Relax

Summer gives students a much needed break from their studies. Members of the DHS community did a variety of fun and interesting things over the short 10 weeks. The options to summer excursions and plans were endless. The students who stayed home often worked or attended summer school. Potbelly Sandwich Works, Starbucks, Barnes and Noble, Stoney River and Best Buy were just some of the more popular retail jobs students worked at this summer. Many students also worked as camp counselors at local day camps. For those students who got out of state and traveled, California and Florida were popular family destinations. Summer programs such as overnight camps, college preparatory programs, teen tours, foreign language programs, and sports clinics were also very popular. However last year's summer was spent, students found that it provided some needed rest from the school year.

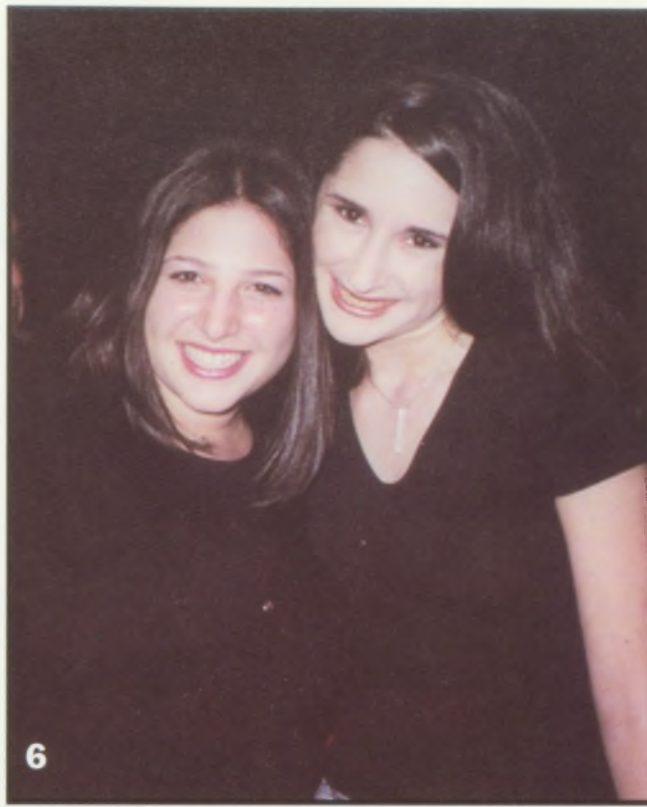

Weekends provide the DHS community with a much needed break from school. Students look forward to their weekends to spend time with friends and family. Many students devote a great amount of time towards extracurricular organizations and activities. Driving is a big help to students aiding them in exploring beyond Deerfield. Work is also a popular weekend activity helping students gain money for college and beyond. Northbrook Court and Regal Cinemas are the places to be to catch a new film or new trends and styles. The small cafes and trendy restaurants in Evanston also lure teenagers down south on the treacherous Edens Expressway or the adventurous, stop light filled, dangerous ravines of Sheridan road. Nothing can compare to the relaxing fact that you don't have to be at school on a Friday or Saturday evening.

Free time

The theme of this year's Homecoming was "Let's Make History." The Student Council decorated the entire school during their traditional Lock-In. Colorful streamers and posters covered the hallways showing the true spirit of Deerfield High. Keeping with tradition, the Student Council sponsored dress up days including Jersey Day, Pajama Day, Class Color Day, and Red and Gray Day.

1. Taylor Gustafson shows off her homecoming spirit; 2. Jazzy J Hall; 3. Freshman cheer on the Warriors at the pep rally; 4. seniors Jaclyn Miller, Talia Jossel, Jen Newman, & Annette Way pose on Jersey Day; 5. StReaming with spirit!

Students of all grades crowded in the exhibition gym for the annual Pep Rally.

Students dressed in appropriate class colors: black, blue, green or white, and sat in their section of the gym. The Marching Band supplied the crowd with their exciting pep music and the homecoming court, king (Kevin Shimer), and queen (Jamie Weinstein) were announced at the end of the assembly.

7. Ed Davis & Melissa Lipshutz; 8. Mr. Williams, Ms. Luehr, Mr. Huff, Mr. Bolek, Mr. Chung, Mrs. Clark, & Mr. Beaumont; 9. The senior section at the pep rally; 10. Katherine Pflaum & John Norris at the pep rally; 11. Juniors cheer on the warriors at the pep rally; 12. Corey Solow is looking forward to Homecoming.

The Homecoming Parade this year was a huge success. The class executive boards, poms, and the DHS marching band were part of the parade. The marching band sported ponchos to escape the downpour. Executive board members threw candy to the spectators brave enough to watch the parade despite the inclimate conditions.

1. Junior Exec Board members ride in the parade; 2. Brett Gordon puts the finishing touches on a float; 3. The Freshman Exec Board stands proudly next to their float; 4. Homecoming King and Queen Kevin Shimer & Jamie Weinstein; 5. Junior Hillary Caron cheers on the Warriors; 6. DHS Field hockey team members make posters for the parade.

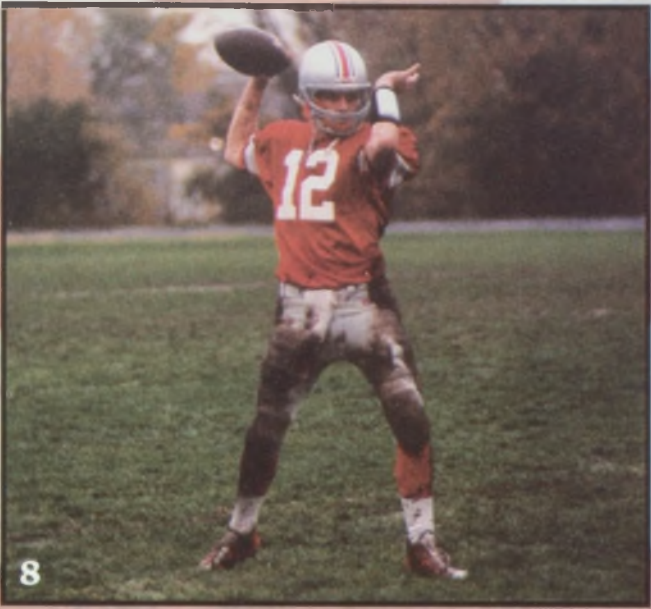

Get Ready

PREvail!

The varsity Warriors emerged victorious in their Homecoming Game against the Niles North Vikings this year. The Warriors handed the Vikings a 21-6 loss. Despite the monsoon-like deluge that drenched the field throughout the afternoon, the Warrior pride and determination shone through. The marching band and and poms helped lead the Warriors and fans to victory.

7. Junior Carl Palmer rests on the bench; 8. Quarterback Kyle Gessert drops back to pass; 9. The Warriors charge towards the endzone; 10. Coach Winiecki strategizes the Warriors' game plan; 11. Warriors receiver Tim Ziemba reels in a pass; 6. Senior Jessica Lane & the Poms cheered on the team despite the rain.

