INVITATION

If you are a dreamer, come in,
If you are a dreamer, a wisher, a liar,
A hope-er, a pray-er, a magic bean buyer...
If you're a pretender, come sit by my fire for we have some flax-golden tales to spin.

Come in!

Come in!

There is a place where the sidewalk ends
And before the street begins,
And there the grass grows soft and white,
And there the sun burns crimson bright,
And there the moon-bird rests from his flight
To cool in peppermint wind.

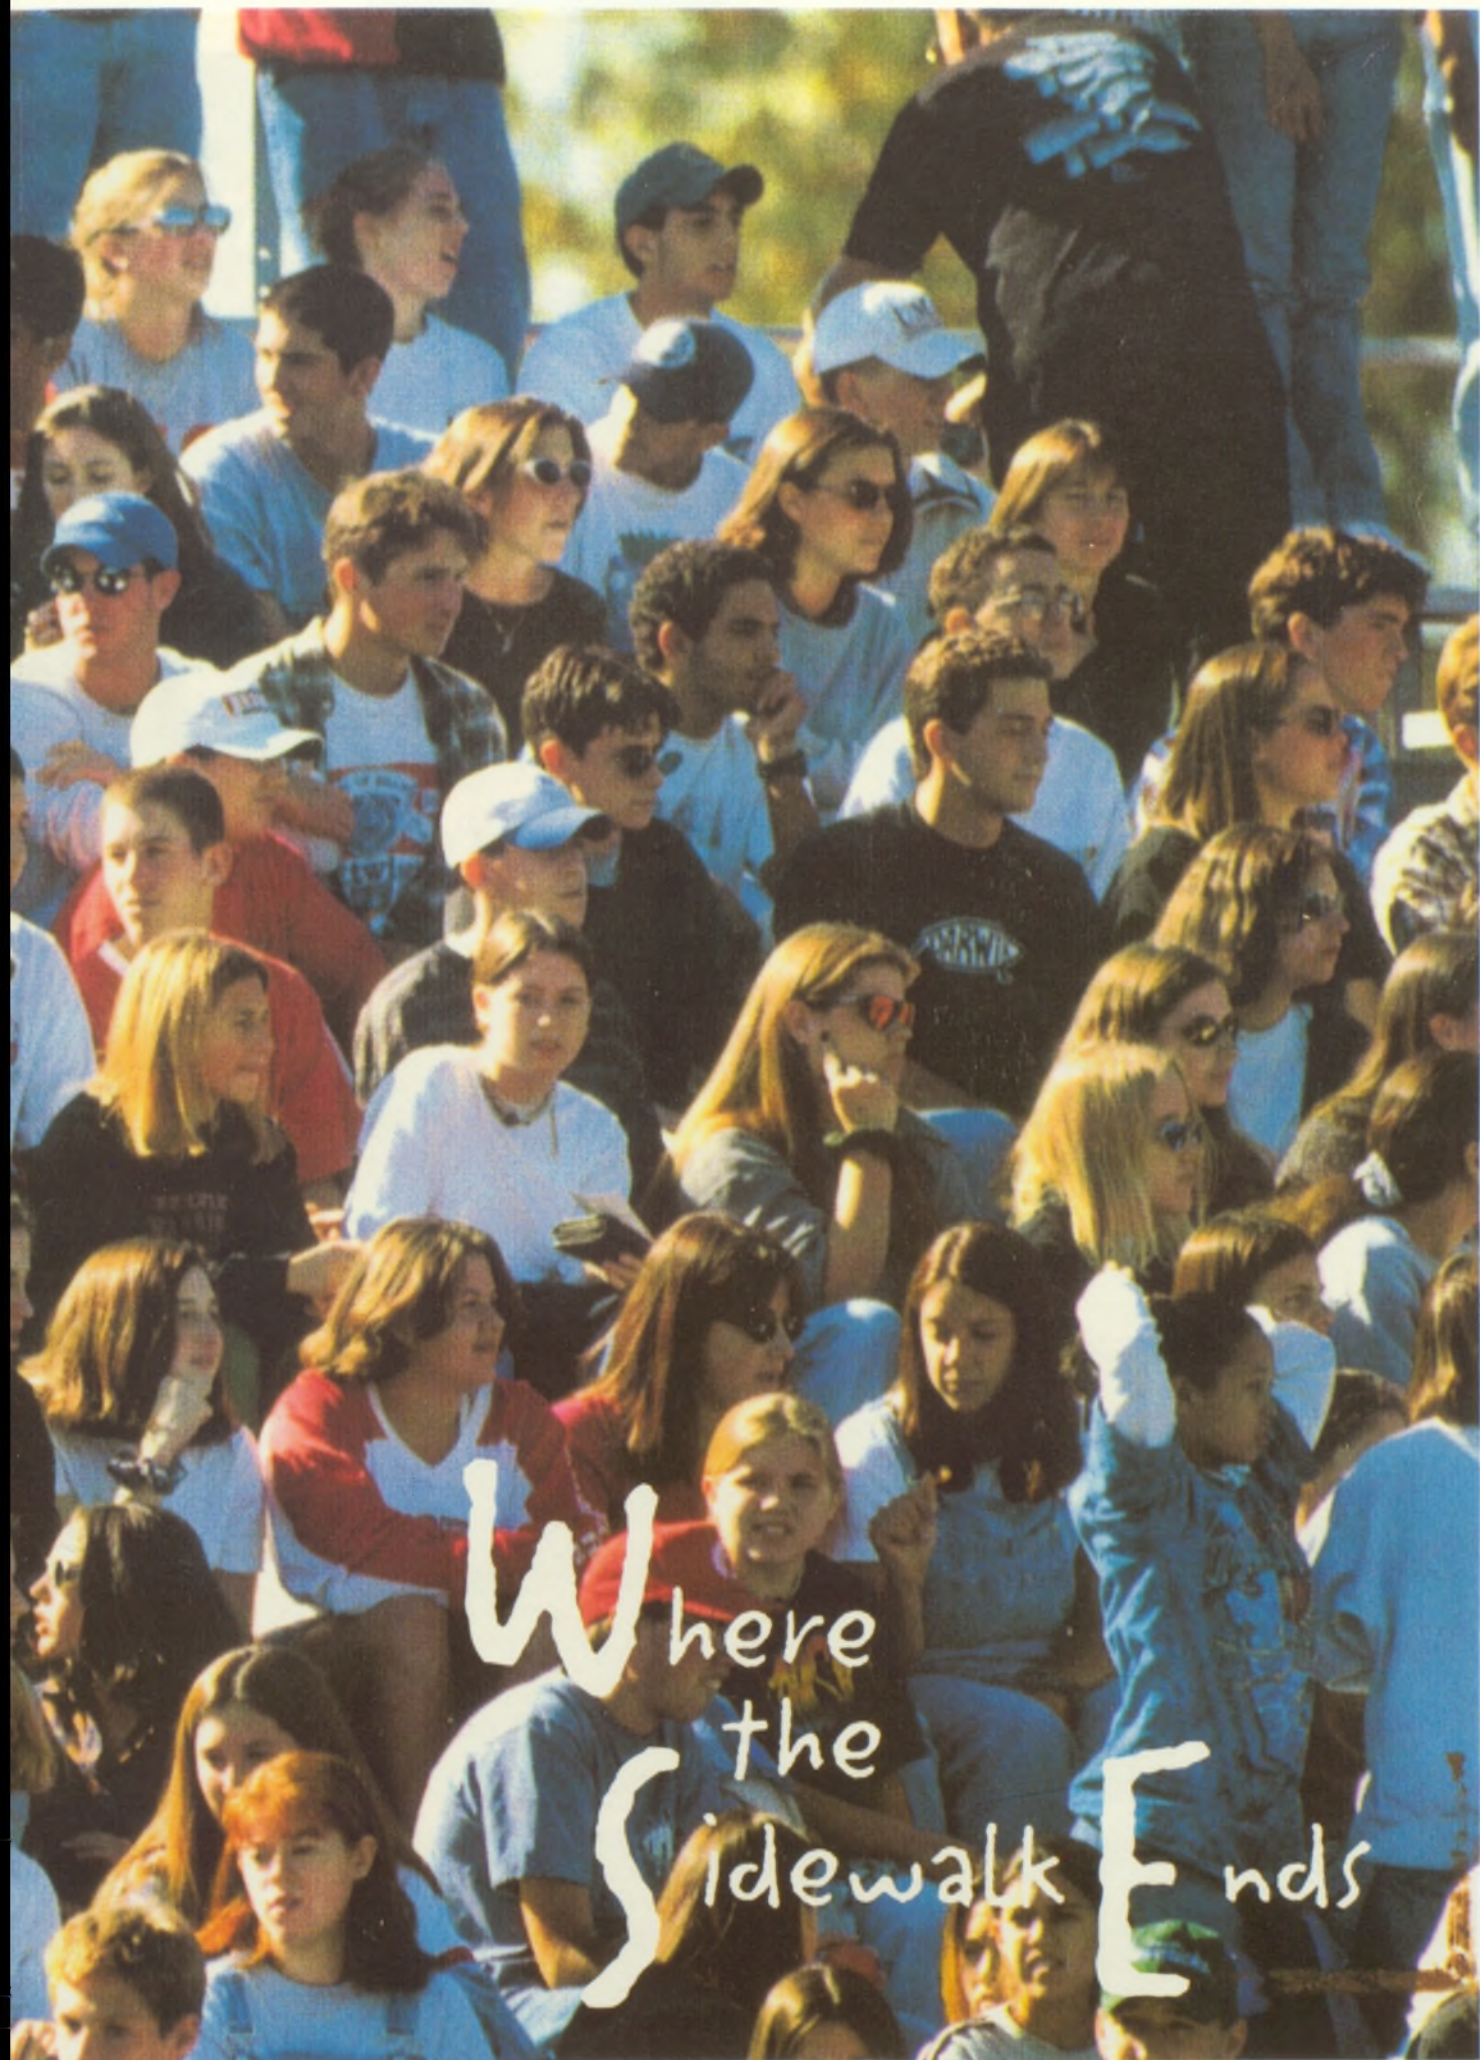

Let us leave this place where the smoke blows black
And the dark street winds and bends,
Past the pits where the asphalt flowers grow
We shall walk with a walk that is measured and slow,
And watch where the chalk-white arrows go
To the place where the sidewalk ends.

Yes we'll walk with a walk that is measured and slow,
And we'll go where the chalk-
white arrows go,
For the children, they mark, and the children, they know

Walking into the front door of Deerfield High School for the first time is an experience that will shape the next four years of high school life.

Freshman year opens up students' eyes to a whole new world. Deerfield High School becomes a second home to everyone immediately. Students become involved within the school as a whole; their time is consumed by classes, extra-curricular activities and sports.

Although the majority of students would not admit to spending all their time at DHS, students come back even during their free time and the weekends. Whether it be a football game, a school play, or an extra meeting, students just can't stay away.

Once a student enters Deerfield High School, they can't escape.

To us, DHS is...

No Grown-Ups

No grown-ups allowed.
We're playin' a game,
And we don't need
"Be-carefuls" or "don'ts."

No grown-ups allowed.
We're formin' a club,
And the secret oath
Must not be shown.

No grown-ups allowed.
We're goin' out for pizza-
No, no one but me and my crowd.

So just stay away.
Oh, now it's time to pay?
Grown-ups allowed.

Some travelled to Atlanta, like Kusha, while others stayed home and watched the events on T.V. The United States was very successful this summer as many Olympiads won gold medals. # Different Time Same Game

Students flooded into the gym on the Friday before Homecoming with many frustrations; they couldn't understand why the pep rally was to be held after school. Despite their concerns, the pep rally turned out to be its usual success.

During ninth period, teachers allowed students to follow the marching band through the halls. Then, instead of going back to classes, students filed into the decorated gym. The pep rally started with Coach Harrington's motivational speech, The classes each had thirty seconds to scream the loudest and finally the Homecoming Court was announced. Although the pep rally was after school, the attendance was higher than normal and the school spirit was just as strong as it had been in previous years.

The Homecoming parade also went through change.

Instead of the Executive Boards making their own floats, each class had a decorated car. As usual, the Marching band and Pom-Poms performed.

As the clocks turned back on the night of homecoming, students were able to journey back in time through the magic of DHS. The Deejay played hits from past decades and Deenfield students rocked through the years. The diverse musical selection allowed both students and faculty to revisit the good old times. Only at DHS' "Travel Through Time" Homecoming, could one hear Elvis, The Beatles, Michael Jackson, and Coolio all in one night!

As the clocks continued to wind forward,

Dancing with her boyfriend, Senior Gabrielle Kuhl smiles with happiness. This Senior has the opportunity to spend her last Homecoming dance with someone special. people went to dinner or places like Second City and Brunswick Lanes. Junior Lauren Gassman summed it up well,

"There were good times had by all." A large group of Seniors went to Maggiano's where they had dinner and danced all night long. Senior Aaron Crane said, "It was the bomb! There was lots of delicious food that nobody ate because they were too busy... dancing!!!"

Winning Isn't Everything

"Fight, fight, fight, Deerfield High; win, win, win, Deerfield High," could be heard repeatedly during the Homecoming football game against Deerfield's biggest rivalry, the Highland Park Giants. The crowd was in full effect as the fans wanted to cheer their team to victory. People were dressed in red and gray with painted faces and everyone had tremendous school spirit.

Unfortunately, the help from the fans was just not quite enough for this year's Warrior Varsity football team. This

