to dinner or an activity. "My group of 42 people went on to dinner with an exciting murder mystery," said Senior Liz Mallon.

The annual Homecoming parade took place on the morning of the Homecoming Game. Each class made a float that represented their theme, and the Freshman class took first place in the annual competition. The Marching Band, Cheerleaders, and Pom Pon squad all participated in the parade by performing for the spectators.

MIGHTY EFFORT COMES UP short

In 1967, tickets for the Homecoming dance cost only $2.50 per couple. In 1995, the dance cost $15 per couple and for the first time, single tickets were available for $7.50.

A new tradition was started this year by the Varsity football players. When they participated in a Conference Championship game (as this year's Homecoming happened to be), the players taped their shoes in red.

The stands were packed with fans, students, parents, and DHS alumni, despite the cold and rainy weather. Unfortunately, these fans did not leave happy as the Warriors clashed with the Hawks of Maine South. Maine South's extraordinary kicking game kept the Warriors down from the beginning. The Warriors, led by Senior tailback Greg Grossman and Senior quarterback Billy Kuhn, fought hard but could not get the offense going. The defense, led by Cornerback Grossman, tackle Billy Herman and linebacking core of Senior Lee Melchiorre, and Juniors Brian Moss and Bob "The Werewolf" Fraumann, were hurt by the weather conditions and had trouble keeping their footing. In the end, the 33-0 loss was a huge disappointment. Nonetheless, the Warriors left proud of themselves and hoping to see the red tape around their shoes again next year.

WARRIORS DEMONSTRATE spirit

1964 was the first official DHS Homecoming Weekend. It started Friday night with the pep rally, followed by the Snake Dance out to the bonfire. All students then attended the Coke Dance, where everyone received free Cokes.

In 1966 and 1972, this spirit jug was stolen. To this day, the culprit is unknown.

The blinding lights, golden masks and loud music that came from the gym could have easily been mistaken with a scene from a Hollywood movie. It was much more interesting; it was Pep Rally at DHS! Starring Seniors, Jazzy Juniors, Starstruck Sophomores, and Famous Freshmen went to Hollywood to celebrate Homecoming '95.

The fun began when the fall sports teams rushed into the exhibition gym to be greeted by cheers. One of the most exciting moments of the pep rally was the performance of the Jesse White Tumblers. The energetic and amusing Pep Rally demonstrated the first class attitude of these Hollywood Homecoming Nights.

The week of Homecoming began on a Saturday evening when members of Student Council stayed up all night to decorate the school. Upon arriving at school on Tuesday, wearing their pajamas, the students observed the endless display of Hollywood decor. Students participated in Spirit Week by dressing in their jerseys, and class and school colors.

SENIOR WOMEN TAKE charge

The parade. Pep Rally. The football game. The last Students dressing up in red and gray. The dance. These were some of the common sights of the week before Homecoming throughout the halls of DHS. But on the Wednesday before the game, the school experienced a crazy rush as the Senior Women took on the Juniors in the annual Powder Puff contest.

Four Senior teams rotated in against only one Junior team and tradition proved itself true as the Seniors won the four quarter game. All of these girls ran around in jerseys and eye black, none of them thinking of the upcoming dance with dresses and done up hair and manicures. After practicing for weeks, the two teams showed their stuff on the field. The strong Senior team prevailed. "Powder Puff for the last two years has been a great time. I love football and it is so much fun to play in such a relaxed environment," said Senior Julie Samuels.

The last Junior Powder Puff Team to win a game was in 1974, 21 years ago. Since then, the Seniors have upheld the strong winning tradition.

HARD WORK LEADS TO SUCCESS

The last time that DHS performed Our Town was exactly ten years ago, in 1985. This year was the fourth time that this play had been done by our Theater Department.

One never seems to notice the everyday details in their life. According to Thornton Wilder's "Our Town", one must remember that every moment counts and to live life to the fullest. This play, which was about the lives and deaths of people growing up in a small town, had the crowd leaving the Studio Theater in tears. The lead of Emily was played by Junior Amy Rubenstein who gave a tearjerking performance and was accompanied by the other leads, Sophomore Ross Golan as George, and Senior Emily Barr as the narrator.

The play would never have been the same without the direction of Carl Menninger and the cooperation of the whole cast. Everyone pulled together to make this a great production. Said Junior Lara Levine, "The fall play sets the tone for the following performances of the year and afterwards I felt assured that this year would be filled with friendships and success."

GROOVIN' TO THE music

Showing the rest of the school how hard they worked was what the Tumblers got to do in their show, "This is How We Do It." Despite setbacks, the show was a huge success. All of the tumblers put in a lot of time and effort practicing daily, after school and often on weekends. This year's show was run by a group of Seniors, President Charlie Lewitz, Vice-President Niki Solberg, Secretary Jaonne Heuberger, and GIMA Representative Hillary Blanchard. The Senior Club members consisted of Diana Forman, Karly Kaufman, Amy Kreiter, and Liz Mallon.

The tumblers worked hard to pick upbeat music and creative choreographing. The variety of dance moves and music were included in "Jungle Love" by the Steve Miller Band, "Shoop" by Salt 'n' Pepper and the closing was performed to "Send Me on My Way" by Rusted Root. The costumes were chosen by the individual choreographers of each dance and were able to be purchased with help from GIMA.

After being involved with tumblers for four years, Senior Hillary Blanchard said, "It's been great since Freshman year. This year was definitely the best and we'll miss it a lot next year."

CHECKING IN AT STUNTS

STUNTS Preparations for this year's STUNTS began as early as last year when the Executive and General board positions were selected. The combined board members then chose the theme and title for the show. The theme of STUNTS '95 was events that take place in a hotel and the title was The Last Resort. Towards the end of '94-95' school year and during the summer, many Deerfield students combined their creative talents to write the scenes for this year's show. In October auditions were held and the rehearsal process soon began. Hard work and dedication were put in by the talented members of the board, cast, crew and band.

Senior Liana Katz, who was the co-choreographer of STUNTS, stated, "Although it took a lot of time and hard work, it was very rewarding to see the show come together and hear the audience applaud!" The five faculty sponsors, Mr. White, Ms. Colins, Mrs. Foucalt, Ms. Nielson, and Mr. Menninger also contributed a great deal of time and effort into making STUNTS '95 the success that it was.