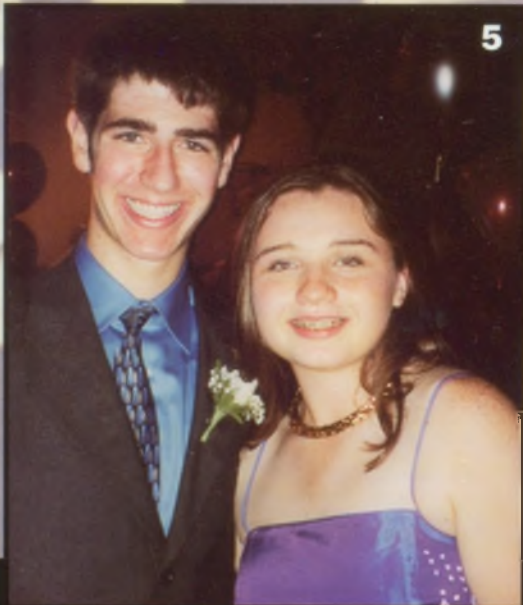

This year's homecoming dance was a huge hit. The Sophomore Executive Board planned and sponsored the event. Once again, dinner was available at the dance. The All-American Catering Group offered a variety of appetizers and dinner selections. DJ Freddie Bartucchi filled the North Gym with cool sounds that inspired everyone to dance.

1. Tim Ziemba, Kristy Haskett, David Futterman, Nicole Brown, Rachel Nathan, & John Norris; 2. Jodi Schecter & Lauren Huffman; 3. Jessica Cole, Evan Granat, Taylor Gustafson, & Kevin Kelly; 4. Sari Schy & Abra Kosova; 5. Jonathan Steer & Ari Reizner; 6. Julie Barnhill, Ben Hoffman, & Erika White.

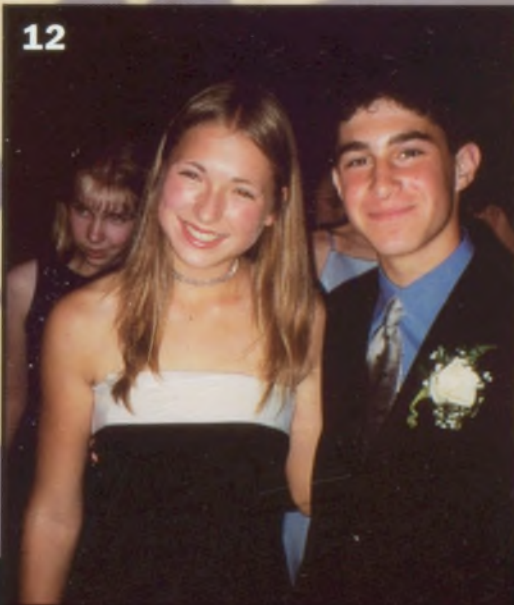

Pictu*Re* Perfect

In recent years, the administration has promoted a more friendly atmosphere surrounding homecoming in which students are not forced to go in couples. This trend continued this year. After the dance, many students gathered with their friends to enjoy themselves. The dance was a smash for all who attended.

On what other day of the year would you see groups of teenagers strutting around as crazy characters and ghoulish beasts? Only on Halloween with the spirited student body of Deerfield! This year, a large number of students got decked out for this fun holiday of tricking and treating. As usual, students were seen sporting all sorts of fun and original costumes.

What better activity to do on a weekend than to go out to one of the hundreds of fine dining places that Chicago area offers?

Deerfield students are restaurant crazed, often going the distance down the Edens to get a good bite to eat. Popular spots include, Flat Top Grill, Stir Crazy, Wildfire, Maggianos, Chili's, and Baker's Square.

With a closed campus, DHS students are limited to the special treats the lunchroom has to offer. Students have their lunchroom favorites but an overwhelming 76% preferred pasta day.

Things to Be Thankful For:

Be thankful for the clothes that fit too snug, because it means you have enough to eat.

Be thankful for the mess you have to clean up after a party, because it means you have friends.

Be thankful for the taxes you pay, because it means that you're employed.

Be thankful that your lawn needs mowing,
and windows need fixing,
because it means you have a home.

Be thankful for you heating bill, because it means that you are warm.

Be thankful for the laundry,
because it means you have clothes to wear.

Be thankful for the space you find at the far end of the parking lot, because it means you can walk.

Be thankful for the person who sings off-key,
because it means that you can hear.

Be thankful when people complain about the government, because it means we have freedom of speech.

Be thankful for the alarm in the early morning, because it means that you are alive.

the heidi chronicles

"I have learned so many valuable lessons not just on stage, but in life. I've adapted new views on words such as focus, patience, persistence, success, appreciation, trust, and pride."
- Adam Silver, Sophomore

The Heidi Chronicles traces the life of art historian Heidi Holland from high school in Chicago in 1965, to the social changes in the '60s and '70s, to her life and career in Manhattan in the '80s. A poignant drama, The Heidi Chronicles, examines the progress of a generation, from the socially and politically activist '60s, to the success-oriented '80s, a time during which the status of American women underwent profound and sometimes unsettling changes. The show was performed on a unique three quarter thrust stage in the Studio Theatre, which made for a very intimate experience. The cast performed eight shows in a busier schedule than most professional productions. Many of the parts were double cast allowing more students to be cast in the production also giving the show two different portrayals of a role. The crew's behind the scenes effort really showed the excellent lighting and simplistic, yet creative sets. The Heidi Chronicles was a great production that the Deerfield High School Fine Arts department will remember for years to come.

You'll find no surprise to hear enormous roars of laughter and giggles emanating from the Studio Theatre when Theatrix is in session. Theatrix is an improvisational comedy club open to all students at Deerfield High. Theatrix meets Wednesdays during early bird. They play a large variety of improv theatre games similar to the ones seen at famous comedy clubs and television improv shows. Some of their favorite games played include: "Party Quarks," a party where the host has to guess the comedic quark of each guest given by the audience; "Freeze," a fast paced, short scene improv where players can freeze actors in motion and fill in their place starting a new scene; and "Peel" where actors one, by one add a new element to an ongoing scene. Theatrix is an excellent club to learn and explore theatre and improv comedy while in a safe, warm environment. Theatrix is a great way to start your Wednesday.

healing power

"The trainer's office is a great place to hang out, you get to learn how to help people and make a lot of great friends in the process."
- Pierce Buckman, Freshman

If you are interested in sports and helping athletes perform at their full potential, this is the club for you! Watch all athletic events from the playing field as you assist the athletic trainer in helping athletes on and off the field. Student Trainers have the responsibility to know the procedures for proper cast and bandage care, as well as what a variety of injury knowledge. Working and learning in the PERC helps develop the skills needed in physical therapy.

Deerfield High School athletics have a tradition of excellence. Beginning freshman year, student athletes strive to compete at the highest level - varsity. With the privilege of playing on the varsity team comes a sense of responsibility. These student leaders join Varsity Club as a way of coming together in community service as role models, encouraging younger athletes to get involved in their school and the community. Varsity Club members participate in a number of activities that benefit DHS or the larger community. Varsity Club runs fundraisers, creates and sells the class color homecoming T-shirts, hosts a Varsity Club dance, and most importantly, sponsors the Special Olympics held this year on February 3rd. Special Olympics is an all day event - an unique opportunity for mentally and physically challenged members of the Chicago area to come together and compete in sport related events. Varsity Club members and other volunteers act as referees, timers, and coaches. Varsity Club is more than just sports, it's also a social opportunity. It is a place for athletes to get together outside of practice and just have some fun.

capturing memories

"Being an editor really helped me learn what it's like to work hard as part of a team."
-Joe De Frank, Junior

The staff of O*YAD, Our Year At Deerfield, worked hard this year to capture DHS events and activities. Student editors and staff worked together to create the pages of the book. Completing a whole yearbook before the final deadline, March 8, is a vast task which takes a lot of devotion, responsibility, and time. O*YAD team members are challenged to shoot photos of every school event from Homecoming to Prom to Badminton matches and Band concerts. Then, they diligently work as journalists to hunt down quotes and information for the final touches of the pages of the yearbook. The fun really starts during 4th and 5th period where the O*YAD staff eats their lunches together and plan layout, design and concept for the book, enhancing knowledge of yearbook processes and having a little fun on the way. O*YAD members, along with Deerprints editors, also met up with thousands of high school students from around the country at the Journalism Convention, this year held in Boston, Massachusetts. The convention included workshops, lectures and competitions during the day, and tours and events at night. Students were treated to exploring historic Boston as well as dancing and hanging out on the weekend.