During the annual Homecoming football game, Junior Pres Maxson sings to "Time Warp" as he is accompanied by the Warrior Marching band. Each year the Marching band works very hard to put together a half-time show to go along with the Homecoming theme. This year, the Marching band also performed "Quantum Leap" and "Cartoon Families" which included the theme songs of "The Flintstones", "The Simpsons" and "The Jetsons", a family from every age. Trying to crack a smile, these students have a difficult time as their faces are covered with mud. On a Sunday afternoon in early September, it's not uncommon to see muddy students walking through the town of Deerfield. (ABOVE) Photo by Halterman Photography.

Like A Pig In the Mud

How was mudfest?

"Definitely something I would do again, if I wasn't a senior!" - Senior Monica Kalembasa

"I had mud in just about every crevice of my body, but there is nothing that beats mud between your toes." - Senior Nickie Williams

Sitting in the mud looking rather confused, this student wonders why she ever decided to participate in an activity that forced her to cover herself from head to toe in mud. Mudfest is a time for students to get together with a group of friends and have a crazy time. It's not often that a person has the opportunity to be as sloppy as they can be. During Mudfest there are other activities for students to compete in: the tug-o-war, the pie eating contest and a volleyball game in a pit of mud. (ABOVE) Photo by Julius H. Miller.

"The best part of mudfest was the pie eating contest, everyone started throwing them!" - Junior Brendan Caver

You Can't Take It With You

"You Can't Take It With You." Yikes! Quite an odd and morbid title for a high school play. An opening night that falls just before Halloween! What could the '96 fall show possibly entail? Horror, suspense, shattering drama to steal the audience's collective breath and fill them instead with terror! Handy "You Can't Take It With You," a hilarious and often out of control comedy by Hart & Kaufman, tickled and delighted audiences night after sold-out night, and was the recipient of only the highest acclaim throughout the school as well as the community. If there was any fear involved, it was felt only by the actors at taking on such a demanding and difficult comedy. According to director Carl Merriger, "what most people fail to realize is that comedy is

Sitting patiently while she gets her hair done, Freshman Jill Landaker is assisted by Senior Sara Noerper. It is people behind the scenes like Sara who allow the play to be such a success. People also have the chance to participate by adding to the scenery of the play. The fall play allows people who are interested in theatre to have the opportunity to perform. Jill took advantage of this early in her high school career. For others it takes longer to realize that they are truly interested in the arts. (ABOVE) Photo by Hatterman Photography inherently much more difficult than drama. Every time I take on a show like this one, I am reminded of that. In comedy, there's so much more to think about—it's all about energy and timing." "You Can't Take It With You" is the story of the highly eccentric Sycamore family and the conflict that arises when Alce Sycamore becomes engaged to Tony Kirby, the son of affluent and stuffy Wall Street executive, Mr. Anthony Kirby, and his extremely proper wife. Humorous, complicated, "You Can't Take It With You" is ultimately a lesson in life and living for one's self and one's own happiness — a lesson that Merriger, his cast, and crew captured with elegance and life.

Pump Up the Volume

20 people. 13 dances. 1 show. It could only be the DHS Tumblers. After practicing everyday for almost 2 months, these 20 girls were able to put together an amazing performance. The gymnastics club show "Pump Up the Volume" was led by President Alissa Levine, Vice President Lara Geisel, Secretary Megan Thompson, and G.I.M.A. Representative Katie Libman. Together with the rest of the club, they managed to pull off a great show.

Tumbling upside-down with her partner, Senior Daria Kanarek demonstrates some of the difficult moves performed by the DHS tumblers. In the show the girls demonstrate both their gymnastics and dancing abilities as well as a variety of music. Some of the highlights this year were a funk performance to "Come On and Ride the Train" by the Quad City DJ's and a glow-in-the-dark ribbons routine to "It's Your Life" by Milla. After long hours and extra practices, everyone's hard work paid off in the end. (ABOVE) Photo given by DHS Tumblers.

From the dramatic opener "Caught a Light Sneeze" by Tori Amos, to the hip-hop finale, "Pump Up the Volume" by M-A-R-R-S, the audience was captivated by the strong emotions shown by all. # TV High Don't Touch That Dial TV High: Don't Touch That Dial was the theme to this year's Student Run, Student Produced and Student Directed, STUNTS. The cast and writers all worked very hard to put together a fabulous show.