TRICK OR TREAT IN THE Rain

Since "For Halloween, dress in drag and dance the hula." - Deerfield's Freshman Craig Hurvitz
first year,
1961, students "This year on Halloween I went to the Phish show. It have been was really cool because a lot of people were dressed up dressing up for as their favorite songs." - Senior Cari Jacobson Halloween. In the 1970s, the "I dressed up as a girl for a costume party." - festivities for Sophomore Justin Divenanzo
Halloween
would last five "I went trick or treating with my friends in the rain."- days, in what Sophomore Nicki Kurokawa compiled
"Halloweek."

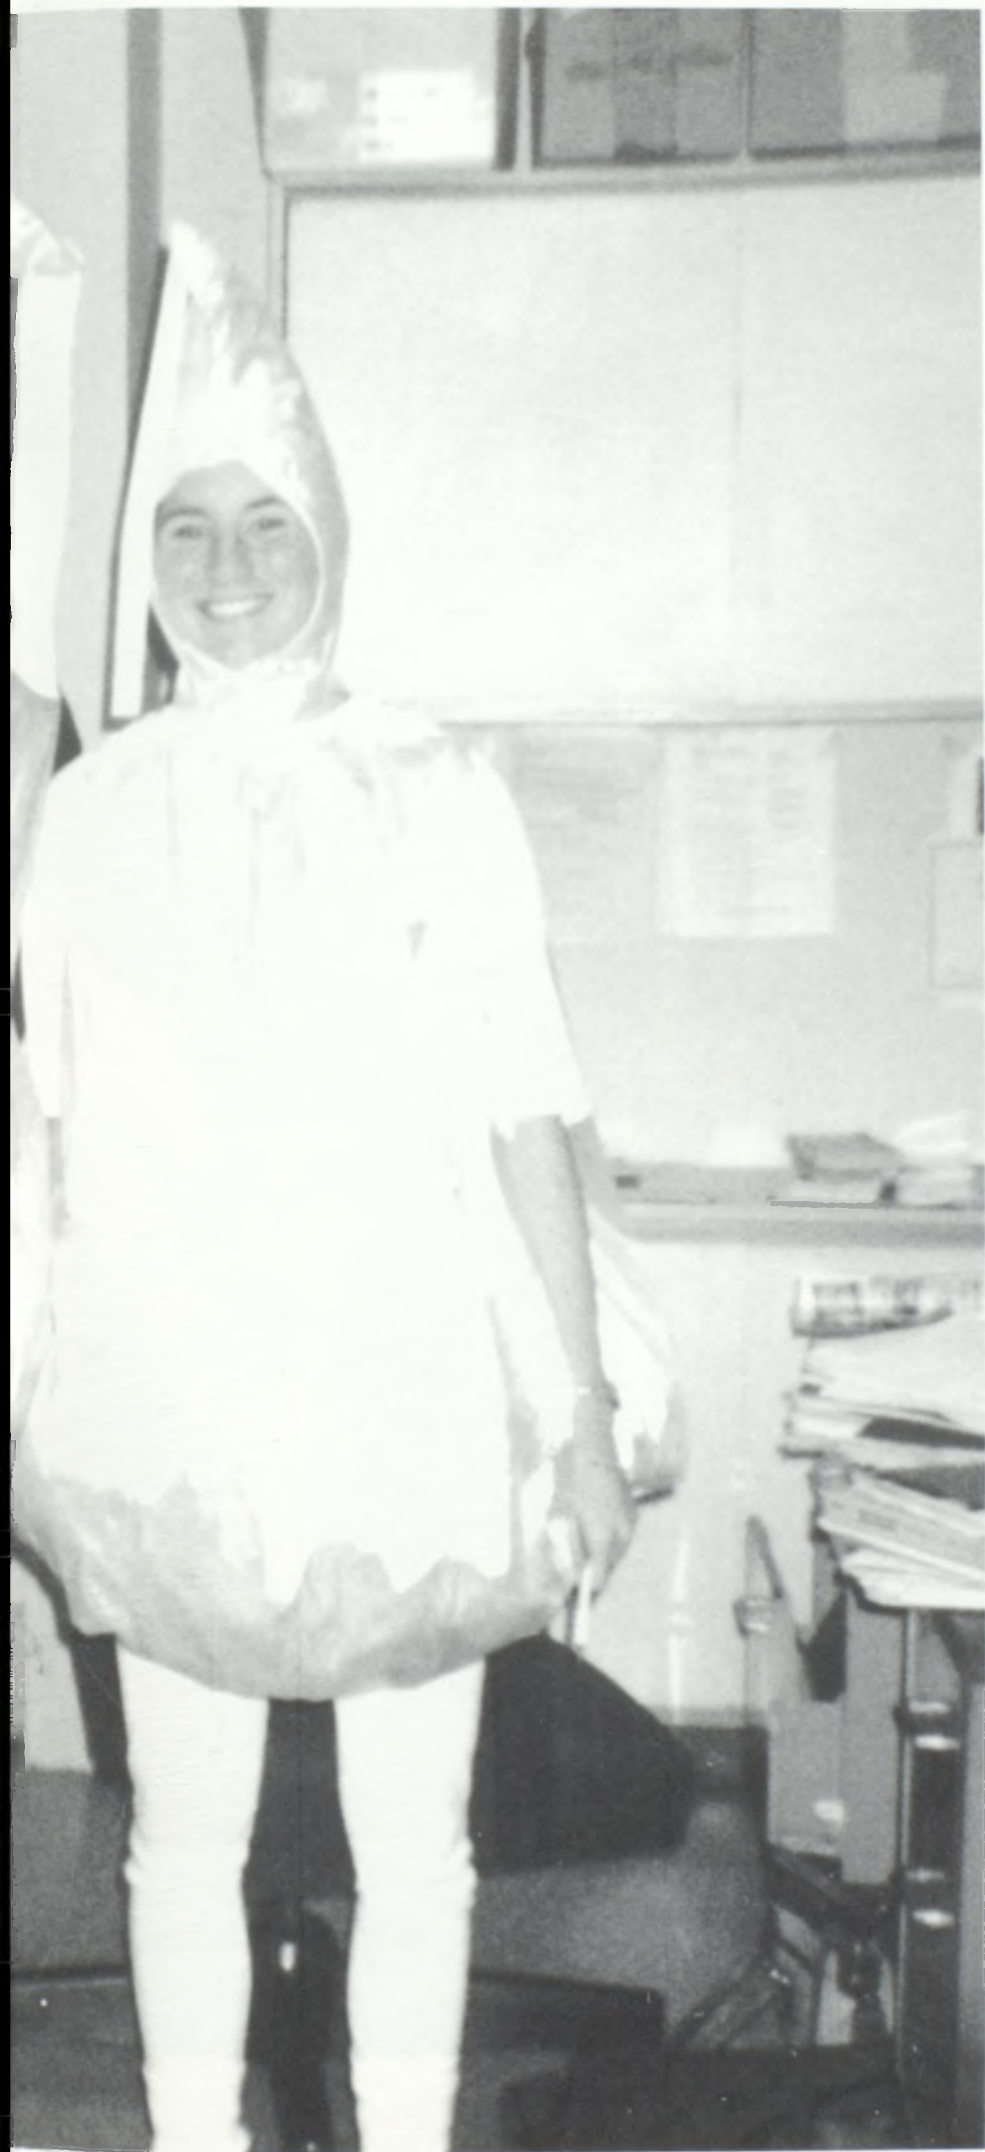

"I had the annual teacher Halloween party at my house. Everyone dresses up. We used to play games, but we can't anymore because everyone got too competitive." - Mr. Miller