~Drew Bradford, Senior

just the facts

This year Deerprints staff worked to improve a paper that already ranked among the best in the nation. The staff has worked to localize coverage, better portray the interests of students, and learn valuable real-world journalism skills. Although not all the students plan on becoming journalists, most will agree that the things they learn through Deerprints will help them throughout their lives. Deerprints has 17 editors working to assemble the paper and numerous reporters covering beats within the school. The editors often stay at school until 8:00 p.m. laying out the monthly issues. They were rewarded for their efforts with a Golden Eagle from the Northern Illinois School Press Association, an award they have been honored with for many years running. In addition, Deerprints has helped its staff members grow close ties with each other and with staff and faculty.

"It has been a life altering experience having been one of the major contributors to the foundation and success of WDHS Television. I am forever thankful to have had the opportunity to teach those under me the importance of ethics, morals, values, and the defense of the truth through the vehicle of journalism. As well as empower them to not only produce thier projects well, but to do "good" with them and make a difference."

WDHS television is a prolific organization. WDHS is a student run organization where all members have had life experiences that will stick with them throughout their lives. WDHS TV is an organization where teamwork, leadership, communication, critical thinking, and problem solving are fostered. WDHS is one of those activities that parallels "real world" television production.

During the year WDHS puts together two weekly shows, "NewsWorthy", a weekly news program keeping students and faculty informed about DHS as well as the village of Deerfield and "Sports Scene" a weekly sports recap. Together these two shows give all staff "real-world" TV production experience. One of WDHS's favorite productions, which takes place in the winter, are the LIVE boys and girls Varsity Basketball games.

WDHS takes part in many activities besides production during the year. One of those highlights is that WDHS attends a national convention every year during the fall. This year's convention was held in Boston, MA. Everyone who went had a wonderful time while expanding their television knowledge. In addition, to the fall convention, WDHS annually attends the Chicagoland Video Festival held in Chicago.

All members cannot help but leave with great memories. All staff members remember the first time they were "broadcast" schoolwide as well as the awards won, not to mention the late nights working on a show, special production, or in executive meetings. The best thing members take with when they leave are great, long lasting friendships that last forever!

As an editor, I have had the opportunity to read a lot of interesting writing and participated in producing the magazine. We are proud of Troubadour and I think the student body enjoys seeing the creativity of their peers."

creative documentation

Troubadour is a literary magazine devoted to the publication of original photographs, drawings, poetry, and prose that are submitted by the Deerfield High School students. Every year there is a contest held for the cover of the magazine, which is selected by the committee. The magazine is a great way for students to learn the art of crafting a magazine. The magazine displays the creativity of the students. The magazine is sent to "The National Council of Teachers of English" (NCTE) at the end of each year for evaluation and feedback.

The DHS Jazz Band, conducted by Mr. Brame, features an atmosphere different from that of other music classes. After passing the audition, Jazz Band members meet early bird to play and learn about jazz theory and history. The music studied is all classified as jazz, but it includes a variety of styles, from swing to bebop to funk and gospel. Students develop improvisational skills and work on composing their own pieces.

The Jazz Band performs often, in school concerts and unique venues. In the spring, they play at Jazz in the Meadows, a large competition among regional schools' bands. Throughout the year, the band works on giving their music a unique touch; creating an original blend from individual talent.

warrior spirit

The 2001 season was another successful one for the Warrior Marching Band. Band camp, a week in which band members can see their friends after the long summer, kicked off the year. Adams Field was filled with music and spirit four times this year. The biggest performance was the homecoming game, where the band played music related to the week's theme, "Let's Make History," throughout the rainy afternoon. The marching band's fun does not stop after the football season ends; the annual Bandorama concert pleased the crowd. The band also competed in the Sycamore Pumpkin Festival Parade contest. The Warrior Marching Band took home third place in the large school division after a great performance.

making music

"Symphonic Band is a great way to spend lunch. We listen to cool music, learn interesting things about composers, and finally play some music."
-Stephen Ryan, Sophomore

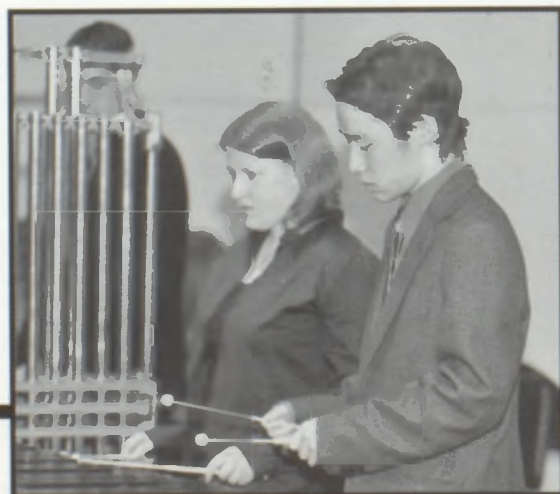

Symphonic Band gives those with a love of music a place to play it and learn more. Symphonic Band is comprised of sophomores, juniors, and seniors. The band meets every day. Fourth period is filled with lunch, learning about music, and rehearsing for concerts. For many band members, the highlight of the year was the trip to Los Angeles, California. There, the band performed at Disneyland, had a clinic at California State University, and even visited another high school. This trip brought the band even closer together. Although Symphonic Band is a class, many of its musicians would agree that it is the most fun way to spend forty-two minutes.

Wind Ensemble is a place where talented students can come together to make music and enjoy themselves.

Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors audition for the Wind Ensemble each spring. The band gets the opportunity to do lots of fun activities throughout the school year. Their first performance of the year was at the Potpourri Concert. Band members were placed into smaller chamber ensembles to get the ability to work with a much smaller group atmosphere. The small chamber groups performed in December performance band performance and to their other class members. In February, the band traveled to Los Angeles, California and they participated in a clinic to help with technique and style and then performed at Disneyland for a public audience. The students who went on the trip found it very beneficial to their overall performance as musicians. Wind Ensemble is a very fun and rewarding organization where students can grow as team members and individuals.

"The risks I took on stage this year in Stunts really helped me grow as an actor and a stage comedian. I learned skills I will use for the rest of my life." -Zachary Laks, Junior Stunts, the student run, directed, written, and performed variety show went "Platinum" for the 2001 production. This year's show was very entertaining and fun to watch, featuring original acts and music from very talented Deerfield High School students. The original acts created for the show were very well done and put together, giving a large range of students a chance to participate in the fun event. The original acts ranged from cross country boys dancing to "Eye of the Tiger" to the ever popular theme of boybands and their roles in the pop music scene today. Theatre 3,4 mocked a music award show with hilarious minute long awards such as, "Least Amount Of Clothing in A Music Video" and "Best Smelling Pizza" adding to an overall excellent evening of entertainment. The music in Stunts 2001 was excellent, performed by a few student-comprised bands displaying their talent on the stage. The stage crew put in many hours to help run the show smoothly. Overall, it was an excellent performance with wonderful talent and effort shown on stage.