All the scenes revolved around the theme of either television or high school life. The repeated scene of "Interactions in a Tundra of Teens" was hilarious. Sarah Pettoirelli narrated the confused Darren Langerman as he could never open his locker from Freshman Adding to the variety of talent exhibited in STUNTS, Seniors Ben Hiett and Kristina Schleeper play their trumpets in the STUNTS band. The dancing and singing added a great variety to the show. The dancers were led by Seniors Vanessa DeGuia and Kim Linton. Vanessa created the production numbers while Kim choreographed the dances for the group of dancers. The cast of My Fair Lady performs the ballroom scene where Junior Amy Stein, Eliza Doolittle, tries to fit in with the upper class.

My Fair Lady

Students who participated in this year's musical worked hard to put on their production of "My Fair Lady". The play was about a poor flower girl (Eliza Doolittle) who got in the middle of a bet between Henry Higgins and Colonel Pickering. The bet concerned whether or not the professor could transform Eliza into a proper lady. The Professor won the bet but a conflict arose when the professor and Eliza discovered that they had feelings for one another.

In the 1996-97 school year the School Chest's goal was to raise $30,000 for the Timber Point Outdoor Center, a camp for students with severe disabilities and diseases, such as muscular dystrophy. Spaghetti, spaghetti, all over the place,
 Up to my elbows-up to my face,
 Over the carpet and under the chairs,
 Into the hammock and wound round the stairs,

Spending Time With Seniors

Why are there so many senior citizens walking around the school?" one may have asked on October 24. This was the first annual Grandparents Day sponsored by S.O.S. and other faculty. Grandparents Day was a chance for the grandparents of Seniors to live their childhood again. It allowed them to see how their grandchildren spend their days at school. Also this was a chance for Seniors to spend quality time with their grandparents before they go off to college. With high school students' busy schedules, it is often hard to find time to spend with their grandparents.

The day started off with a breakfast for the

Clean Language in the Hallways

Deerfield High School is notorious for its First Class program. Not only are other schools interested as to how it functions and the results it produces, but the Channel 5 News (NBC) also did a story on what the program entails. The First Class program was also featured by the Chicago Tribune and can be seen throughout the high school and on the football players' helmets.

Throwing their garbage away after eating their lunch, Seniors Jason Rotman and Nick Kuhn help to keep the school a clean place. Students at DHS have the responsibility to always eat their lunches on trays and clean up after themselves, which is strictly followed as exhibited by these two boys. At the beginning of the school year, all freshman students are given a First Class folder. This folder includes a packet which explains exactly what requirements are needed to fulfill the position of being First Class at DHS. A few of the requirements include:

refraining from using obscene language in the classrooms, halls, and other areas, respecting the faculty as well as other students, and creating a positive atmosphere for other students at DHS. It creates a pleasant and happy environment throughout the school which is envied around the world. "People notice that the kids seem happy here. First Class is hard to capture in a snapshot or a sound bite. It's a day to day feeling," said Dean Kasik.

COMPE ON GO Lets

This year each student traveled to and from school approximately 360 times. So, just how did DHS students make these numerous trips? The primary method of transportation was car, a great alternative to the smelly, overcrowded, and often loud bus. Unfortunately students that lacked a license or a car found that parents aren't always available to be chauffeurs. When the sun was shining some students decided that the old Schwinn would didn't have to leave the house at ridiculously early times in the wee hours of the morning.

Students that drove to school found that there were many disadvantages to the great privilege of driving. Some of these disadvantages include the high price of gasoline, costly insurance, and the costs of repair after getting into a crash. While there is obviously no perfect form of transportation students learned that they needed to take what they got. If they didn't they could be spending some late President Clinton made a determined case for a second term August 29, 1996, in a climactic convention address. "Hope is back in America," Clinton declared. Having accepted his parties presidential nomination for the second time, he promised to never allow cuts that would devastate education or pollute the environment. Reelected, Clinton was the first Democrat to earn a second term since Franklin Roosevelt in 1994. (BELOW) Photo given by Associated Press.

Kerri Strug came to the Olympics with two goals, to make the all-around women's gymnastics finals and have a good time. While accomplishing these, she became the darling of Atlanta. Even while vaulting with two torn ligaments and a sprained left ankle, Strug's vault sealed America's first Olympic team gold medal. "Winning the team gold medal has been a dream come true, but it's also a little bit hard knowing that I finally did accomplish what I wanted so badly in '92 and it may be taken away," said Strug. Had Kerri not sprained her ankle, she would have had the opportunity to compete in the all-around competition. (RIGHT) Photo given by Associated Press.

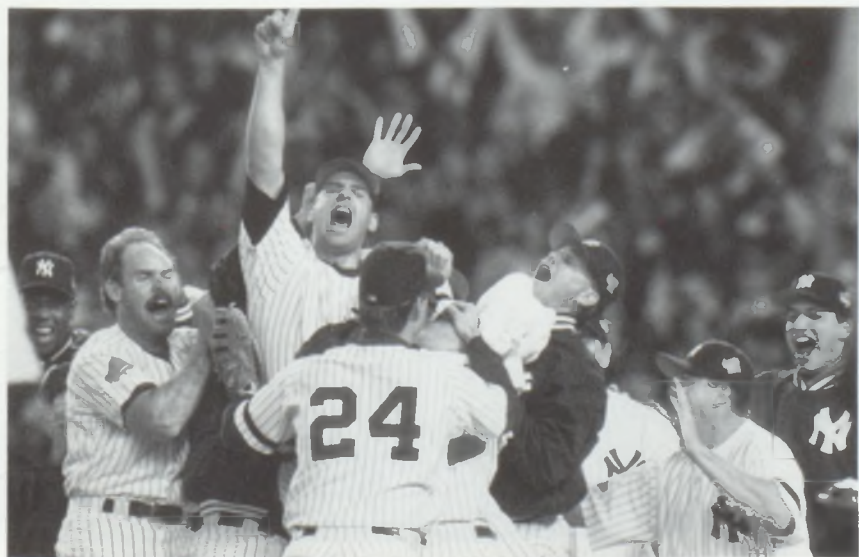

Marathon negotiations in early October 1996 between Israeli and Palestinian leaders failed to resolve bitter differences that exploded in Mideast violence and jeopardized the fragile peace process. But the two sides agreed to press ahead. After declining to talk in the East Room, negotiators left the White House. Israeli leader Benjamin Netanyahu vigorously shook Palestinian leader Yasir Arafat's hand, claspng it with both hands for several seconds. Clinton beamed. Arafat saluted Clinton before stepping into his car. The President returned the gesture. (LEFT) Photo given by Associated Press.

In a world of celebrity reporting, stories don't get much bigger than this. John F. Kennedy Jr. managed to wed Carolyn Bessette on Cumberland Island on the coast of Georgia, outside the paparazzi that have been trained on him since he was a toddler at the White House. Kennedy issued a statement explaining the secrecy. "It was important for us to be able to conduct this in a private, prayerful and meaningful way with the people we love." The World Series trophy is back in the Bronx, belonging to a New York Yankees team that never gave up. Together, they pulled off the ultimate comeback. Given no chance after two humbling losses at home, the Yankees won the first World Series title since 1978 with a 3-2 victory over the defending champion Atlanta Braves in Game 6 on Saturday, October 26, 1996. This marked the Yankees' 23rd title, most in history and surely one of their most remarkable. (LEFT) Photo given by Associated Press.

The sound of a school bell does not mark the end of a teacher's day. Apart from the papers that need to be graded and lessons to be planned, many teachers stay after school as well as during the weekends to participate in students' lives. Students know that teachers are available to provide extra help and support. "Mr. Morenz, gives students an extra boost of confidence. He really cares about his students," said Senior

By taking the time to sponsor these activities, students have a more fulfilling experience at high school.

Students form lasting relationships with teachers. After graduating, students keep in contact over the internet and by visiting the high school when they have the opportunity. It is a fact that at Deerfield High School, academics is one of the top priorities for many students. Throughout the school, students are able to find a variety of options open to them for help on their work. There are centers available where students can go to receive help in almost every subject including english, math, science and foreign languages. In both the WERCS and WERCS+ there are adult and student tutors that are trained to help students in all areas of reading and writing. In the Planning for college is a difficult and stressful process. There are many decisions to be made before this process is finished. Students must decide whether they want to attend a small school, a big school, a school close to home or far away, and many more. It is very overwhelming to figure out what has to be done and by when, but there are many helpful people and places from whom one can get information and help.

Many people have tutors to help prepare them for the ACT and SAT tests, and others have personal college counselors for additional aide in this long process. But outside help is not necessarily needed because of the great programs offered from the CCRC and the study strategies

For example, a mixup occurred between Tulane and Senior Aaron Crane and the CCRC cleared this up. Now Aaron is happily on his way to New Orleans, but what would he have done without the help of the CCRC?