"I made my boyfriend dress up in my costume, which included fish net stockings. We went to McDonald's and everyone was staring at us." - Junior Kirsten Kohl

COMING TOGETHER TO RAISE Money

In 1966, School Chest's goal was to raise $1,000 to help build a school in South America. After 30 years and $30,000, Deerfield has certainly come a long way, - an average gain of a $1,000 per year!!

Togetherness was key during the annual School Chest as the student body came together under direction of Student Council members and co-chairs Seniors Becky Golden and Lisa Lyons to raise money. Proceeds went to the Les Turner Foundation for ALS, which supports those stricken by Lou Gehrig's disease. The money went to buy commutamate systems for ALS patients. These instruments allow ALS victims to converse with family and friends by moving only their eyebrows to operate a computer.

Attempting to reach the goal of $25,000, students sold pizza, a dunk tank, catered faculty lunches, a Mr. DHS pageant and a concert by Left Undone. For the fourth year in the row, DHS surpassed their goal with an amazing $31,000! When the seniors were freshmen, they raised over $28,000, breaking all previous records. Since then, the student body has only improved, and their $31,000 was only proof to that fact.

THE PLAY COMES AT last

"So it's come at last, at last it's come, the day I knew would come at last has come at last." Bye Bye Birdie arrived at last at DHS, captivating an audience of students and parents and taking them back to the 1950s.

The play showed Conrad Birdie (a teenage heartthrob) visiting the small town of Sweet Apple, Ohio before being drafted into the army. Director Carl Menninger said, "His presence in Sweet Apple creates a frenzy among the teenagers, they are ecstatic to have such a famous rock star in their town." Performed for three nights, Bye Bye Birdie was a huge hit among the audiences. The lead parts were as follows:

Bye Bye Birdie was performed at DHS in 1969, 27 years ago.

WALKING ON THE BOARD- walk

All students were invited to "A Night on the Boardwalk" at Turnabout '96. Presented by GIMA, the traditional girl-ask-guy dance was a huge success. Due to the hard work put in by GIMA, the cafeteria resembled the Monopoly board game.

This year's musical entertainment was performed by Deerfield graduates in the band "Left Undone". They played some of their own music as well as tunes from the Beatles and Pearl Jam. Before the dance was over, Seniors Billy Arkush and Emily Coleman were crowned Turnabout King and Queen.

Later that evening, students departed from school, many on buses or limousines, to a restaurant and then possibly to another activity. As for the seniors, they celebrated "Senior Turnabout" at Foodlife where great food and a disc jockey helped the seniors make Turnabout '96 a night to remember.

In 1977, the theme of Turnabout was also Monopoly. Instead of using the board game, names were changed. For example, Boardwalk became I - hall, which cost $12 in their decorations.

ATTRACTING A WEEKEND crowd

Where could you find DHS students on the weekends? Where else, the Hockey rink. The Deerfield Hockey team, led by Senior Arun Balakrishnan, Junior Kevin Gottschalk, and Sophomore Adam Imhof proved to have a very successful season. After traveling to Minnesota to play in the White Bear Tournament, for the first time, the Deerfield Hockey team came home with a first place award after winning all three games that they played.

Deerfield students also participated in a combined Lacrosse team with Highland Park. Seniors co-captains Scott Holton and Keith Weitzman provided strong leadership for the team. Senior Scott Holton said, "We had a very young team this year consisting of many sophomores, but we always had a great time. Because of the great experiences I have had with the Lacrosse team, I'm even thinking of playing next year at college."

HANGIN' OUT DUSK 'TIL dawn

During the weekends, students often referred to Deerfield as "Deadfield"; there was nothing to do!! Actually, the students at Deerfield always managed to occupy their valuable free time. Whether it was going shopping, dancing at the Paladrome, renting a movie at Blockbuster (where one always sees at least five people one knows) or just hanging out at friend's houses, students definitely kept themselves busy. As Senior Heather Blair said, "Every weekend in Geoff Smith's basement my friends and I had "Dance Party USA" with a fog machine, a strobe light, and even two ferrets! It was great!"

In the 1960s, many guys took their dates to the airport, so they could 'people-watch' and also observe the planes take off and land.

Although students would never admit to wanting to be at school, one could always find students back at DHS on the weekends. Basketball games and school dances constantly attracted big crowds and provided an atmosphere for positive school spirit. Before or after these activities, students could be found eating at neighborhood restaurants such as Baker's Square, Chili's, McDonald's or Applebee's. Or for a more relaxed setting, students could go to Barnes and Noble or Border's to enjoy a cup of coffee or hot chocolate.

DHS IS ALWAYS FIRST Class

First Class Policy

1. We treat others with dignity and respect.
2. We know our audience when communicating and always use appropriate language.
3. We keep our school neat and clean.
4. We solve problems creatively by stopping, thinking, and discussing our actions.

The student body realized what an impact the First Class policy made on the city of Chicago when CBS aired a special segment on DHS on the evening news. Being picked for this was quite an honor, and on a warm fall day as students flocked to the courtyard crowding around the cameras, people were proud to say that they went to DHS. CBS anchor Mary Ann Childers possibly put it best when she said, "DHS is a school that teaches the four R's: reading, writing, arithmetic, and respect."

Started in 1989, the First Class Policy was the first of its kind in the Chicagoland area. Other schools in the Suburban community have followed Deerfield's example by starting their own programs.

Possibly one of the biggest stories of the year was the assassination of Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin. Shot by an Israeli extremist, Rabin believed that it was time for Israel to start giving land for peace. His dreams of peace live on past his years, although to many peace in the Middle East still seems like a distant goal. The assassination of the great Prime Minister set back the peace process. This news was a shock in Deerfield as many have religious and family ties in Israel. (RIGHT) Photo by RM Photo Service, Inc.