"Crew is an awesome experience in working with a real theatre. We get to use some pretty cool tools and work with many different people." - Ben Lantow, Freshman

hammer time

The Stage Crew is a large group of trained and training technicians who provide artistic and technical services for numerous productions and events at DHS each year. The Stage Crew opened up the year with the fall One Acts, "Domino Effect." The Fall Play, "The Heidi Chronicles," was their next show in which a simplistic set gave the perfect setting for a gender themed show. The 2001 Stunts, "STUNTS Goes Platinum," was Stage Crew's big winter production, produced and directed by the students themselves. The spring musical, "Sound of Music," required enormous amounts of effort and devotion to complete the humongous set, lighting, sound and all other aspects of this major production. Following the musical was the "Dance Show," requiring heavy lighting and sound design in the auditorium, and "Theatrix Scene Night," in the Studio Theatre. The Stage Crew ended its year with the spring play, which was in the Studio Theatre. Stage Crew puts in enormous amounts of effort and everything always turns out wonderful.

head of the class

"Being on Exec board gives us a sense of satisfaction because we are more than just participants in events. We really are representatives of our class. We pride ourselves on that." -Jeff Levin, Junior

Student Executive Board is an organization which helps to incorporate DHS students into producing a variety of school spirited events during the year. Each class of students at Deerfield High School is governed by an elected executive board. Class representatives are elected at the end of each school year for the following year, with Freshman being elected through the advisories.

Each class board has its own unique activities to sponsor and plan along with participating in Homecoming week activities. The class boards help to decorate each student's locker during homecoming by creating creative and fun class posters based on a common theme. This year's Homecoming theme was "Let's Make History." The class themes were: "Sovereign Seniors", "Jurassic Juniors", "Swingin' Sophomores", and "Flintstone Freshmen". Sophomores had the special task of organizing the dance for the whole school to enjoy as the last activity of the homecoming week.

In addition to planning homecoming events, the Exec Boards host fundraisers to cover the costs of the week long celebration. Blizzard, pizza, and flower sales are among the many ways executive boards raise money. The relatively small size of each board allows the members to get to know each other and work as a team. Students feel a sense of unity with fellow representatives as well as advisors, creating a positive working atmosphere. "We all work to make the important decisions together," says Jeff Levin.

"Student Council is a great organization that teaches its members about leadership. The activities include School Chest, Homecoming, Blood Drives, a food drive and much more throughout the year. Student Council is a way to unite the school around a common cause which betters the sense of community within the school and benefits all students with the sense of accomplishment."

-Caroline Manley, Senior

Student Council began the year with its largest membership in the school's history. With a great number of representatives, Student Council expanded its ambitions. Throughout the year, each representative assisted its homeroom in the annual activities such as the Canned Food Drive and School Chest. In addition, Student Council played a vital role during Homecoming Week, decorating the school during an all-night Lock-in. Student Council played a vital role in the school community this year, helping others to recognize the value of kindness and leadership.

Friends for Steven and the Didier Family Fund are so grateful for the fantastic efforts and great success that school chest 2001 showed: $68,916.47."

open hearts

School Chest is a time of the year when the whole school gathers to raise money for a justly cause. This year's School Chest was to help support one of our own, Jeanne Didier dubbed "Didier Family Fund". Also funds were raised for "Friends for Steven", a small organization created to raise money to further the research for cancer in little children. There are several activities that are used to try and raise these funds. These activities include: bake sales, pie throwing contest, and the dunk tank. After a hopeful three weeks the School Chest Committee counts the money that was collected and races to the bank to change the money. On Friday, December 20th during the last five minutes of eighth period it was announced that School Chest collected $68,916.47 the most that was ever collected during any School Chest. $20,000 of the money was given to Mrs. Didier and the rest was sent to "Friends for Steven". This year's School Chest has proven to be a defining moment for the student body and a show of commitment in part of Student Council.

"GIMA is a great way to get involved through many different venues."
- Courtney Rohrbach, Senior

Gima, Girls Intramural Association, is an organization open to all girls at DHS. Throughout the year, GIMA members participate in activities such as Homecoming Parade, the Mr. DHS program, the Turnabout Dance, and Women in Sports Day. This year, the club consisted of about 100 girls who split their time between early bird or 9th period meetings every Tuesday of the school year. "I am so happy I have done GIMA because we get a chance to be involved in a lot of great activities," states Kelly Moorehead.

The seventh annual Mr. DHS Competition was held on December 18th in the auditorium. This is an annual competition between senior guys that is put together by the GIMA organization. This year, eleven talented guys competed. The contestants all showed off their skills as they danced, sung, read poetry, acted, and performed unusual, comedic acts. A panel of teachers took on the difficult task of selecting the winner out of the group. The decision was a tough one because all of the guys' performances were fabulous. This year's crown went to Senior Peter Bartoszek who created his own poem and recited it to the audience with a few added blunders for some comic relief. Congratulations Peter!

Besides allowing senior guys to show off their unique talents, the show also served a great purpose. It helped to raise around $1,720 for our school chest. All of the ticket sales went to benefit the charities our student body selected earlier in the year. This year's show was a phenomenal success.

"It's hard work to get in (to NHS)...it's not just about having a good GPA - it's showing that you're a well rounded person."
-Matt Tick, Senior

National Honor Society might conjure up images of students buried in books and sky high GPAs. National Honor Society is an organization that is much more of a way to recognize those students in the community that excel with excellence than grades. NHS members go through an intense application process during their Junior year to become a member of this interesting group. NHS members Matt Tick and Danny Zalay describe the organization as one which encourages not only academic excellence but also to pursue a variety of interests. In order to be selected for the group, students must have a required minimum GPA, and also show participation in non academic fields such as arts, athletics, community service, or student clubs. Students feel that the tough application process pays off in becoming a life long members of a close knit organization. NHS members are inducted in a special ceremony attended by alumni members and new inductees. Deerfield high school NHS members continue to build their academic strength and also community spirit by choosing a service project which becomes a team effort for the year.

~Rob Gould, Junior

learning languages

The French and Spanish Honor Societies recognize juniors and seniors who have spent years and much studying learning their respective language. While the main event for each of the groups is the induction ceremony for juniors in the fall, they also participate in other activities centered around the giving of one's time for others. In this way, student's not only have time to share with others who speak their language, but they also allow others who are less fortunate to live better lives. In addition, the groups participate in trips to culturally enriching places, such as the Art Institute of Chicago.

- Amy Goldstein, Sophomore

If you want to help improve the Deerfield High School community and surrounding area, then SOS, Student Outreach Services, is the place to be. The year was full of activities to help less fortunate people in the community. Meetings are held on Wednesdays during early bird and 9th period. Numerous project ideas are considered, while annual projects are also planned. SOS has a close relationship to the Taylor House downtown Chicago and plans an annual holiday party and zoo trip for the kids. In addition, lunches are prepared for the PADS shelter many times throughout the year. Membership in SOS is also rewarded on Honors' Night each year. Each year a deserving senior SOS member is awarded a scholarship along with a thank you for all of their help.

"CARE is a place where you can bring in lots of different opinions and different points of view and have really good discussions."