Deerfield High school is known for its standard of education and quality of learning, as well as other things. Part of what makes the learning aspect at Deerfield High School so special is the diverse material and devoted teachers. The student-teacher relationship enhances the learning experience and makes classes in English and foreign language educational as well as fun. Whether it's a heated English debate or working in the language lab, students always seem to find the heart of the subject. The teachers are constantly enriching

this process through their creative teaching styles, outside help, and fun activities. The French classes find time to watch The Lion King en francais and Spanish classes are kept in suspense each week with a new cliff-hanger in Destinos. Meanwhile, the Senior English classes can practice their own acting skills as they read and perform scenes from Hamlet, and the Sophmores are still voicing their loud opinions in speech. Along with all this, we always have special help in the L.R.C. and patient teachers who make us their priority.

These departments offer many different types of classes at different levels that students are able to choose from.

For both these departments, there exists a lab that offers extra help. The science resource center is open during the school day and always has a science teacher there to help students whenever they are confused. The Math Lab also has teachers present to help as well as permanent aids who are very helpful.

Sadly this year, even after 25 years of teaching, Mr. Kurtz was unable to finish this year off teaching Geology due to a heart condition. Teaching in place of him now is Mr. Sloick.

Deerfield High School's fine arts department consists of an arts department and a music department, which is subdivided into several classes for DHS students. One can walk through some of the hallways and see works such as paintings and sculptures that were created by the several art classes. And if one has good ears, as they pass by M hall, they can hear the voices of the chorus, the trumpets from the band, and the conductors going out of their minds. The band and chorus have seasonal concerts throughout the year. The arts department has several art exhibitions throughout the year as well. Besides the music and art classes offered at DHS, we have an active theatre. In addition to more than four productions a year, in which students compete for roles, there are several Theatre courses which include reading, writing and performing plays.

The P.E. Department at DHS offers a variety of classes.

These include conditioning, outdoor adventure, and many individual and team sports.

The Applied Arts Department is another diversified area with classes from Child Development and Business to Technical Drawing and Woodshop.

Five athletic related activities

By Elise Wold

DHS Tumblers, is an organization in which many talented students work hard to put on an entertaining show for the whole student body. The Tumblers were a mix of gymnasts and dancers, who practiced long hours to make their show successful.

This year's Varsity Club was headed by President Bob Fraumann. Anyone who participated in a varsity sport was invited to join. The Varsity Club tried to encourage students by electing an "Athlete of the Month" and holding more school dances. The biggest event of Varsity Club was holding it's annual Special Olympics, which was an incredibly rewarding experience for all who participated.

Performing to promote school spirit at half-time for Varsity boys football and basketball games was the main goal of this year's Pom Pon squad, led by Seniors Ali Kulp, Britt Krasny, and Lindsay Cohn. Each member worked hard to produce fun-filled and energetic routines for everyone to enjoy.

GIMA, the Girls' Intramural Sports Association, continued to monitor current issues concerning girls' sports and also sponsored the annual Turnabout dance.

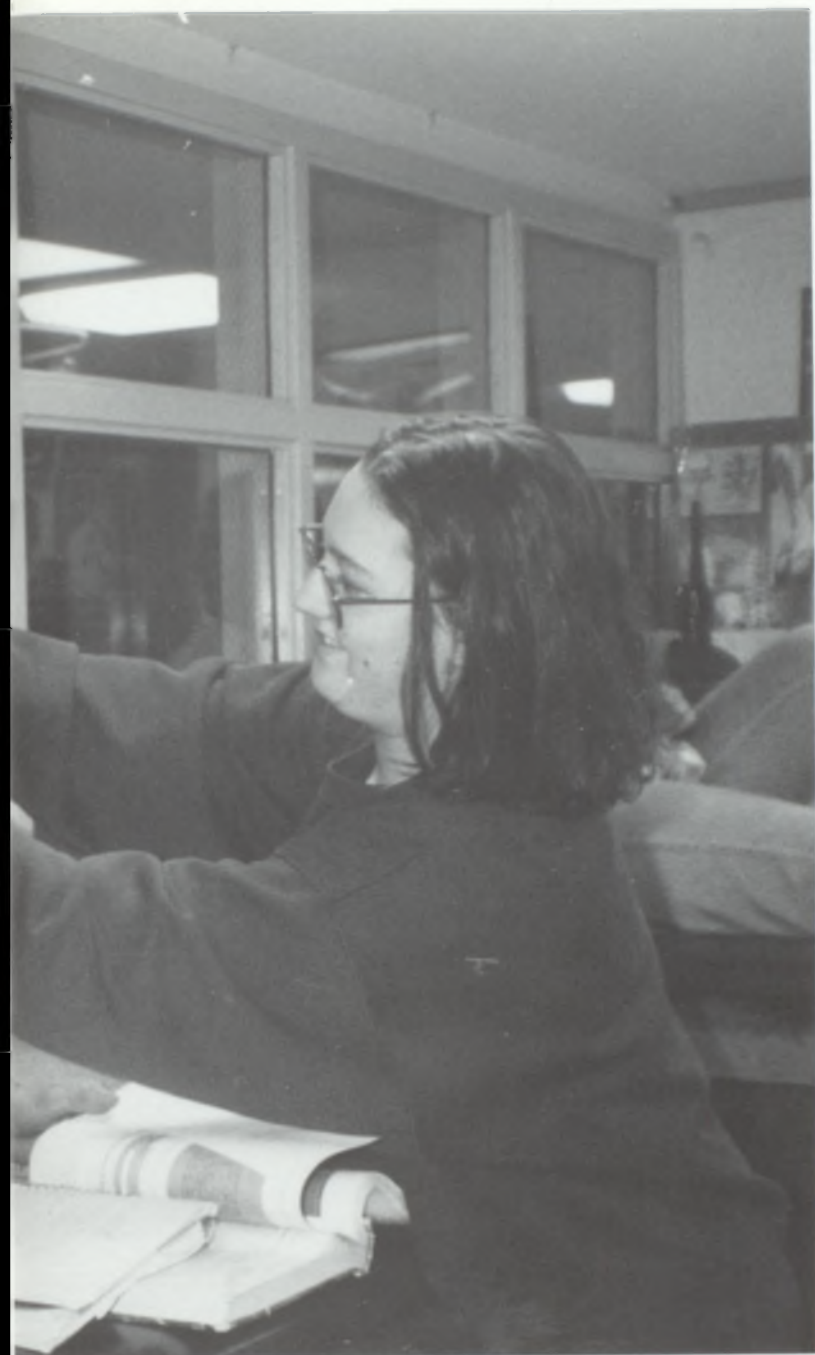

What would DHS's sports teams do without the athletic trainers? Headed by Ted Robbins, the trainers assisted players from all different sports before their games and practices by doing everything from taping their ankles to providing them with water to quench their thirst.

MUSIC

IN THE AIR

By Aaron Crane

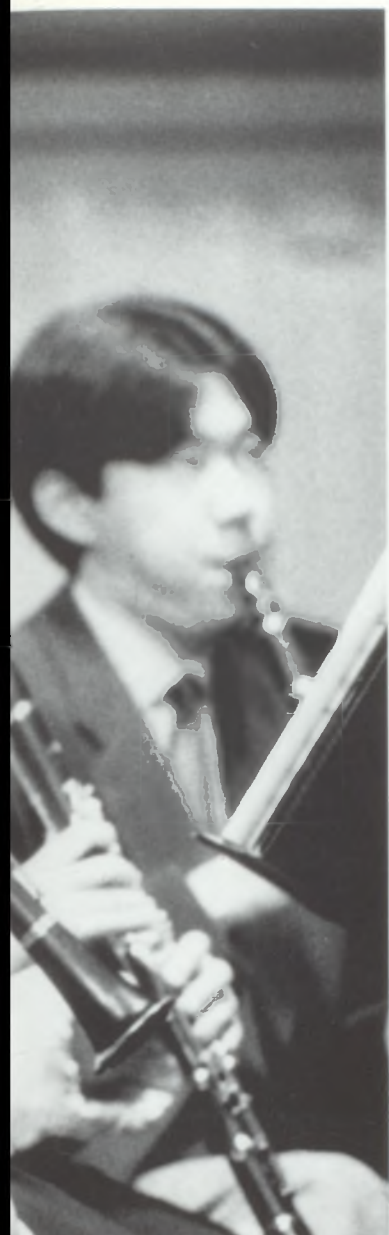

During fourth, fifth, and sixth periods everyday, if one travels to M-hall, the sound of music fills the air. Whether it is the beating of a drum, the strumming of a guitar, or voices flowing, the fine arts hall is always active.

Each year these organizations spend weeks raising funds. Examples of these fund raisers are candy assortments, nuts, and citrus. Not only do these profits go towards improving the fine arts department, but profits are used to help fund the annual chorus and band trip. This year the chorus and band are scheduled to travel to Minnesota, where they perform in various locations, one being the Mall of America.

Throughout the year many performances are put on by the choruses, bands, and orchestra, which are often combined with Highland Park. As a result of the students' hard work and dedication the final performances are always a success.

By Aaron Crane

To be eligible for the National Honor Society, Juniors are selected at the end of their fifth semester, and Seniors at the end of their seventh semester, on the basis of scholarship, character, service and leadership. Students who are eligible scholastically complete and return a Student Activity Information Form listing co-curricular and service activities. Once the teachers select the students, the students participate in the induction. Students perform their special talents and participate in a candle lighting ceremony.