By creating the new program, Windows' 95, Bill Gates single-handedly revolutionized the technological world. This billionaire is responsible for much of the change during this Computer Age. DHS students are constantly having to make adaptations to these new advances. Not only is new software being created daily, but the Internet has increasingly become an integral part of the lives of DHS students. (BOTTOM RIGHT) Photo by RM Photo Service, Inc.

Occurring in the fall of 1995, the Million Man March was held in Washington D. C. It was the biggest outpouring of African unity in recent history. Radical leader of the Nation of Islam, Louis Farrakan, led the march and spoke on behalf of all of the participants. The goal of the Million Man March was to unite the African American community as a whole. With a lack of racial difference in Deerfield, the Million Man March helped to open the eyes of students to racial equality. (RIGHT) Photo by RM Photo Service, Inc.

Another year passed, and the seemingly endless fighting continued in Bosnia-Herzegovina. Years of ethnic cleansing and thousands of deaths have led to NATO involvement in the situation. Wars, like this one, make DHS students realize how lucky they are to live in such a safe and healthy environment. (BELOW) Photo by RM Photo Service, Inc.

79% of all DHS students were connected to the Internet in their homes on their personal computers

The most popular way to get online was through America Online, as 68% of students did.

34% of students hooked up to the internet spent more than one hour per week online.

Talking to people in chat rooms and corresponding through e-mail were students' two favorite things to do online.

Signs On

"I used to get stalked online. One day, I got a death threat. I had to call the proper authorities and get this person kicked off America Online." - Senior Adam Hearn

"There was a while this year when I would turn on my computer every night and there would be about twenty letters from all of my friends that were signed online. It was crazy, especially considering the fact that I saw all of them in school every day!" - Senior Emily Coleman

"I went to the Art Institute for French, but I didn't get to see Monet. And it wasn't because it was too crowded." - Senior Keri Kaplan

"My Economics class went to the Board of Trade and watched people barter." - Sophomore Adrian Crededio

"It was so cool to get to be able to go to a city like Boston for a field trip; as I did for Model U.N. There was so much to see there, and on the coldest day ever we walked miles on the Freedom Trail. Despite the snow, it was great." - Junior Andrew Saltarelli

"My Spanish class went to Northeastern Illinois to watch students preform Spanish dancing. Then we went to Highland Park for a Spanish lunch." - Freshman Brady Mark

"We went downtown for A.P. US History to the Terra Museum where we saw the exhibit "Eye of the Storm". We got to make our own paintings afterward. It was quite a jump from an AP class all the way back to Kindergarten." - Junior Haley Johnstone

In the 70's there was class, Humanities, that combined theater, visual art, and dance. Each year they went on a field trip. Some of their field trips included behind the scenes look at the ballet and the opera.

Academics

PLACES TO FIND HELP

As early as 7:30 in the morning and as late as 8:30 at night, the many resource centers at DHS were available for assistance and guidance. These centers included the Math Learning Lab, the Language Lab, the WERCS Complex, the Library, the Computer Lab, as well as the Science Lab.

New this year to DHS was the Science Lab. A science teacher was in the lab all periods to assist science students with homework and even labs. Computers were also provided for the students and faculty to operate. Not since 1992 had there been a science lab, and this new addition gave students the opportunity to improve their science grades.

If one had a question or a concern, teachers and student tutors were always at hand to aid the members of the student body. The WERCS helped in everything from writing a thesis to proofreading a college essay. Said Senior Michelle Kruss, "There is always someone in the WERCS to help out when I need it. The few minutes that I spend in there always help my grade."

The Language Lab and the Math Lab were both open all day, and often reopened at night for busy students who couldn't find time to attend these centers during the day. All foreign language and mathematics students found that these resources came in extra handy throughout the competitive academic year.

DEALING WITH THE PRESSURE

"What did you get?" Possibly one of the most commonly asked questions at DHS, these words could be heard daily between Q Hall and D Hall. As in years past, tests and quizzes administered by teachers were a huge source of pressure for students. Even back in 1961, DHS students worried about the exams that they had to take. Through the past 35 years, scantron testing has become a much more popular method of testing. These multiple choice exams were used in all departments, by almost all teachers. Another source of anxiety for students was the common pop quizzes that teachers often surprised their classes with.

On the other side of the coin, many teachers, out of the goodness of their hearts, offered students many extra credit opportunities to make up for the lost points from those lost quizzes. "Mr. Doubet's Blue Light Specials really saved my calculus grade. I really appreciated all of the chances that I got to raise my failing grade!!" said one stressed out calculus student.

TAKING A BIG STEP FORWARD

Will I get into the college of my choice? Where should I apply? Is my essay good enough? Is it wrong that I am a second semester senior and have no clue where I'm going? These were common thoughts amongst seniors and juniors throughout the course of the year. But, students never feared, the CCRC was there!! The College and Career Resource Center, equipped with pamphlets, videos, and print-outs of students' college or career choices, helped students make one of the more crucial decisions of their lives.

Another big part of getting ready for life after Deerfield was taking tests such as the ACT and SAT. On any given Saturday morning, juniors and seniors could be found crammed in the cafeteria with newly sharpened #2 pencils, ready to take these ever important exams.

NEW IDEAS WORK WONDERS

"Technology, as well as trying to integrate more hands on activities including field trips and speakers, were a new part of this year's History Department. This has allowed the learning of the students to be enhanced and more exciting," said Ms. Anderson. The department tried to work with the English department and create projects that combine the two subjects, such as U.S. History and American Literature. The History Department also tried to change some of their classes to make them more inclusive of other cultures and countries.

A rearrangement of the Foreign Language office was the start of many changes that occurred throughout the year. Spanish and French students started to use a computer program in their classes which allowed them to become more proficient with their writing skills. The biggest change in the Foreign Language Department was the addition of the Japanese course, taught by Mrs. Tanimoto.

Throughout this year, the teachers of the English Department worked very hard to complete the plans for next years Sophomore English classes. The changes will include no leveling and no division between Speech and Sophomore English. This change caused great excitement. According to Miss

In order to keep up with other departments, the Science Department established a lab to help students with their homework and any other questions they may have. A new teacher was also added to the department, Mr. Motzko's son, John Motzko. Also, more animals, meal worm houses, and a filter to keep the pond cleaner were added to the vivarium.