-Lucie Adamski, Senior

speaking your mind

CARE is an organization that meets each Tuesday after school. It provides a place for students to express their opinions on various topics ranging from economics to P.E. class to world events. Some topics this year have included the situation in Afghanistan and our reactions to it, the high standards of Deerfield High School, and some philosophy topics. Students are allowed to come to CARE as regular attendants or just for one time. They can choose a topic that interests the group or come to the group with a question they'd like to discuss. CARE is a place where anything goes, you cannot be wrong. It has a fun atmosphere where peers listen to and respond to each other. The faculty sponsors, Mrs. Foucault and Mr. Kramer provide supervision and insight to the discussions.

"This year's REACH group had a passion to make a difference and help the community."
~Zachary Laks, Junior.

REACH, Recognizing Each Others Ability to Chose Healthy Lifestyles, took a very active role in the Deerfield Highschool community this year. REACH's year began, with an educational program, featuring a controversial public speaker, Pat Socia, who lectured on the issues of pre-martial sex. REACH followed with Red Ribbon week, decorating the school and community with the bright red ribbons to keep the community aware and educated. REACH had many fifth grade DARE presentations taking three or four members to elementary schools in Deerfield where for an hour at a time talk about what it is like in highschool. REACH also actively participated in community service activities, volunteering at "Inspiration Cafe" and many other organizations, donating their time and effort to the community. Overall, REACH was a very fun and rewarding group to be a part of this year which provided many good services and contributions to the community.

"One of our most important functions in this community is to humanize some of the issues that are not necessarily easy to relate to. That is extremely difficult without first hand experience, which not all of us have. The most we can do is make the information available, but the ability to connect and be inspired to make change is still left largely to the individual members of the whole community."
 -Steve Fletcher, Senior

making aware

Some issues that pertain to our changing society can sometimes be difficult to relate to; A.W.A.R.E. (Action With Awareness of Rights for Everyone) is an organization that educates the community on social injustices that exist in the world. Throughout the year, the organization hosts forums ranging on a variety of topics in attempt to broaden peoples' perspectives. In addition, A.W.A.R.E. hosts an annual Jam For Justice Concert where Deerfield High School bands come together and play music to raise money and awareness for a political issue. Sometimes during the year people are asked to come and speak. While the ability to connect and inspire is left largely to the individual, A.W.A.R.E. is helping to take the first step and open the doors to new ideas and beliefs.

What does it take to be a member? You MUST miss at least one meeting. Certain parts of the club require that you understand the basic physics of how to create a plane from balsa wood and rubber glue. But either way DASA is a fun and exciting place to be. The club has a weekly rocket run early bird on Thursday morning but the club also meets each Tuesday during 5th period to create new rockets and have a good time. By far, the best rocket this year was Pikachu with an A engine strapped to its back. Members are saddened that the director, Mr. Cooksey, is retiring this year and hope that next year, they will be able to find a new sponsor for the club.

-Nick McConnell, Senior

brain power

WYSE is an academic competition where students take two tests in the fields of english, chemistry, biology, physics, and mathematics. Students are given forty minutes to complete these challenging multiple choice tests. The fun is not so much in the tests themselves, but rather in the camaraderie among the teammates. This talented group of students has a great time on competition days. WYSE competes in regional, sectional, and state competitions annually. Top scoring high school teams can then advance to the next level. Deerfield High School's WYSE team is one that stands out from many others because of their combined hard work and devotion.

singing stars

"Being Chorale co-president gives me the opportunity to do what I love. The rush I get from conducting a one hundred person choir in song is unreal."

-Hillary Scharmann, Senior

The Deerfield High School chorus is one of the largest school organizations. Over 260 students spend their time learning how to sing and practicing music for concerts. The four chorus groups have numerous concerts throughout the year, each one a well planned and well performed event. There is much talent to be found within the groups. This year was highlighted by a Chorale and Choralier trip to Los Angeles, California. The choirs performed at Disney Land and various other venues. The trip was a lot of fun for all of those who attended. Chorus has two senior student leaders who help who help out Mrs. Akers with her daily tasks. The student assistants help take attendance and lead the group when Mrs. Akers is not present. The four groups really work hard and enjoy their time spent practicing their singing.

The Deerfield High School Orchestra is one of the premier fine arts groups at DHS.

The group is composed of freshman through seniors who spend hours weekly to practice and improve their musical talents. The group debuted this year with their new conductor, Mr. Velleur, at the fall concert with a beautiful performance. Orchestra members find it no challenge to accept the responsibilities of continually improving and learning because the group is comprised of extremely talented and dedicated students.

writing prose

"Poetry reading is often a misunderstood art & Stage Write tries to give students an opportunity to discover its potential from the standpoint of reader, writer & listener."

-Matt Fujisawa, Senior

Stage Write is an annual celebration of student writing. Every fall, the sponsors, David Hirsch, Michael Wolf, Kara Haravon, and Jeff Berger-White, ask for applications to create a student board. This year, the student board consists of seniors Steve Fletcher, Abbe Magid, Matt Fujisawa, and sophomore Kelly Fragassi. Submissions are gathered throughout the winter and include stories, poetry, essays, vignettes, scripts, and memoirs. Once collected, the student board and the sponsors begin the process of reading, discussing, and ultimately choosing the pieces for the show. Either the writers or other students read the pieces in the show, which is held in the Studio Theater. Many students, staff, parents, and English classes attend the show and join in the fun of hearing students read the different serious, humorous, and dramatic prose, and poetry pieces.

Teamwork is the key to a successful season, and it was the excellent cooperation and communication of the Deerfield players that lead to their success this year. The close-knit environment of the organization makes players feel as if they are one huge family. The Warriors played strong this year, led by their captain Sammy Dorf. Everyone on the team gave one hundred percent throughout the season, drawing crowds of support to each game. Players are looking forward to getting back on the ice next season as this season begins to wrap up.

helping hands

"Being a WERCS tutor is a great experience because you get to help others and learn at the same time. It is an excellent environment and the tutoring staff is wonderful to work with."
- Jenna Leving, Senior

The Writing English Resource Center Services (WERCS) is a drop-in center where students are offered assistance in writing and reading comprehension at all levels and in all subject areas. Staffed by English Department members and student volunteers, the WERCS's mission is to teach clear, well-supported writing. Both volunteers and staff members make many scheduling sacrifices to make the WERCS function.

WERCS volunteers work cooperatively with the English Department during all periods to provide exceptional writing instruction and better understanding to the students in need of aid. Whether a student needs help proofing a paper, formulating coherent sentences, or is needing guidance on a book they are reading in class, the WERCS is the place to go. A student volunteer or an English staff member then offers their time to help steer the students in the right direction. The WERCS is a great and successful facility and unique aspect to our school.

The basic idea of the Sophomore Mentor organization is to help struggling freshmen and sophomore students with their English work. In order to become a Sophomore Mentor, a student must first be recommended by an English teacher. Teachers look for students who are positive role-models in class, show good time management skills, have good study habits, and who have exceptional organizational skills. Mentors provide a full year commitment towards their peers by making time during early bird and other free periods to help the struggling students. It is typical to find that the mentors meet with their peers about twice a week. This organization is essential to the success of many underclassmen.

"Its great to work with the administrators and the involved students to help make Deerfield High a better place."