This year National Honor Society participated in a nation wide drive, Toys for Tots. Each classroom had a box in their homeroom to aid in the collection of toys. According to Secretary CJ Sandusky, "This drive was a huge success. We were able to bring Toys for Tots many toys to brighten the Holiday Season less fortunate children. It was great to see the kids at DHS help others." National Honor Society is also planning to have a dance-a-thon.

Spanish Honor Society holds all their meetings in Spanish, led by President and Senior Shameen Gupta.

French Honor Society does not seem to have meetings for all the Students in the society are in the same class, AP French. Ms. Erikson gives the students the information during their classes.

Together, Spanish and French Honor Societies select a family in the neighboring area to sponsor. They provide clothing, toys and food for this needy family.

By being a part of an Honor Society, students have a chance to be recognized for all their hard work throughout the years.

Publications

are the best!

By Jonatian Mathews

Newspaper, TV, Yearbook and Troubadour all have something in common. Students work with a team to put together publications for the rest of the school to enjoy.

Each month, Deerprints published new and better issues. Students from the Deerprints staff write stories or articles for the newspaper. Led by Lori Marks, Deerprints is well-known and received many awards and medals in recognition of the hard work.

At the end of every school year, O*YAD publishes a yearbook for the students to hold as a commemorative reflection of high school. The staff of the Yearbook works extremely hard to produce a true representation of the past year. Students will be thankful for such a conscientious yearbook staff as they look back in the future and remember all the good high school times.

Every Tuesday, the highly acclaimed WDHS can be viewed by everyone at DHS during their first period class. It is a time for people to hear the latest news about sports, special clubs, and other extra-curricular activities. The staff of WDHS works hard to put together special editions as well as regular programs.

Troubadour, our literary magazine, is a place for students to be able to express themselves creatively. It includes student's writings, artwork, photography and drawings. This talented collection of work is a splendid show of all the talent at DHS.

Creating a better place.

By Carolyn Hansen and Shelley Blair

CARE began as a cultural awareness club, but recently, under the direction of Ms. Collins and Mr. White, it explored many new routes. To CARE members, Wednesday afternoon not only means a good discussion, but a step away from their chaotic lives. Students enjoy the freedom to discuss anything, from affirmative action to spirituality. Although many members return weekly, anyone is always welcome to participate.

"SOS (Student Outreach Service) is an amazing organization to participate in," said Sophomore Mallory Bernstein. SOS has sponsored clothing drives, candy, nut, and blow-pop sales to help fund worthy charities. At the end of the year, the helpful organization gives scholarships to deserving seniors.

Thousands of soda-pop cans are consumed within a school year. It is the job of the Earthworks organization to make sure these cans are recycled. There are many bins in the cafeteria that are used for recycleable cans only. The students in this organization are committed to making a better environment.

Snowball offers a stress free weekend where students can make new friends and discover who they truly are. Participation in Snowball is always high, as many students enjoy getting away from the pressures of DHS.

Senior Advisers work hard to make the adjustment to high school much easier. Senior Advisers introduce the Freshmen to many of the real life obstacles of high school life.

Something

for everyone

By Lynn Herbstman

Deerfield High School provides clubs for everyone's interests. Many students are interested in science fiction, rockets, computers, and mathematics.

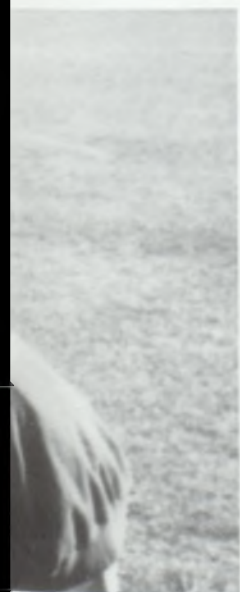

The Continuum is a club that discusses science fiction. Some subjects they discuss are Star Wars, Star Trek, X-files, Babylon 5 and many more. The Continuum held a fund raiser game called Paranoia. The funds raised from Paranoia were used for the annual Trekfest Convention.

Deerfield, we have a problem! But it's definitely not Dasa! Dasa stands for Deerfield Aeronautics and Space Association. They started this year's rocket season with a bang. Dasa broke several records this year, such as launching seven rockets in three minutes, and launching the first twin single stage rocket.

The Computer Club meets once a week for an exciting time fixing computers and playing the great computer games the school provides.

Mathletes is an interesting organization that is composed of students who have an exceptional math background. They compete with other schools and are always very successful. These students are very dedicated to mathematics and love working with numbers.

Participating in Trek Fest, these students play a form of Roulette. Once a year Continuum puts on Trek Fest, a celebration of Star Trek. Trek Fest allows students to be their favorite character for a day while not leaving the galaxy. (LEFT)

By Rachel Mazur

Swim Guard is an organization that teaches swimming to all levels in the community. The people who volunteer their time to help out have passed lifeguarding and lifesaving courses with much success. Many students volunteer their time to teach the Family Swim Program and to guard at nearby pools. Swim Guard is a fun program that many students enjoy participating in.

Students involved in Art Club, an organization that meets once a week on Thursday afternoons, are free to choose what kind of art they want to create. Art Club gives students an opportunity to share common interests in painting, sculpturing, etc. Students normally stay as long as they want and are free to listen to music that would perhaps influence their art. They have the freedom to create what they want, without many restrictions.

If you are a frisbee lover, and want to have a good time, you can join Ultimate Frisbee and fit right in. Also, Ultimate Frisbee is an intermural sport, so there aren't any strict commitments. It is new this year, and it has made a great start at Deerfield High School. The students practice after school with help from Coach Christenson.

Having been around for five years, water polo continues to be a popular sport of choice, mostly among the swimmers and divers. This sport allows the boys to have fun doing something they enjoy without having the added pressure of always needing to win. The boys compete against other schools. Senior Billy Dim loves water polo so much that he even hopes to continue playing in college. This unique sport is just one example of all the different activities that students can be a part of here at Deerfield.

Hard work delivers rewards.

By Kristen Loehr

Whether it's debating, organizing, blood drives, or competing in science and math competitions, students here have plenty to experiment with to keep them busy and help prepare them for their futures. From the wide variety of activities offered, DECA, Student Congress, Model U.N., Forensics, JETS, and Student Council prove themselves to be very demanding, yet rewarding.

Student Congress participants busy themselves in competitive public speaking on current issues. They participate in 8-10 tournaments a year.

Like Student Congress, Model U.N. also takes part in debate. This gives them a good chance to experience campus life. Their main activity was a simulation in Boston. Forensics also competes in a wide range of tournaments, from speech contests to radio talk.

DECA, a professional national marketing and management student organization, participates in conferences with chances of winning scholarships, while at the same time, they learn skills that they can apply to their future career.