Similarly to the History department, the Math department has been trying to incorporate technology into their daily classes. According to Mr. Fitzgerald, "The increase in technology is not always positive due to the dependence on the new technology, such as graphing calculators." The Math department has also seen an increase in the amount of students enrolled in math classes, over 90% of students take four years of math.

The Guidance Department was a place always available for students to go to whenever they needed advice or help with anything. This year Mrs. Zimmer took the place of Mrs. Sutton as the head of the program, Reaching Out.

This department tried to improve communications between not only the students and the faculty, but also the parents and the faculty. For the first time, the freshmen parents met with the counselors about the processes that occur in high school, such as the four year plan. Another subject that has become a main focus of the Guidance Department is post high school planning.

The P.E. Department continued looking over the changes in their curriculum. Last year there was the addition of electives for P.E. and the department is now considering to revise these plans. A climbing wall has also been added which is used by Outdoor Adventure and supervised by Mr. Zima. This department was also excited to gain new teachers, Ms. Fogarty and Coach Kapps.

Colorful, musical, theatrical, technological, and educational. These qualities are possessed by the Fine and Applied Arts Departments. The choral section had the largest number of students involved this year in the history of DHS. New additions of teachers were very successful. Mrs. Johnson, the director of the day care center, began teaching Child Development and Contemporary Family Living. Mr. Regan began teaching architectural and technical drafting, taking over Mr. Morrison's place. Miss Dorigan, a new art teacher and Yearbook editor enjoyed her first year. She said, "It's great to be back teaching at DHS after fifteen years!"

The FACTS

Hours upon hours were spent by the diligent staffs of the yearbook, newspaper, literary magazine, and television station in putting together these fine publications. O*YAD, Deerprints, Troubador, and WDHS all used their journalistic talents to exemplify Deerfield's dedication to excellence.

Members of these three groups traveled to Kansas City for a National Journalism Convention. Here, WDHS was proud to take home a prestigious second place award in the Best of Show category, and Sophomore Deerprints member Charlie Sokoloff won an award for sports writing. Senior Michelle Kruss was also honored with national copy writing recognition and best legs. Although other yearbook veterans, Junior Aaron Crane and Senior Editor-in-Chief Julie Samuels, were not as lucky, they had a great time jazzing it up Kansas City style.

This year's staff completed this book, along with the help of new sponsor Miss Dorigan, hoping that in twenty years all of you DHS graduates would be able to look back and get a taste of the life that once was your whole world. Since you probably never read this in 1996, we ask now, were we successful?

TRAVELING with TUNES

Band and Orchestra members busied themselves making music sixth period. Under the direction of Orchestra conductor, Mr. Emmons, and Band conductor, Mr. Brame, students rehearsed their music during their lunch period. These groups gave numerous concerts throughout the year.

Both the Orchestra and Band worked hard all year in preparation for their combined, educational trip to Disney World in Orlando, Florida. According to Junior Band Member Heather Solomon, "Fundraising was a big part of band this year." The Musical groups successfully executed their annual citrus sale. Students also sold candy bars and packaged candy in order to finance their excursion. Solomon continued to say that the trip was a great combination of learning from professional musicians and relaxing with her friends.

STUDENTS PUT IN WORK FOR SUCCESS

Amidst a year busy with all kinds of activities, the members of the executive boards found time to organize for their grades. The main responsibility of each board is to plan the Homecoming festivities: pep rallies, locker decorations, and the float. The Senior board was successful in leading the class to a spirit jug victory.

Each board also held other responsibilities: the Sophomores planned the Homecoming Dance, Juniors planned the Prom, and the Seniors were in charge of the Senior Boat Party and Senior Teach Day. Overall, the contributions that these four groups made to the DHS community was greatly appreciated.

SHOWING Our SPIRIT

Earning a Varsity Letter gave students the opportunity to join Varsity Club. This year, members assisted at Pack the Place and volunteered for Special Olympics. Senior president Emily Coleman said that Varsity Club "allowed students involved with athletics to also do community service."

At half-time for Varsity boys basketball and football, the Pom Pons were seen dancing to routines choreographed by members. Led by Senior captains Carley Petesch, Kim Penfold, and Emily Coleman, they supported our teams and tried to involve the audience in the games during every performance.

The Cheerleaders also promoted school spirit. They managed to gain crowd involvement in every game. Following our Varsity boys basketball and football teams to their contests at home and away, the Cheerleaders' support was greatly appreciated.

The 1964 Cheerleaders were required to wear skirts that covered their knees. Their uniforms were red and white pinstriped.

This year Deerfield had what they thought was their first "all male kick line" in support for School Chest but, it wasn't the first. In 1979, Deerfield had a club called the "Rowdies" which was made up of spirited boys who dressed in cheerleading outfits and helped rally school support.

Peer Helping started in 1991, a strong, new addition to the DHS community.

The first annual Snowball weekend was held in 1986. Since then, this has expanded to two weekends every school year and many other annual activities, such as the Valentine's Day Flower Sale and the 5 K race.

STUDENTS TAKE A

START

Bettering the school is the goal of Senior Advisors, Peer Helping, Snowball, and Student Curriculum Board.

The Senior Advisors introduced the Freshmen to new challenges and then helped them overcome obstacles they encountered. Snowball is a stress-free weekend of making new friends and discovering oneself. In Peer Helping, students learn to assist their peers. The program's goal is to educate the members to be "natural helpers". Student curriculum board is a program that lets students talk with administrative faculty members on ideas they have about classes.

The WERCs+ was established in 1991. It began with six teachers helping out in various areas in addition to assistance provided by 19 student tutors.

"I decided that I wanted to tutor, to give something back to the people who change my life." David Flom, Class of '91

HELPING WITHIN OUT SCHOOL

"To be a tutor is not only to teach but to learn from one's student," was the motto of DHS peer tutoring. All students who volunteered to be tutors experienced this ideal first hand as they helped their peers in a wide range of subjects. At 7:30 A.M., while most of us were just rubbing the sleep out of our eyes, over one hundred Early Bird Tutors were helping students to excel.

Volunteers in the WERCS and WERCS+ gave up their free periods in order to provide an important resource for students who were writing and revising papers, giving 'book talks,' or seeking study strategies. Also focusing on English studies, Sophomore Mentors selected by their Freshman english teachers tutored Freshman in their studies of Romeo and Juliet and A Tale of Two Cities. This program paired up two students and the resulting relationship gave much needed help to the Freshmen and fulfillment to the Sophomore volunteers.