- Andy Shlensky, Junior

Student Curriculum Board organizes and promotes the various ideas that affect the way Deerfield High School is run. Different topics include student curriculum changes, final exams, and alternative scheduling. At various points of the year, the Student Curriculum Board may be asked to discuss changes that other school committees have proposed. The committee is very influential in adding or modifying courses that Deerfield High School has to offer.

Student Activity Board is the liaison between the student body and faculty at DHS. They facilitate conversations to ensure that student's ideas are represented in the organizations at Deerfield High School. The committee's function is to try to create new clubs and improve clubs that already exist at DHS. The committee is selected by students from various clubs to supply opinions and keep communication lines open between staff and students.

"Student Curriculum Board is an organization where you have ability and experience of changing the courses students can take"

catching the worm

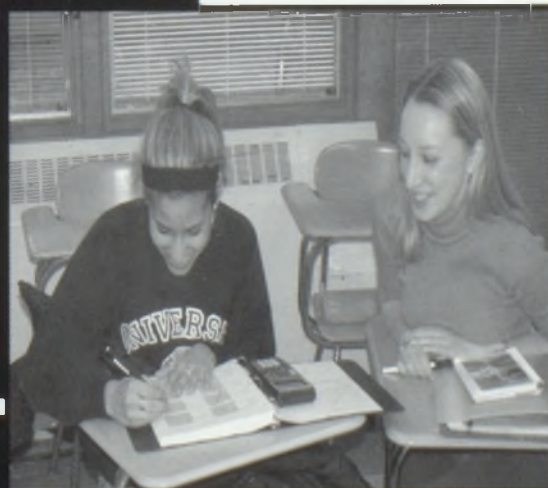

Early Bird Tutors is an organization of sophomores, juniors and seniors willing to help others academically. Everyday, students come in during their Early Bird and free periods to offer help and guidance to students having difficulty in their classes. Tutors are offered for all students receiving a seventy percent or lower in their classes. Early Bird Tutors cover a wide variety of subjects, ranging from Math to English, enabling just about anyone in any subject to receive help if it is necessary. Early Bird Tutoring is an organization wanting and willing to help others succeed. The DHS Early Bird Tutoring program makes school a warmer environment for students to learn in.

Writing club is an informal club that meets in the WERCS. It is a place where students can share their work and receive feedback from others. Writers were allowed to decide what type of feedback they wanted before they shared. Each meeting started off with a 'name game', since the same people didn't necessarily come to every meeting. The activity included students going around and saying their name and answering whatever the question of that day was. Members took turns bringing in a writing activity to kick off the meeting. Some days entitled describing an object in a unique way, other days students were encouraged to use normal words in unique ways. For any activity, sharing was optional, but the setting was relaxed and laid-back, and people didn't feel uncomfortable about sharing with people they hardly knew. The group was a great way to get to know people who have similar interests and to just have a good time. All of the meetings were filled with chatting, sharing, and laughter.

Deerfield High School's Theatre Department's first production of the 2001-2002 season was "Domino Effect." "Domino Effect" was a collaboration of five one-act plays all based on the concept of cause and effect. Directed by Tania Richard, Deerfield's artist-in-residence, the show ran from October 18-20 with four performances. "Subterranean Homesick Blues Again," by Dennis Reardon, "Last Day of Camp," by Jeffery Sweet, "Intermission," Daniel Meltzer, "Attack of the Moral Fuzzies," Nancy Beverly, "Tape," by Jose Rivera, and "Broken Hearts," by Kevin McLeod were the six one act plays performed. The three quarter thrust stage, provided for a very intimate setting in the Studio Theatre. The stage crew did an excellent job with the lighting, sound, and all the other hard work and effort they put in behind the scenes. All students really came together as one to give "Domino Effect" a lasting effect on all who saw it.

"Student Congress is a wonderful opportunity for all students to improve upon their speaking ability and discuss important issues" -Adam Weiss, Senior Student Congress at Deerfield High School carries a long tradition of fun and victory. This talented set of debaters is annually a contender for the state championship. Members of the team write bills, much like the real congress does, then debates them at tournaments with other schools. Team members give speeches on the bills which are then scored on the quality of their speaking. Deerfield High School typically places high in the monthly tournaments. In fact, the team has not placed lower than second in the past three years. December's tournament at Lake Forest was particularly exciting. Deerfield received a good performance from every debater. The Warriors took home a victory, tying Stevenson High School for first place.

DECA, Distributive Education Clubs of America, is Deerfield High School's marketing and entrepreneurship club. It gives students a taste of the fast-paced world of business. DECA emphasizes the need for good business skills, creativity, and communication. During the months preceding the regional competition in February, DECA members hone their skills by preparing role plays, taking tests, and attending club meetings. Those who come in first, second, or third place in Regionals advance to the state level, where they compete to represent Illinois at the International DECA conference. In previous years, Deerfield High School DECA members have traveled to California, Florida, Colorado and other exciting locations. This year winners had a chance to compete at Salt Lake City, Utah.

"Snowball is a once in a lifetime experience to meet new people, discuss things you wouldn't normally talk about with just anyone, and have an awesome time with a bunch of kids your own age." - Deborah Benzuly, Senior Snowball is one of the few extracurricular activities that involves Deerfield and Highland Park students. Snowball is a weekend experience designed to provide students with information relevant to the issues they may be facing as high school students. The weekend promotes healthy living and gives students opportunities to enhance skills for effective communication, decision making and stress management. There were two Snowball I weekends this year, November 15th-17th and February 28th-March 2nd. There was such a strong interest this fall that approximately 90 students attended the November Snowball I weekend while 40 students were on a waiting list. After students have attended Snowball I, they can participate in Snowball II, which is a more advanced weekend. Snowball II took place February 1st-3rd. Snowball provides incredible leadership opportunities for students who want to be involved in planning future weekends. The students can apply for Teen Staff or Teen Director positions. The Deerfield Teen Directors for the 2001-2002 school year were: Matthew Davidson, Allison Greene and Suzanne Berman. Michelle Freedman and Amy Hindson were the Assistant Directors for the Snowball I weekends.

"Peer helping is a great organization that furthers my communication skills and is a great place to come every Friday morning and meet many new people."

-Rachel Gottlieb, Junior

helping others

Peer helping is an organization with many roles. In the fall, they help transfer students become acclimated with the school. Peer helpers assist the new students in finding their way around the school as well as helping them to become involved in activities.

Then, students have group sessions where they learn about communication and listening skills through fun activities. Then they are split into smaller groups, which allow students an outlet to talk about problems they encounter in their relationships at home and at school, and discussions about how to deal with tough situations and how to use people skills. This organization has become increasingly popular each year, and it now is one of the largest organizations in the school.

"From throwing a pie in someone's face, to attempting to make French toast on a hot plate, my advisory has overcome obstacles in order to have a great time and learn how to survive high school as well as life." - Kathi Fine, Senior

It's hard to think that becoming a Senior Advisor is as easy as one, two, three- but it is! The desired juniors fill out an application form answering questions about themselves and what they would do in specific situations. Then they get recommendations from teachers, peers, and coaches. Finally, there is an interview at which the juniors say why they want to be a Senior Advisor. Over the summer, the new Senior Advisors prepare for orientation. Meeting the Senior Advisors is like meeting a new brother or sister. The Senior Advisors job is to make the freshman feel more comfortable with their new surroundings. For having been at Deerfield High School for numerous years, the Senior Advisors have experience with the school and are there as guides to the freshman. Throughout the year, the freshman get involved with fun activities with their Advisors that enhance their knowledge on every day situations. They are people for freshman to talk to when they are uncomfortable with certain situations and someone to look up to.