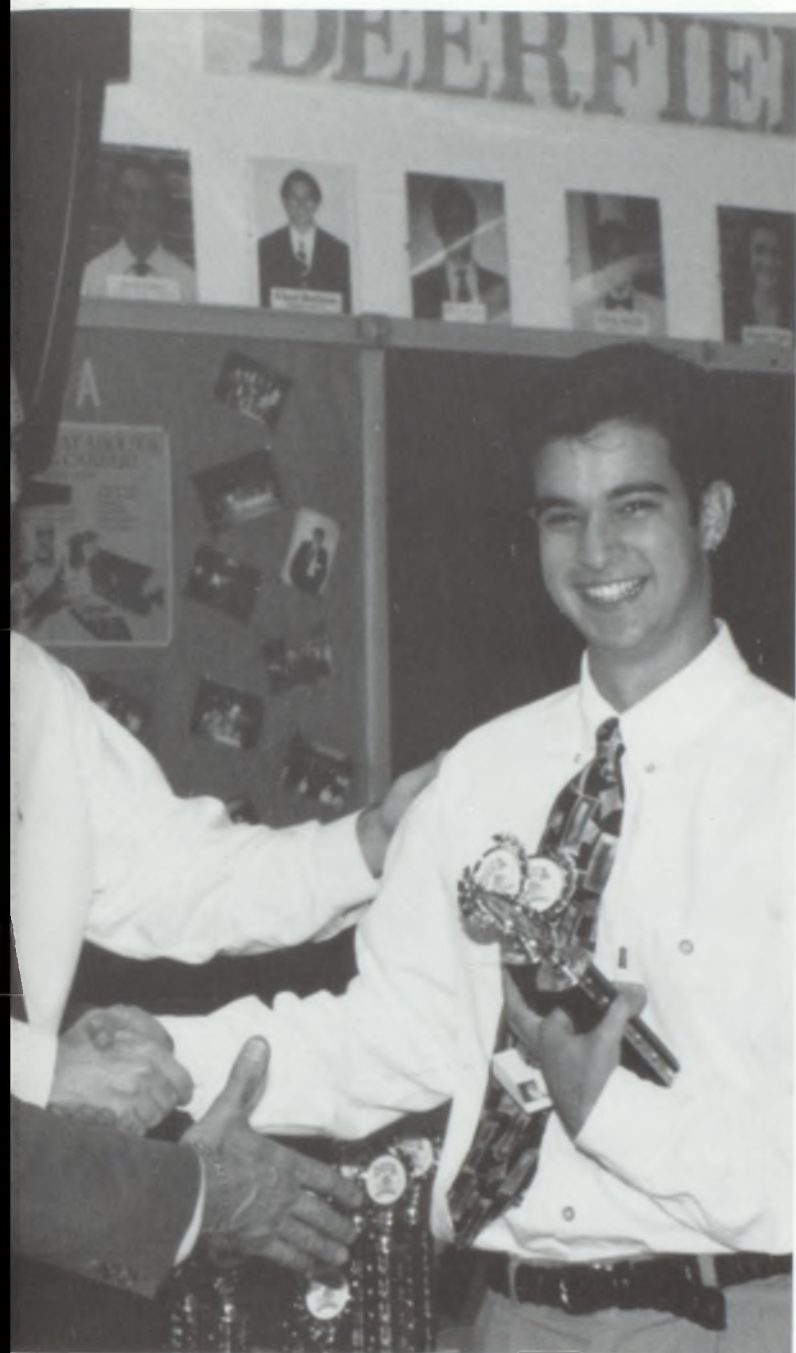

Another competitive group is JETS. This team consists of students interested in math and science. They compete regularly in state and national competitions.

Student Council, on the other hand, is not a competitive group. This organization involves itself in preparations for Homecoming weekend, dances, school elections, and School Chest. "The camaraderie of Student Council is unbelievable," said Senior Aaron Crane, "we always have the best time doing whatever we do!"

Although these DECA members should be quiet and polite at the awards assembly, somehow they manage to have a great time without getting into trouble. DECA was very successful this year as they all advanced to the State competition. (RIGHT) Photo given by DECA.

Board Issues

By Aaron Crane

Pep rally...locker decorations...homecoming dance...prom...senior boat party and senior teach day. All of these activities are the responsibilities of the four executive boards here at DHS.

All freshmen entering the high school have the opportunity to join the executive board through their advisories. During the time of finals, this board works to help these new students with their first set of tests by giving out finals scheduling cards.

This year the Sophomore board sponsored the Homecoming dance, "Travels Through Time." They decorated both the students' lockers with their class theme, "Stone-Age Sophomores," and the cafeteria with items representing different decades.

One of the main responsibilities of the Junior executive board is organizing the senior prom. This board annually throws an amazing prom dance with which the memories are eternal.

Once a month representatives from all organizations meet with the school's administrators to discuss school-related issues. This group of students is known as the Student Activities Board. Discussions at their meetings include issues concerning the enhancement of the school, such as the student union and the courtyard.

The Student Curriculum Board, like the Activities Board, talks with the administrators of the school. They however, discuss concerns with classes and faculty.

Helping others

creates new friends.

By Elis Wold

Probably the best way to learn something is to teach it to another person. The WERCS and WERCS+ tutors, sophomore mentors, Early Bird Tutors, and Peer Helpers all kept this concept in mind as they helped their fellow classmates.

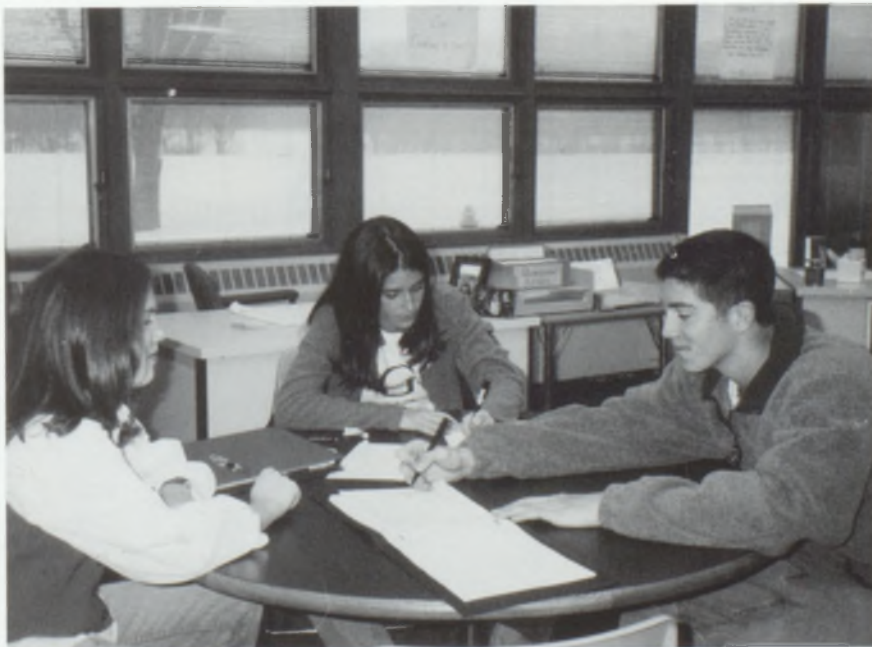

The WERCS and WERCS+ tutors gave up their free periods in order to help people succeed in various writing and reading assignments. People leave the WERCS complex feeling confident because they usually leave knowing what they have to do or how they have to fix their work.

with one freshman and mainly focused on Romeo and Juliet, Tale of Two Cities, and their freshman research papers. This extra bit of assistance allows the freshmen to feel successful and form a bond with someone who they can go to for help.

Early Bird tutors shared many of the same goals, but rather than focusing on English, they taught a wide range of subject areas.

Finally, Peer Helpers brushed up on their communication skills by learning how to help friends deal with certain situations, as well as make many new students at DHS feel welcome.

Reviewing the rules of grammar, Junior Jason Glickman rereads this student's English essay. In the WERCS, DHS students have the opportunity to revise their writing with either a peer tutor or an adult, as well as discuss a book they have read in the WERCS PLUS. (LEFT). # small victories

This year's Varsity football team won many small victories, even if they weren't displayed on the scoreboard. This year's team brought an excitement and a drive that reminded DHS of great Deerfield teams of the past.

Senior Defensive Back Ari Sagett said, "As a team we may not have accomplished everything we would have liked to, but we worked hard, had fun, and formed lasting memories."

The hallmark of football has always been a strong running game. This year's squad continued that tradition. Led by All-Conference Seniors Kevin Gottschalk, Brian Moss, and Bob Fraumann, the Warriors pounded out hundreds of rushing yards.

The future of DHS football looks bright, despite the loss of the seniors who brought excitement to the field this year. The Sophomore team had an almost perfect season, coming within one heart-breaking loss of an undefeated year, and a conference championship. That, coupled with the strong showings from the Freshman Teams, tells us that "Go Big Red!" will continue to fill the air at Adams Field for years to come.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT... Bob Frauman

The unquestioned "good friend," said leader of the Senior Brian Moss. Warriors was Senior Bob added intensity Defensive Linebacker and determination to his team. Bob taught and Tight End Bob Fraumann. He capped the younger members off a stellar four year of his team how to be career by being named a good teammate as to the All-State they all looked up to football team for his playing abilities Illinois. "The intensity with much respect.

and leadership Bob brought to the team playing college was immeasurable. football somewhere But he's more than a as many schools have good player... he's a been recruiting him.

“big” breakthroughs

Boys' head cross-country coach Chuck Wathen said he had a “big team” this year. With his one-two punch, Juniors Adam Wallace and J.B. Hanson, emerging as state superstars and with five promising freshmen, the Warriors had a “big season”.

Both Wallace and Hanson were able to qualify for sectionals, the first boys tandem to reach sectionals since 1983. Deenfield's “big surprise” of the season was compliments of Shawn Yanklowitz, who generally placed third on the team, running in the 17:30 range. Although the varsity team suffered the loss of stars Aaron Ritter, Brian Andalman, and Ian Harrison midway through the season, they were able to finish a respectable fourth in conference and eighth in regionals. Led by Freshman Jimmy Lee, the freshman team placed third in conference and look forward to a promising season next year with the return of Lee, Dan Cooper, and Matt Noerper.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT...

Adam Wallace

The veteran cross-country member, Adam Wallace, returned this year for his best season yet. Although nagged by a calf injury, Wallace finished second in the conference meet and fourth in regionals. After the sectional meet, where he performed up to par, he qualified for the state meet. This was the meet of his life. He ran out of his mind and qualifying twenty-second, received All-State honors. This was an incredible accomplishment for Adam. Congrats!!!!

IN THE SPOTLIGHT... Fred Degand

ONE OF DHS' ELITE - Senior Fred Degand has been an important factor in the success of the DHS Soccer Team. Fred's knowledge and skills of the game are great which are important assets he brings to the game. Fred also brings leadership to the team since he is senior. His dedication to the game of soccer is admirable by many of Fred's coaches and teammates. Finally Fred really enjoys playing soccer and he's a real kick.. Next year Fred will be attending Bowling Green State University in Ohio where he will be playing soccer.

new records

This year's soccer team rose to new heights. Led by Senior Fred Degand, this Varsity team accomplished more than most teams in Deerfield High School history.