COMPETING TO WIN

Participation in DECA, Model UN, Forensics, and Student Congress demanded individual and team preparations. Students spent many hours researching their assigned countries before they represent them in Model UN in two competitions at Chicago and Boston. DECA had three competitions annually. Their National Conference was in Orlando, Florida. Representing the Illinois delegation, Deerfield students competed in their chosen business areas. Student Congress allowed students to display their knowledge of the government and to simulate its debates. In Forensics, students shared their various speeches ranging from radio to drama.

STUDENTS IMPROVE OUR HOME

The Student Union was the shared meeting place for SOS, CARE, and STEP. Activities sponsored by these service organizations improved the lives of others through social understanding, community service, and substance abuse prevention.

STEP met every Wednesday to discuss drug problems at DHS, and to begin planning for their annual barbeque. Freshman Harley Rosenthal said, "The doughnuts were my favorite part!"

CARE members sponsored discussions on issues pertinent to Deerfield students. One such discussion focused on the pros and cons of leveling students in their classes.

Famous for their Blow-Pop Sales, members of SOS constantly raised money for a needy cause. They awarded scholarships to needy seniors who will be attending college next fall. They also continued their Random Act of Kindness campaign promoting good deeds and respectful treatment.

Student Council has been sponsoring successful School Chests since 1961. Schools all over the country have followed this idea and had successful fundraisers similar to ours.

The Student Activities Board was started in 1989 to form a direct link between administrators and student leaders.

INDIVIDUALS LEARN TO LEAD

Student leadership was key to the success of DHS. There were many available outlets for students to exercise their leadership in the school community, and three of these were Student Council, Student Activities Board, and Senior PE Leaders.

Members of Student Council were elected last spring, and during fifth period every Friday, they came together to work on improving DHS. This group planned a very successful Homecoming week, the Kick-Off Dance, and a School Chest raising over $31,000 for the Lou Gherig's Foundation.

Student Activities Board was comprised of leaders from all ends of the school. Members consisted of students and administrators who met monthly to discuss improvements for the school.

After taking a preparatory class junior year, seniors were able to lead gym classes of younger students. Said Senior Jessica Axelrod, "It took me a semester to get used to freshman girls ninth period, but now I love it!"

MASTERS OF The ARTS

Expressing oneself was an important part of students' lives at DHS. Participating in theatre was just one way to fulfill this aspect. Students who participated in Theatrix met once a week informally and enjoyed the friendly atmosphere where they could share their talent with other students. Stage Crew provided an opportunity for students to get involved in the theatre program. Students helped by building scenes for the fall play "Our Town" and the musical "Bye Bye Birdie".

Meeting once a week on Thursdays after school, the Art Club provided extra time for students to work on art projects or try different types of art such as clay, painting or drawing. Students who didn't have a scheduled period of art during the day came just to experiment with their individuality and creativity.

STUDENTS TAKE A Jump START

Deerfield upperclassmen were commended on their academic achievements through invitations to the National French, and Spanish Honors Societies. National Honors Society had four requirements regarding excellence in community service, leadership, academics, and character. NHS sponsored a basketball shootout against Glenbrook North High School. They also hosted a dance and sponsored a successful canned food drive benefitting the Deerfield Food Pantry.

Due to their high grades in their French and Spanish classes, many students were inducted into the French and Spanish Honors Societies. After the ceremonies, family and friends were allowed to partake in an ethnic buffet of foods prepared by the students. These groups combined their efforts and sponsored a needy family during the holiday season.

LOOKING TOWARD The FUTURE

An eye for the future and extra time gave students the opportunity to exercise the desire to learn more in the way of sciences. Mathletes let students involve themselves in mathematics competitions out of school. The mathletes team was exceptionally successful this year, with team members Chris Hirata and Misha Voloshin, whose high scores always helped against the competition.

The JETS team, an academic club for seniors interested in science and mathematics, competed regularly in state and county science competitions and solves problems for their enjoyment.

The Continuum, the Star Trek club, headed by David Hirsch, allowed students interested in science fiction such as Star Trek to express themselves and find others to relate to.

The Chess club met to share strategies and practice their techniques. They also compete against other players according to level.

TAKING A DIVE Into SPORTS

Devoting long hours to their important job of working with student athletes was the main job of the Student Athletic Trainers. One could find these dedicated students before, during, and after each sports game. Trainer Ted Robbins taught them how to treat injuries, wrap joints, and warm up athletes before a game. For the last five years, the trainers have also dedicated a day to help in the Special Olympics.

Deerfield's Swim Guard also volunteered their time to help others. They could be found early Saturday mornings in the pool teaching kids from ages two to ten how to swim. This experience was as rewarding for the guards as it was for their small students!

Also splashing around in the pool was Deerfield's four year old Water Polo club. Composed mainly of swimmers and divers, team members were out to have fun in the water with their friends. Water Polo was coached by Highland Park High School's swim coach.

ACTIVE WOMEN: ON the RUN

Deerfield Girls kept active during their spare time. Many devoted themselves by participating in Dance Troupe or Tumblers. Each group performs in their own shows. The 1995 Tumblers show "This is How We Do It" was a huge success. According to president Charlie Lewitz, "The gymnasts showed the audience how they did it with hard work."

The Girls Intramural Sports Association monitored current issues relating girls' sports and sponsored this year's Turnabout Dance. They also held their Second Annual Mr. DHS competition from which profits were donated to School Chest. After Senior Men displayed their many talents, senior Adam Goldfarb won the crown.

Dance Troupe worked with various professional artists throughout the year to learn new skills. Each member of Dance Troupe auditioned a number in hopes that it would be selected for their April Showcase. According to Senior President Carley Petesch, preparations for the spring show, Rhythm of Life, were "time consuming."

LISTEN TO THE MUSIC

Great expectations started out this year: the Treble Ensemble, Concert Choir, and Chorale all had record enrollment. Under the direction of Mrs. Akers, a very successful District 113 concert was performed with Highland Park Choirs. Early winter brought joyful holiday sounds and an astounding amount of citrus fruit, due to large participation from all of the choruses.

In the spring, Chorale and Choraliers took a fun-filled trip to sunny Florida, where combined with the Highland Park Chorale and Swing Choir, they performed their fall pieces and swept through Disneyworld. The final performance of the year was banquet, a music-filled evening, where a wonderful time was had by all.