"Gym leaders is a great opportunity to take a leadership role in the school and assist freshman." - Josh Jones, Senior leading through action

Senior leaders are key factors in making freshman and sophomore gym classes great. The interested juniors enroll in a class which teaches them the rules, game play, and how to referee each sport. A specific amount of time is spent during each sport to enhance the understanding of the leaders. Then, senior year, the chosen senior leaders work with the underclassmen and assist the gym teacher with attendance and refereeing. Periodically during the year the Leaders meet to keep tabs on the classes and discuss any situations or problems they might be having. Senior Leaders help and develop friendships with the underclassmen and help enhance their gym experience while they still mature with leadership.

Deerfield's team attends two conferences each year. The first conference is in Boston, Massachusetts, or at Harvard University. Team members get a chance to tour the city and spend time relaxing and shopping. The second conference of the year is at the University of Chicago. Schools from all over attend the conferences, competing for the title of overall champs. Deerfield's delegates are able to interact with students from New York, Alabama, and even India. mind games

Scholastic Bowl is a Jeopardy-like competition where the students answer questions on literature, science, math, history, the arts, and just about anything else. A student has ten seconds to recall the facts and thirty seconds to work out the math. There are individual toss-up questions as well as bonus questions, when the team is expected to collaborate. This lively group competes against teams at other schools, trying to show off their knowledge about Nobel Prize winners as well as soap operas. Scholastic Bowl members have fast minds and fast fingers. The team enjoys intellectual challenges as well as tons of opportunities to make friends.

"Mathletes has not only offered me the chance to push my thinking to the edge, but it has also given me a place to go where I can have fun and be myself. I am really glad that I got involved in such a great program."

- Gavin Davis, Senior

This year there are more students participating in Mathletes than in any previous year! Mathletes is continuing to grow in numbers and experience. The highlight of the season was winning the first North Suburban Math League meet of the year at Downers Grove North High School. Freshman, Sophomore, Junior and Senior team members each represented their division with consistent high scores taking Mathletes to an amazing overall win. The Candy Bar competition is always an exciting event during the meets. During this high pressure competition, team members must work together to solve 25 math problems of varying difficulty in 20 minutes. The team is happy to bring home the trophy (and the candy) after each win.

Each year the Chess club travels around the region to compete against schools like Niles North, Lake Forest, Stevenson and Highland Park. Because of all the intense analytical thinking, each meet is strenuous and exhausting for the players. The goal? Go to state and come away a champion. The last two years the Chess team has gone to state and placed within the top forty schools. This year, the team has shown new and exciting talent with incoming freshman Michael Bilow rocketing up to the second and first board positions. Veteran members Rob Gold and John Garvey also continue to perform at the top of their games. During practices the players study positional theories and play through possible checkmates. There is a traditional eight-board team, but the club consists of over fifteen students. Although only eight students compete, the team still finds places for people that want to come in and play. The club meets on Mondays and Fridays, with a sporadic “Summy Saturday Spectacular.”

"Art Club is a relaxing experience where I can express myself in an artistic way."
-Cat Rust, Senior

Art Club is the place to be for those passionate about art. Being a part of Art Club gives students the opportunity to work with a variety of art media, as well as get together with fellow artists on a regular basis to work, create and socialize. Art Club helped to beautify the school during this year of construction with murals all over the floors. School favorites included a set of bookshelves in front of the library, a beautiful ocean scene in the bus lobby, and the "Yellow Brick Road" pattern in the bookstore lobby. This group effort was a big hit with fellow students and teachers alike. Art Club received a lot of positive feedback on the floor paintings. Art Club felt that it was a way for student artists to create something for the school community to enjoy, at a time when people seemed to need it the most. This year, the club also worked very hard to put together spectacular sets for the fall play and musical. Art Club members continually develop new ideas and works to bring Art to the forefront of our perception.

Good Karma Cafe has grown in the past two years into a popular way for the DHS community to show off their talents. It provides an informal environment where students can exhibit their skills in music, theater, poetry and art. Performers often present original works or covers and artwork is hung on the background display to give visual artists an audience as well. Students have expressed their enthusiasm for the laid back atmosphere of the shows, and the positive way that fellow performers and audience members encourage each other. Celebration of the Arts provides an opportunity for an even wider audience to see this spectacular display of fine arts.

Good Karma Cafe Grande took place in the auditorium instead of the faculty cafeteria this year. The event played to a large audience and featured many regular performers as well as first time acts. In the future, Good Karma Cafe is sure to remain an important part of the diverse arts scene at Deerfield High School.

Swim Guard is an organization comprised of Deerfield High School students dedicated to teaching young children how to swim. Student instructors are heavily trained to properly educate the children. To become a member of Swim Guard, life guarding tests and life saving courses are required. In these preparation courses, students learn proper methods of CPR, first aid, and other useful aquatic life saving skills. The organization meets early every Saturday morning at the pool deck where the children soon gather to learn the skills needed to swim. It takes a lot of dedication to wake up early during the weekends, but Swim Guard members think it is well worth it. Showing children how to swim is fun and can be a life saving experience for both the kids and the instructors.

green earth

Earthworks has grown in size and productivity over the past year. Sponsored by science teacher Angel Rodriguez, the club boasts close to thirty members. They have adopted a 2-mile stretch of Rt. 22 through the Adopt-a-Highway program, and clean it four times a year. They also collect and recycle the cafeteria's cans on a weekly basis. They sponsored a recycling booth for National Recycle Day on November 15th, and an Earth Day Fair in April; both for the purpose of further educating the school about environmental issues. Earthworks has also been working in cooperation with the school's environmental science classes to clear and replant the river branch in the back 40 of the high school. Earthworks is also the recipient of the Friends of Ryerson's 2001 Youth Environmental Education Symposium Award for their submitted plan to raise community awareness to environmental issues.

"Tumblers is a great opportunity to do the things you love while getting to know an amazing group of girls."

~Courtney Walton, Junior

Tumblers is an organization open to all girls talented in dance, gymnastics and performing. Members are selected by audition, and preparation for the show begins at the end of August. Practice is held daily after school for three months prior to opening night. The music is selected by the choreographers who then create original pieces incorporating tumbling with dance. This year's show, "Start the Commotion" was a huge success. Included in the many spectacular routines was a special performance dedicated to victims of the September eleventh attack. The program that was showcased at the end of October represents all the members talent, hard work, and commitment. In the end, it is something that the whole school can enjoy. All proceeds were donated to the Girls Intermural Association (G.I.M.A.).

After performing their own choreographed dance for the audition and a combination set by the captains, the girls waited anxiously after school to hear the results. This year there are 35 members on Dance Troupe. Due to postponing, dance troupe began in November with open classes, workshops, and master classes. From January through April the girls rehearse every day to prepare for their Spring Concert. Half of the show will be student work. The girls have the opportunity to learn dances that professional dancers have set. Every year the dancers audition for State Festival, and this year they are performing at the Columbia College Festival. Together as a team, they go on field trips to watch inspiring performers such as the Hardid Washington Library. This year the guest artist is Casey Pennell with Melissa Thodos dancers. Dance Troupe is a great place to meet new people and grow as a dancer.