The team was blessed with a new coach, Coach Huson. He gave the team confidence and pushed them to their limits. The boys were very pleased with their new coach. According to Senior Fred Degand, "He made everything so much fun. Everything was still competitive, yet we improved greatly as the season went on."

The team's biggest accomplishment of the season was making it past the second round in sectionals. They unexpectedly beat the Highland Park Giants. They were thrilled with this victory as it showed how much the team had improved over the season.

Luckily, the team has much promise for the future as they are only losing four Seniors. Bryan Mack and Jason Merz helped lead the team although they are only Juniors. The team has high hopes for next year as their goal is to get past the second round of sectionals.

- Brian Singer -

a strong leader

These two teams had one thing in common, Elizabeth "Squig" Ori. Squig was captain of both teams and has participated on Varsity volleyball for the past three years and on basketball for all four years. Her achievements have been many, such as being named to the all-Conference team of volleyball for 2 years, basketball for 4 years, and the MVP for basketball for the past 4 years, but Squig has remained a team player throughout.

When asked about the volleyball season she said, "We didn't do as well as we should have, considering the amount of talent we had. We just didn't communicate well." Other key players were Liz Holmes, Mardi Halperin, Jenny Nogal, and Katie Malloy.

The girls basketball team had a much more successful season.

Although both Theresa Gandor and Alex Russel were injured, the team still managed to beat Josephinum, who is ranked #2 in the Class A division. Another major defeat was Niles North. The girls had lost to the team by three points at home, but defeated the Vikings on the road.

Having been here for four years, Squig will be hard to replace.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT...

Liz Holmes

Whenever her teammates needed a sideout, Senior Holmes could always be counted on to put the ball away. She blocked killer hits and served consistently all throughout the season. Because of her efforts, Liz was named to the all-conference team. Liz was a great leader for the team. She added her fun personality which allowed the team to loosen up during times of great pressure.

team togetherness

Team unity. That's what the girl's tennis season was all about. They began at the beginning of the summer with a big hoorah at Tennaqua Swim Club. The kids were able to swim, eat and play games, of course including tennis! The next party was hosted by Dani Daube a Senior on the team as well as her father Mr. Daube, a coach. After the wonderful dinner, the team went off together to participate in their annual T.P.ing of the coaches' houses. They also had time to bond on the bus. Senior Kathleen Duprey said, "The bus rides were so much fun. We sang songs and made animal noises. Milligan was the best at making horse noises."

Besides just having a good time together, the team was very successful. At conference, all the doubles team came in first place including Leanne Levy and Chelsea Kammerer, Caroline Mao and Emily Seely-Brown, and Haley Johnstone and Kathleen Duprey. Leanne and Chelsea took first place at Sectionals and advanced to State where they were exceptional.

Chelsea Kammerer

A Freshman among a crowd of upper classmen. She proved herself to be the best player of the team by playing number one singles all throughout the season. The biggest highlight of her Freshman career was reaching

State. Along the way, Chelsea and her partner Leanne Levy placed first in conference, first in sectionals and 21st in State. The coaches of the tennis team wait in anticipation for the upcoming years as she has a promising career:

IN THE SPOTLIGHT... Sarah Fraumann

Who would think that the only member of the swimming and diving team to make finals would be a freshman. Well this freshman was Sarah Fraumann and her hard work throughout the season really paid off. Sarah could probably be classified as one of the hardest working athletes, never resting until practice was over; before and after school every day. Sarah was able to qualify for the State meet in two individual events and two relays. She made the finals in the 200 IM and placed twelfth in that event, an amazing feat for only a freshman. We will definitely be hearing more from Sarah in the future.

Swimming/Diving

new records

With the addition of so many new freshmen this year, the girls' swim team started out the year with more members than ever before. There were five new freshman added to the varsity team who were able to make up for the valuable members lost last year.

This young team started off the season very rusty but through hard work and team bonding, they pulled together to come in second place in conference, just a few points out of first.

These swimmers were very successful at sectionals, qualifying three relays to the State meet along with the three individual events of Junior Jocelyn Plack, Sophomore Julia Soya, and Freshman Sarah Fraumann.

The boys, as well, had a successful season despite the serious injury of their valuable diver, Senior Jeremy Hoders. Hoders was able to return to diving in the middle of the season.

The boys team was able to come in second in conference also. At sectionals, four Seniors qualified for the State meet, Billy Dim, Matt Fremling, Jeremy Hoders, and Chris Koerner;

small victories

"We had the smoothest, slickest team around," said Junior Josh Wood. The boys' golf team had an exceptional time together while still working hard enough to have a winning record of 9-3. They were consistently shooting in the upper 30's and lower 40's. Senior Jeff Rosenberg led the team to second in conference losing to Highland Park by only 4 strokes. During this match, they beat GBN, possibly one of the biggest accomplishments of the season. The other main contributors to the team were "Woody," "Captain Nordby," "Frenchie," "Big Daddy," "George," "Yank," "Dimmer," "Moody," and "Train."

The girls' golf team also had a winning record. They were led by Seniors Lindsay Cohn and Melinda Creasman, a transfer from Florida. Both Seniors advanced to sectionals after a successful conference.

As for the rest of the team, their future looks bright. The girls were a young group, mostly freshman. Luckily, they got a new coach who was very patient and enthusiastic. Coach Mandel did a great job because of her great golfing skills. Lindsay and Melinda also had the opportunity to help teach some of the younger girls how to have a more successful game.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT... Lindsay Cohn

Having just sectionals was Lindsay's greatest success. She scored a low of 93. During the regular season Lindsay's best was a 44. Being one of two Seniors, Lindsay provided leadership for the younger players.

Advancing to the younger players.

extra effort

The girl's gymnastics varsity team placed 2nd in the central Suburban Conference. Freshman Jenn Burt won conference on floor exercise. Midseason, while Junior Stacey Furco had an ankle injury and was unable to participate, Freshman Barri Levine helped carry the team. Also Junior Leemor Pogofvsky demonstrated her skills on the floor routines. Despite the lack of seniors on this year's varsity squad the team still managed to do well. As Junior Stacey Furco said "Even with everyone's frustrations with the hard work involved we still managed to form a really strong bond. I'll always remember the sleepovers and eating dinner together after meets."

Field Hockey had a difficult season, with only one win. However their effort was apparent, as they practiced everyday. As Junior Sarah Petit said. "The team really tried hard and had a lot of fun. We were very energetic and I look forward to next year." Junior Stacy Steinman summed it up ... "PASTA PARTY!"

IN THE SPOTLIGHT...

Norah Sullivan

Norah Sullivan was the hero of the field hockey team this year, having scored the winning goal at the only game the team won.

She played mid-field which is the person who passes the ball, an excellent fit with her personality, never trying to take over but always lending a helping hand.

But, Norah was also a great team leader. Co-captain of the team, she was able to help keep team spirit high despite the losses encountered.

Slamming his opponent into a pin, Senior Mark Oster wins one for the Warriors. Wrestling is a sport that requires strength, power, quickness, and agility. Warrior wrestlers are proud to have all these traits. (RIGHT) Photo by Halterman Photography.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT...

CJ Walton

What a fantastic season! CJ Walton rose to new heights this season. CJ was a huge success at all dual meets. He worked extremely hard during practice which definitely paid off as CJ wrestled his way to finish first at the Sectional meet. He then went on to win a match in the fight for a place in State. Although CJ did not qualify for State, he is a shoe in for next year's State meet. Good Luck, CJ!

young competitors

Although this Varsity team did not have the best of records, they had a very fulfilling season. Varsity Wrestler Billy Nechtow said, "We got the self-satisfaction of completing a physically demanding sport." The wrestlers worked extremely hard each day in practice as their coaches, Battista, Zima, Meintzer, Coleman, and Graham pushed the wrestlers to their limits.

Even though the hard work did not always pay off at meets, each wrestler had their moments of victory and excitement. CJ Walton and Jeff Cioni were often in the spotlight as they were known as "stat monsters" among the team. CJ was the only wrestler to advance to Sectionals as well as State.

The Warrior's varsity team consisted of many sophomores. David Coleman, Mike Dunn, Brian Netzel, John Lickfett, and Mike Emalfarbe all wrestled on the varsity level as sophomores. These young wrestlers have a lot of promise for the future.

Senior Wrestlers Billy Nechtow and Mark Oster did more than wrestle in competition and practices. They also helped coach the the Little Warriors, a group of young kids who have hopes of wrestling in high school.

Basketball

winning reputation

This group of 18 of the most explosive, offensive players made the Warriors virtually unstoppable when push came to shove.

Their defensive techniques and stamina resulted in a 26-4 record. The uncontrollable, untameable scoring of Ryan Hogan and Dan Saken contributed not only to impressive victories over Maine West and GBN, but accounted for 1280 points of the Warriors' total scoring. Bob Fraumann's unbelievable defensive effort earned him a player of the game award against GBN.