FIGHTING BACK WITH EXTREME

Accomplishments and plaid days, and new red socks failures characterized this season for the field hockey team, who felt as though something was missing. It wasn't individual talents, but an unknown component was keeping them from winning. The teammates came together and started scoring. YOUNG TEAM MAKES GREAT

As the saying goes, "No pain, No gain." This was a lesson that the Boys' Cross Country team learned. In the words of Coach Chuck Wathen, "Rub out that lactic acid, boys! Get ready for some fartleks!" The fartlek, a running term meaning sporadic sprints, is commonly known to be the best way of training, augmenting endurance and increase sprinting speed. This helped the running team make it to the top, finishing second in Conference. This year's team consisted mainly of underclassmen.

Sophomores Adam Wallace, Jeremy Becker, Mike Siegel, Charlie Sokoloff, and J.B. Hansen, all contributed greatly to the team's success and despite their young age, were integral parts of the running program.

ELDERS

CROSS COUNTRY GIRLS LOOK TO THEIR

Of the many things that the Girls' Cross Country team learned this year, no one ever taught them the right direction to run in. It was just assumed that they knew this. During a meet with GBN, the first two runners were Deerfield's Senior Sarah Rozensky and Sophomore Sarah Heidkamp. Sarah H. was in first place, and as she rounded one of the last curves, she kept on running towards the parking lot. After the elder Sarah shouted her name, the younger one realized that she was running in the wrong direction and had enough time to turn around and complete the race. Things like these are what characterized this season; the younger teammates looking to the upperclassmen for help. As Junior Missy Mottlow once learned and now taught, "It is just running. No one can tell you to do this, it has to be for yourself. You need to train, and once you get over the hill, you feel like you really accomplished something."

Finally having the ten needed runners, the Girls' Cross Country was able to compete formally in IHSA in 1980 for the first time.

TEAM TOGETHERNESS HELPS TO REACH

"I feel that the team really came together this year to accomplish things that in the beginning of the season seemed out of reach. We were all so close and made things happen," said Senior swimmer Jessica Plack. The DHS swim team came together on the night of the pep rally, when they competed against GBN, their biggest competition. There was so much excitement in the air with the band playing and tributes being made to the seniors. This year, the team accomplished a major goal of the season, to defeat GBN.

This team had a very successful season. With each other's support, they finished off the season by tying for first place in the race for conference champions. YOUTHFUL TEAM EARNS

A team in the making, the Girls' Varsity Basketball team varied in ages: Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors. Many of the new players greatly helped contribute to the team's pursuit of victory. This team had come to a turning point, and as Coach Wrenn said, "They had rounded a corner." Suffering many injuries and sicknesses, the team stuck together and never lost their spirit. They never gave up and continued to put in a lot of hard work.

Before 1977 Girls' Basketball was not recognized as a separate sport. Rather, all girls' sports were known simply as that - "Girls' Sports."

"Even though we encountered quite a few losses, the team looked at them as great learning experiences," said Junior Ashlee Braet. Selected for All-Conference this year was Junior Elizabeth "Squig" Ori. In the end, all their hard work paid off with an improvement in wins from last year. The team will hopefully continue this trend in future years.

ROAD TO VICTORY PAVED BY POSITIVE

Usually, from year to year, some is lost and some is gained. That was not the case with the 1995-96 gymnastics team. In order to be at the same place they were last year, the remains of the team had to work hard. Surprisingly, the success achieved was remarkable.

Deerfield High School used to have a boys gymnastics team between 1971 and 1978. The team did not continue to compete due to lack of participants.

During their annual "salad party", the gymnasts discussed their goals. They accomplished a new goal each meet; being undefeated in conference, and their team total is net standing fourth highest in Mrs. Myers' career. With the addition of two new assistant coaches, the record of the freshman and JV teams increased tremendously. In addition to winning conference, Seniors Emily Coleman and Amy Miekina, and Sophomore Stacey Furco advanced to the Sectional meet. Who would ever believe that Deerfield's team would compile a 28-2 record? Who would have guessed that the team would not only be Conference champs, but Sectional champs as well? Who thought that they would see the day when DHS Boys' Basketball would beat Chicago Powerhouse King High School?

This year's 28-2 record was the best ever in DHS history. Also, this year marked the first time that the Warriors played in a Super-Sectional game.

The season ended as the student body watched the second loss of the season to New Trier, and were sad that they would not be traveling to Peoria to watch their team play in the state tournament. But, making it to the top 16 teams in the state is not a feat to be overlooked. The goals that were accomplished by this year's team will be remembered for the next 35 years of DHS history!

These unprecedented things all happened to a team who, for awhile, was ranked #2 in the area. This year's team included 4 All-Conference players - Senior Mike Casey, Juniors Ryan Hogan, Seth Greene, and

At 8:20 A.M. the first bell of our high school career rang. We had left Jr. High feeling old and mature, but as our stomachs turned upside down, we realized the babies we really were. Young and intimidated, we noticed the deep voices ringing in the hallways and the mature qualities of the upperclassmen.

Going from Q-hall to D-hall at first seemed like miles, but soon became instinctive. As our first set of finals came, we realized the days of recess were over. Time went by and the courses got harder and harder, yet the daily routine became a habit.

Now the deep voices and mature upperclassmen are us. As we pass through the days we realize it is time to prepare for the future, remembering the great times we are leaving behind. Those first set of finals, although they seemed so hard then, were just the beginning of the countless obstacles to overcome. Those days were the building blocks of our lives and will always be remembered.

Colophon The 1250 copies of this yearbook were printed by Josten's Publishing Company in State College, PA and produced on QuarkXpress version 3.2. The 9X12, 214 page book was printed on 90 lb paper and all color photos have spot gloss varnish. Body copy was done in 12 pt Tekton, and captions in 9 pt. Student Life Headlines were done in 24 pt Lithos and 50 pt Madrone. Academics headlines were done in Fajita Picante 55 pt 50% black and Fajita Mild 22 pt. Organization headlines were done in Lithos Black 30 pt and Blackoak 70 pt 30% black. Sports headlines were done in Lithos Black 10 pt and Lithos Bold 42 pt. The Senior Tributes headline was done in Castellar MT 72 pt. Each tribute cost $25. Folio Tabs were written in B VAG Rounded Bold 12 pt and all graphics were imported from Adobe. Other graphics were produced in Adobe Photoshop. Photos were taken by O*YAD staff members and Halterman Photography.

The cover is Craffline with a special embossed lettering and design. The grain is Cordova. The type is B-Vag Rounded. The endsheets are all done in Tekton, as are all of the "Some Things Never Change" logo. Index is done in 8 pt Tekton, and the letter headers are 20 pt Madrone and 14 pt Madrone 60% black.