This year the Pom Pon Squad had an incredible season. Whether they were on the football field or the basketball court, it was always an outstanding presentation of extraordinary talent. The squad started out strong at their annual Pom Camp at Elmhurst College. There, the eighteen girls bonded, competed, and worked extremely hard to come together as a squad and create the routines that were needed. Each member practiced vigorously in order to have each routine memorized and ready to perform at sporting events and activities.

Cheerleading is an organization that the whole school is able to cheer about. Cheerleaders practice lengthy hours to get all of the routines down. Out on the field there is no room for mistakes. The cheer squad can be seen at nearly all of the games and tournaments, they are the yielders of lore. During the halftimes and the intermissions they provide the crowd with entertainment. Ranging from stunts to cheers, the cheer squad has tons of responsibility trying to keep the interest of the crowd and motivation of the team.

Celebration of the Arts held on January 18th was a big success for its opening year. The event was held from 4 to 10pm and was an opportunity for students, staff and the community to showcase their talents in all of the arts, including music, visual art, and theater. It was a night to experience performances and art of all kinds; multiple venues held several events simultaneously throughout the evening at DHS. Performances included a student Art exhibit, student and faculty bands Joe's Ego and Lazy Dog, cabaret singer Lisa Menninger, an original one act play by Tania Richard, guest artist Eric Nye, an interactive mural painting sponsored by Art Club and Good Karma Cafe.

Commentary by an O*YAD staff member...

Recently I was reading Parade Magazine, a supplement to the Chicago Tribune, and I happened to turn to 'Fresh Voices', an column where teens submit commentary on issues in America. The topic that week was focused on the outcome of September 11 and it's effect on the teenagers of America. A 17-year-old girl in California, who stated, "Honestly, the attacks haven't changed me or many other teens..." shocked me. From looking at the responses surrounding hers, and from listening to the reactions of my fellow students at Deerfield High School it was obvious that it had affected a percentage of the teenage portion of the population. But more than that, I can't comprehend any American really responding that way. I was lucky enough that no one I knew was killed in the tragedy, and yet, I still feel I was affected by what happened that day. A friend of mine turned 18 after the event, and suddenly turning in draft papers seemed more serious than just filling out paperwork. I admit with slight hesitation that I didn't actually know all of the words to 'God Bless America' until this year. It was never important. Now all the sudden the words of those patriotic songs mean something. Type in the keywords 'September 11' on any search engine; look through those thousands of hits. Watch the news. Talk to a friend who might have to go fight for what we believe in because we're in a war, or to the people across the ocean that also shed tears for those who lost their lives. You'll see how our nation, including its teens, was influenced to change their habits over these last few months. We've all been affected in some small way, simply because we're Americans.

A Different View

By: Michael Goldberg

I was disappointed that one of my favorite shows, The Daily Show on Comedy Central, was in reruns for over a week. Finally, the show returned on Thursday, September 20. Jon Stewart, host of The Daily Show, greeted his viewers with a sad face. He recalled the recent tragedy with such emotion and truth that the audience remained silent except for a few nervous laughs at some things that might have been jokes. Who would think that a comedy news show anchor would give one of the best reactions to this devastation? I mean, how many times do you see an anchor cry? I mean, not just a few tears, but all out cry? Jon Stewart was so choked up, he could barely get the words out. The point that really struck me was his recollection of the day Martin Luther King Jr. was shot. He was 5. The only thing he remembers was being able to sit under his desk and get to eat cottage cheese for lunch. Of course, any five year old would love that. He got to sit under his desk and eat cottage cheese, and he thought that was so cool. His recollection was one of the most touching moments. As he concluded, it was obvious that he was struggling to get the words out. He ended by giving viewers something to think about. "The view from my apartment was the World Trade Center, and now it's gone. They attacked it. This symbol of American ingenuity and strength and labor and imagination and commerce and it is gone," he said. "But you know what the view is now? The Statue of Liberty. The view from the south of Manhattan is now the Statue of Liberty. You can't beat that." In the worst of national disasters, the most recognizable American icon stands tall.

Joe De Frank, Editor in Chief- You've really done a super job as an editor this year. You did great work with the senior tributes, the organizations page and the senior thank you page. You're always in the computer lab getting the jobs done before deadlines. We are all glad to say that we never had to use your makeshift panic button! See you next year, we look forward to another year of your leadership as an editor.

Zachary Laks, Editor In Chief- Your people skills rock Zach. We can always rely on you to call up those people we need and get the needed information. There is no way that we could have gotten this year's O'YAD done without you. You stayed after school, regardless of other activities that you needed to do, for the sake of the yearbook. We thank you for your commitment to getting the job done and hope you remember all our inside jokes!

Mr. Regan- The day gets a lot brighter when your happy face emerges from the tech office. We want to finally thank you for all the work and time you have put into the yearbook. We appreciate your snapping us into shape when deadlines loomed on the horizon. The seat at the head of the table will always be reserved for you as long as you keep bringing that Disney hot sandwich maker. We wish you many happy fountain drinks.

Ms. Pataky- From the first time we saw you this year (on cable), we knew that yearbook was going to be another year filled with great Pataky fun. You add an element of humor to the yearbook. You have been an excellent sponsor, being there for us as a group and as individuals, spending countless hours helping us to piece together this book. Good luck with those fruit flies! Thank you very much Ms. Pataky!

Ryan Jacobson, Editor In Chief- With always just a loud shout of "JACOBSON!" away, no one but Ryan can turn a regular everyday situation to the comedic highlight of the day. Everything from the few "Missing Links" of the book to the countless hours spent over some of the harder two page organization spreads. Your contributions to this book were enormous, putting in constant effort and devotion to the book. There is no one that can pull off everything you do and do it so well, keeping up the great attitude you have. The staff looks forward to another year of crazy, witty humor and hard work and devotion. Thanks for the great year.

Rachel Gottlieb- Your persistent smile and upbeat attitude helped to bring a unique perspective to O*YAD this year. Nice work this year Rach! We hope to see more of your great work next year!

Stephanie Brown- You are a determined, very smart student and have made your own definite presence since Jamie has gone to college. You always have brightened the room. Nice work on your pages Stephanie, we hope to see you again next year!

Tyler Mcleod- Your effort was exceptional this year, often staying hours passed the norm to get what had to get done. We were so glad to have you as part of the team. You are an excellent guy and we wish you the best of luck in college!

Mrs. Haravon- Every week the O*YAD staff looked forward to the Thursdays after school when we were awesome sponsor Mrs. Haravon would come and hang out with us. Spending another year with Mrs. Haravon, sharing fun stories and proofing some great copy was an experience we look forward to again, next year! Thanks for the fun year Mrs. Haravon!

Talia Menachem- Your excellent work ethic and creative ideas have really helped to enhance this years yearbook. You are an excellent teamworker and we all enjoyed your presence. We wish you the best of the luck in the years to come.

Ryan Brown- Thanks a lot for all your help this year. Your contributions to the book really help to meet each deadline. We enjoyed getting to know you and we hope to see you back next year on the staff next year!

Liz Schultz- You are an awesome addition the yearbook staff. You are a very organized and smart student who from day one has been "on the ball," dedicated as a team member. Nice work Liz!

Sarah Tallman- Sarah, you have a special O*YAD talent that we as a team value. We all have enjoyed your company and effort. We hope to see you again next year, back in J110 working as hard as you did this year!

Mike Schur- You are a great guy who is smart, fun and easy going. You got many great shots this year for the yearbook and we would have had very limited pictures without you. We wish we had you for the entire year. Having a new mind come in to the process influenced our pages in a positive matter.