Congratulations to Seth Greene, who this year set the record for the most assists in one year and he also has the career high in assists for any guard to ever attend DHS. The basketball games were so exciting that they brought in outsiders who just loved to watch our games were the best in Illinois. The Warriors' losses were shaken off faster than they happened, and this allowed the Warriors to reevaluate and always be ready for their next opponent. No team was too strong, too good, or too overpowering.

This team will go down in history and always be remembered and you can take that to the bank.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT...

Ryan Hogan

The backbone of the varsity basketball team was Ryan Hogan. As a leader on the court, Ryan was known for his quickness, speed, and agility. His talent brought countless victories to the varsity basketball team.

Ryan's desire and love for the game had not only helped in high school ball, it also landed him a scholarship to Kentucky University. Hogan's great skills led him to set a new record to career scoring and a place on the All-Area First Team.

Ryan Hogan, # 22, has gone down in the history of Deerfield High School sports as a leader on the court and an all around amazing basketball player.

A long time coming...

Kevin Gottschalk, Dave Shatan, and Mike Bramnik had played a lot of ice hockey before they entered Deerfield High School in the Fall of 1993; each had played on successful all star/travel club teams for over ten years. When they arrived, the Warriors hockey program was well established, but had not seen real success for several years.

Progress came slowly: In 1995, the Warrior's J.V. team, bolstered by the arrival of the "Smurfs" (Chris Affinati, Adam Imhof, and Kevin's brother Chris) finished in a tie for third place in the prestigious Metro North High School League; the Varsity team came together and surprised experts with a Final Four appearance in the Illinois State Tournament. In 1996, the Varsity team traveled North and won the Moose Goheen Invitational Tournament in White Bear Lake, Minnesota.

Finally, in the 1996-1997 season, buoyed by the arrival of Freshman goalies Jason Katz and Steve Procanin, along with four other freshmen, and continued development of Juniors Josh Holeb, Scott Boothe, and Paul Nuara, the Warriors were competitive with the top midwestern high school hockey teams; shocking everyone with a fine finish in the Annual Loyola Academy Holiday Tournament, and then going undefeated in the 20th Windsor (Ontario, Canada) Secondary School Tournament. In Windsor, the Warriors came from behind to tie the top-ranked team in Ontario, earning mention on Canadian television. Finally, back home, the Warriors competed for the Scholastic Cup (for the top teams in the Chicago Metropolitan High School League only) for the first time in recent memory.

Along the way in this memorable season, the Warriors swept the season series from Highland Park, beat Lake Forest H.S. twice and beat traditional foes Barrington, Glenbrook South, Loyola Academy (Maroon), and New Trier (Blue), en route to an overall (as well as league) winning season. Individual honors followed: Freshman Jeremy Glazman played in the JV All Star game; Kevin Gottschalk earned Honorable Mention to the All-State Team, and, along with Adam Imhof, represented the Warriors in the Varsity All Star game; Mike Bramnik was nominated for the Chicago Blackhawks Alumni Scholarship, and numerous upperclassmen were nominated to the Chicago Classic Tournament Team.

The biggest honor, however, was playing in the Red Division of the Illinois State Championship Tournament, reserved for the top teams in the state. This was the first time in a decade that the Warriors participated at this level. The team did not disappoint, beating St. Rita High School and earning a spot in the "Sweet Sixteen" before the memorable season came to an end.

Kevin Gottschalk, Dave Shutan, and Mike Bramnik played ice hockey together, beginning in September 1985 on a "half-year" club travel team. While taking different paths for the next several years, they arrived together at Deerfield in September of 1988. They part company this spring for the last time; Kevin to Junior Hockey, Dave to Northern Illinois University, and Mike to Ohio State University.

Homework Machine

The Homework Machine, oh the Homework Machine,
Most perfect contraption that's even been seen.

Just put in your homework,
then drop in a dime,
Snap on the switch, and in ten
seconds' time,
Your homework comes out, quick and clean as can be.

Here it is—"nine plus four?"— and the answer is "three."

Three?

Oh me...

I guess it's not as perfect
As I thought it would be.

Obedient

Teacher said, "You don't obey.
You fidget and twidget
And won't sit down.
So go stand in the corner now
'Til I say you can turn around."
So there I stood 'til it got dark
Without a whimper or a tear,
'Til everybody else went home.
I guess that she forgot me here.
And that was Friday, so I stayed all through the weekend-bein' good,
And Monday was the first day of Summer vacation, so I stood
Through hot July and sticky August, tryin' to obey her rule.
Stood right there until September,
When-yikes-they closed down the school!
Boarded up the doors and windows,
Moved to a new one way 'cross town.
So here I stood for forty years in the dark and dust and creaky sounds,
Waiting for her to say, "Turn around."
This might not be just what she meant,
But me-I'm so obedient.

HUG O' WAR

I will not play at tug o' war.
I'd rather play at hug o' war,
Where everyone hugs
Instead of tugs,
Where everyone giggles
And rolls on the rug,
Where everyone kisses,
And everyone grins,
And everyone cuddles,
And everyone wins.

Ms. Dorigan

Ms. Madura

Our first thank you goes to Shel Silverstein. Without his creativity and inspirations, and generosity, this Yearbook would not be what it is today.

Thank you to Chris Noerper, Jonathon Mathews, Lauren Provus, David Loring, Melissa Mottlow, Craig Hurvitz, Mindi Maneck, Beth Glazeman, Shirin Meherally, Peter Reustow, Nathan Kim, Kim Tracz, Brooke Handler and everyone else who wrote copy, took pictures, and who kept our spirits up during times of stress!

Thank you to all the staff who has supported us: Mr. Hiegel, Mr. Bolek, and Miss Marks. A special thank you goes to Miss Madura, who spent many Wednesday afternoons in K130 with us. We know that you had many other places you could be, especially with your daughter, but we appreciated every second of your time.

A special thank you goes to all the editors, whom without we would have gotten nowhere...Heather Solomon and Becky Trayber, Organization and Student Life Editors, Mike Bramnik and Charlie Sokoloff, Boys' Sports Editors, Lara Levine, Kim Linton, and Brian Singer, Senior Section Editors, Cheryl Ziembra, Junior Section Editor, Lauren Samuels, Sophomore Section Editor, Tracy Jacobson and Sarah Mick, Freshman Section Editor, and Lynn Herbstman and Kristen Loehr, Senior Tribute Editors.

Most importantly, we would like to thank Ms Dorigan. Your dedication is overwhelming. You were always there to help us with whatever we needed, whether it be related to Yearbook or not. We know that hearing us complain about English could get annoying, but you always listened with a smile. Your knowledge of design and your artistic abilities could never be overlooked. We definitely would not have made it through this year without you. Thanks for everything. Keep smiling and don't ever lose your ability to be patient at all times.

Elise Wold, everything you have done with the photography of the Yearbook has been fantastic. The photos have been better than ever and your cropping talents will go down in the history of O*YAD. We appreciate your patience with us, since sometimes we would take your position for granted.

Jordan Kanarek, can you actually believe that we made it through a whole year with you? Just kidding, you're the best! Although we had to put up with your ridiculous, pointless stories, we really loved every minute of them. Your hard work was incredible and we know that Julie will love the supplement. A word of advice...take curfew seriously on the convention! Good luck next year, we know you will do a fabulous job, hopefully not by yourself.

CJ Sandusky, we can now call you the Index Queen, so the rest of the school knows how much effort you put forth in making a wonderful index, oh yeah, and Yearbook too! You always brought a smile to our faces whether it be talking about Missy Bechler or playing the Kevin Bacon game. We wished you could have been on the convention with us, but then again you didn't get a Saturday. Thank you for all your time and effort. Your captions and copy could never be better, but we guess that just comes from the amount of practice. Good luck next year, etc., etc., you're the best!!

Jessica Weisbach, YOU'RE FIRED! Seriously, without you we wouldn't have gotten anywhere. We all know you love English class and you are destined to return as a DHS AP English teacher. Your dedication to job that was the most frustrating was unbelievable. Without you, there would have been countless errors all over this book. Whether it be copy or layout, you always knew what you were doing (it seemed) and you put forth all your effort. We never could have done it without you. Good luck wherever you end up, we know you'll do amazing!

Aaron Crane, well your lucky that we all didn't quit on you because we were often very close. Although it took a lot of persuasion, you definitely had the funniest captions around. And yes Aaron, we know each spread must have a dominant! Thanks for all your hard work and effort. It is very obvious that you truly care for this yearbook even though you refuse to admit it. Thanks to you, this yearbook will go down in DHS history. Oh by the way, "You brought sunshine to a room with no windows!"

Where the Sidewalk Ends

A year at DHS includes much more to students than simply classes every day from 8:20 to 3:24. The activities, the sports, and the people begin to make up each student's own life. From all of these things, students grow so much during their four years at DHS.

Now as the class of 1997 prepares to leave, it is not only hard to say goodbye, but it is hard to imagine what comes next. There are new places to go and more things to learn. Yet, there will always be memories from time spent at Deerfield because for the past four years it has been, "Where the Sidewalk Ends."