Shocked by the news that her editors were all arrested, adviser Miss Dorigan hopes that she will not have to complete the yearbook by herself. These six were brought down to the station for trespassing after never leaving the yearbook office. The night custodians thought something was fishy after the doors didn't open for hours at a time. For their own health, as well as the health of their family and friends, the community thought it would be beneficial to lock them up for a while. Luckily, they made it out on time (Miss Dorigan was really happy) to finish the book.

We Made It!!

Our first thank you that we, the 1996 O*YAD editors, would like to give is to the staff of the 1995 Royal Purple of Kansas State University. Unknowingly, they helped us so much.

Thank you to Lauren Provus, Ryan Banks, Shawn Yankowitz, David Cantrell, Pat Corea, Sam Stopps, Paul Degen, Jordan Levinson, Scott Mendelsohn, Becky Trayber, Masha Zheleznova, Jorie Zabel, Maggie Hoag, Craig Hurvitz, and everyone else who helped in writing copy, taking pictures, and finding facts. Everything that you did was greatly appreciated!

An extra special thanks to the following people: Elise Wold, Assistant Photography Editor, Jordan Kanarek, our amazing computer boy, without whom much of this book wouldn't have been possible, Faith Schneider, Debbie Rafael, and Liz Reznick, the Sports Editors, Laura Septon, Organizations Editor, Brian Singer, David Loring, and Lauren Samuels, the Underclass Editors, Heather Solomon, Senior Tributes Editor, Laura Swibel, Computer Graphics Editor, and Karly Kaufman and Heather Blair for producing the best Senior Section ever! Thank you all!

Thank you to Mr. Heigel, Mr. Bolek, and Miss Gramins for all of your help getting us started. Our deepest gratitude to Miss Madura for her countless hours spent with us in K130. Her help with the computer was more than necessary.

Miss Dorigan, your patience, attention to detail, and knowledge of design was crucial to the production of this book. Your willingness to help in any way possible, your constant desire to learn more, and the time commitment you made will never be forgotten. To be quite honest, we were a little worried when we heard we were getting a new adviser. But all of our fears subsided as the year progressed and we commend you for making it out alive. Thanks for all your hard work and dedication, we love you.

Nancy Ziemba, everything you have done with the pictures these last two years has been phenomenal. The photos this year have been better than ever. You lived up to the reputation of the 1970 yearbook. We know that K130 was not always your favorite place, but everything that you did was wonderful. Thanks you so much!

Jessica Axelrod, the long, long, long, long hours you spent in K130 with us was wonderful. As we write this we are laughing at your fat man doing a hand stand. We love you for introducing us to Raspberry salsa. We are glad we finally got you in your picture and we will never forget all the times you made us laugh so hard! Thank you soooooo much.

C.J. Sandusky (one of our co-copy editors), we were so happy for you when you called your machine and you finally had a message. That was really exciting. No, seriously, all of the time that you spent writing copy that other people should have done did not go unnoticed. Hopefully you learned a thing or two from your experience on O*YAD, though you probably won't be able to use any of it!

Jessica Weisbach (our other copy editor), we would also like to recognize you and the work that you put into the book. When we think of how far you have come since the beginning of the year, we all feel so proud. By the way, a quick side note - we absolutely love your flower shoes and our deepest apologies that they didn't make it to the trends page. Seriously, you were always ready with a laugh or an extra hand to write copy or captions, or even stuff envelopes. None of this was overlooked, and none of this will be forgotten!

Aaron Crane, Art & Layout Boy, can you even believe that this is the end? Everything turned out OK, too bad that we couldn't use Where the Wild Things Are. (oops - now we are going to get sued - that would be odd, man) We have spent sooo many hours cooped up in K130, it's kind of sick. Think about how hard we have laughed, though. You haven't called 1-800-MUSIC-NOW in a while. When are they going to ask for your password? Speaking of passwords, it doesn't look like you will ever get to change your physics grade. Too bad there is only room to write a paragraph, because this whole book could be filled with our crazy memories. Anyway, next year we all know that you will be a huge success. Your layouts for the past two years have been phenomenal, and all of the copy that you have written will for sure help you get into college. There are no words to express the gratitude we have for all of your time and effort. Just think, in 35 years, some idiots will be doing the same thing that we did this year. Only, they will be sad to find that we have removed our friend Bruce from all permanent records - as far as DHS is concerned, there was no 1974 Homecoming King!!!!

Michelle Kruss, our Managing Editor, could we thank you enough? 5th period everyday was so productive, obviously. And how much fun did we have Jazzin' it up Kansas City style? It's a miracle that we made it out alive. Steaks at the Majestic will never be beat, and the sounds of Coolio will remain a constant memory of that crazy town. More seriously, this yearbook couldn't have survived without you and your willingness to do whatever it took to get things done. We hope that you had a good time, and that you will remember all of the hard work that you put into this book and be proud of what you did. With every caption that you read, we hope that a smile comes to your face!

Julie Samuels, never before has there been an Editor in Chief who has put forth as much time an energy as you (isn't that the understatement of the year?) You brought sunshine to a room without windows. From Copy Editor to Editor in Chief, O*YAD will never be the same. You revolutionized the look and feel of the yearbook, it is yours and we couldn't be prouder. Your persistence to fix every minor detail, fix every flaw, edit every caption was unyielding. It is obvious that deep down you love the yearbook though you refuse to admit it. Because of you, memories will be recalled when those that took the yearbook for granted return to its pages twenty years from now to see your smiling face on more than a few pages. We couldn't be sadder that you must leave, though another year in K130 might sound appealing. Remember the laughs, remember the frustration, remember the feeling when those boxes come filled with memories and every person in DHS is looking at your work. Without you, there would be no O*YAD (is that so bad?). Without you, some things might have changed. Without you, the thirty-fifth anniversary edition of your yearbook wouldn't be as superior as it is. We love you and there is no doubt that we're gonna miss you. Guaranteed, by the time you visit us, your name will be on that plaque in K130.

Some Things Never Change

As sure as the bell rang every morning at 8:20, every year there came a time to say goodbye to another class at Deerfield. For three and a half decades, students have experienced four of the most changing years of their lives in the same halls. Parents that were once DHS students themselves now watch their own children go through the same motions that they did; the tears, the laughter, the people, the times never to be forgotten. These are the things that will never change.

This book is an effort to remind students of their year at DHS. If when you look back on these pages you remember this year and what it felt like to be in high school, then we have accomplished our goal. For O*YAD means 'Our Year at Deerfield', and this was a great one.
