Welcome to my home

Summer - Almost 3 months and no sounds of blaring alarm clock beeps. In the warm weather and sunshine students do everything from camping to canoeing to going to concerts. From working to playing sports and attending busy games, Warriors keep themselves busy. While construction was happening through empty halls at DHS, students were out doing their favorite activities. Whether it be traveling abroad or working with the park district, to hanging out with friends at the beach, summer is a time for students to do everything that they were too busy to do during the hectic school year.

Fun in focus, School Spirit in focus, Traditions in focus. Student Council focused this year's Homecoming theme to the name of "It's Showtime."

The Student Council was busy during lock-in decorating the entire school, which has grown in size. During the week, I-hall became Indiana Jones I-hall. F-hall turned into Fantasia F-hall. The force was strong in Empire Strikes Back E-hall.

The student council sponsored dress up days such as 80's day, jersey day, pajama day, and class color day. Students displayed their school spirit on Friday wearing red and gray and followed the marching band during ninth period.

The week ended with a celebration of spirit at the pep rally. Every class showed their true spirit by dressing in their respective class color and cheered the night away. This year's homecoming court, king (Andy Shlensky) and queen (Lindsey Sherman) were announced and brought the exciting week to a close.

HOME COMING 2002

SHOW

Saturday afternoon students displayed their school spirit to the town of Deerfield. It was a beautiful day and crowds lined the streets showing their love for their Warriors.

The executive boards, sport teams, the marching band, student council, the drill team, the pom squad, and the cheerleaders were all focused on showing their DHS spirit.

The afternoon continued with the varsity football game. The fans supported their Warriors with a victory over the Warriors of Maine East, winning 28-22.

1. Fans packed the stands at the football game; 2. The Senior Exec Board shows thier spirit in black; 3. Allie Tick and Jamie Rubenstein hand candy out to the crowd; 4. Senior Drum Majors Aaron Mulder and James Roberts lead the marching band down Waukegan Road; 5. Andy Shlensky and Lindsey Sherman are this year's Homecoming King and Queen; 6. Fall starts the holiday season, and what better holiday to start it off with than Halloween? Students and teachers got festive this year, coming dressed as ladybugs, hippies, butterflies, bananas, angels, devils, pokemon, and even the King himself. After school, students celebrated by trick-or-treating, having shaving cream fights, or partying at a friend's.

Night Game

It was a dark, cold, rainy Friday night. Some students were holding umbrellas or wearing ponchos, while others were too intense to bother shielding themselves from the chilling rain. The stands were packed with screaming students, alumni, and parents all cheering their Warriors.

Wait a minute, a football game on a Friday night? That can't be right. The school doesn't have lights. For one September night, large, portable lights illuminated Adams Field for the first time in the school's history. The energy coming from the stands was just as strong as the energy coming from the lights. The marching band was louder than ever, the cheerleaders had great spirit, and everyone was cheering their Warriors on as they faced the New Trier Trevians.

Although DHS lost the game after giving a relentless effort, the momentum gained by the team and the fans continued through their conference championship.

Behind the Wheel at DHS

A selection of driving DHS students participated in a survey containing a mock, four question driver's exam. Here's the breakdown of the results. Out of four possible correct answers:

2% recieved a zero
 4% recieved a one
 20% recieved a two 58% recieved a three
 18% recieved a four
 Yes, that's right, 26% of the students surveyed failed the four question quiz! Another worrisome fact is that 24% of the students who recieved a perfect score have also received a ticket for driving violations.

Driver's Ed Exam

- When can you cross a solid double yellow line in the center of the road?
 - After honking your horn three times
 - When turning from a driveway or alley onto the road
 - After yielding the right-of-way to oncoming traffic
 - When the traffic is very light
- A driver must turn his headlights on:
 - Two hours after sunset
 - From 1/2 hour after sunset until 1/2 hour before sunrise
 - At sunset
 - When other drivers turn their lights on
- When parking a car on a downhill grade, the wheels should be turned:
 - Straight
 - To the left
 - To the right
 - None of the above
- When a school bus has stopped for the purpose of picking up or discharging passengers and is displaying a flashing red light or a stop sign, drivers are required to:
 - If coming from the other direction, drivers must STOP passing the bus
 - If coming from the rear, drivers must slow down when passing the bus
 - A driver may slow down and proceed with caution
 - Stop and remain stopped until the bus is in motion

ORGANIZATIONS

Stefanie Hero

Directed by: Carl Menninger Assistant Directors: Aly Sider, Zachary Laks, and Gail Galder

"Stefanie Hero," by Mark Medoff, the tale of a princess on a quest to save her family, was a major highlight in the Deerfield High School Theatre Department this year. The cast of "Stefanie Hero" got the rare opportunity to workshop with the author, Mr. Medoff, who helped them understand the play and interpret it more on a personal level.

Below: The King, Steve Petchenick, the Prince, Adam, James Roberts, and Princess Stefanie, Melanie Derleeth.

The show ran for 8 performances over one week, giving the actors the feel of the average professional show which runs 8 performances a week as well. One of the more interesting aspects of the production was the flying sequence written in the script of the "swans" was actually executed on stage. At most, 5 actors were in the air, on stage. This was the first fall play to be performed in the new Studio Theatre.

Every Wednesday, nestled in the comfort of the new Studio Theatre, there is some major improv going down. Theatrix, the school's improv theatrical group, is a combination of some of the most eclectic students at Deerfield High School. Students come to Theatrix to get away from the stress of school, and to just sit back and laugh. Always a guaranteed laugh at Theatrix, the group is constantly searching for new theatre and improv games to add to the fun time spent with each other.

athletic trainers

If you're someone who loves sports and helping athletes get to their full potential, then being an athletic trainer would suit you well. All student and athletic trainers are allowed to watch athletes in case of an injury, that might decrease the athlete's potential. Being a Student Trainer is a big responsibility, because you learn procedures to perform on the athletes such as bandage care. Student Trainers learn how to perform techniques by developing their skills in the PERC. In the PERC, students learn how to use safe procedures on the athletes. Being a Student Trainer you learn about physical therapy and also the responsibility of caring for others.

Varsity club is an organization made up of students who participate on varsity level sports teams. The club holds many fundraisers throughout the year, including a barbeque at the end of the year. Varsity club's main activity, however, is hosting the Special Olympics. Each year, varsity club members help welcome participants from all over the Chicago land area. Students help throughout the day working with individuals on specific skills like lay-ups, dribbling and shooting. Later, members help referee, keep score, and give out awards during and after the basketball game. Overall, the day is rewarding for all who participate.

The O*YAD editorial staff began the school year in a new home in G-104. "In Focus" started out as an idea on paper with some initial concepts for the cover and layouts. As time progressed, the theme evolved into a unified product encompassing the creativity of the entire staff. Students used the available technology to push the boundaries of what had been accomplished in the past. Unknown to many, the work does not end at the completion of an edition. The editorial staff of O*YAD start working on the 2003 yearbook in May 2002. O*YAD is always on task and is always working to create a better book than the previous edition.

Deerprints has had another successful year of covering news throughout the school. At the national convention in Dallas, Texas, Deerprints placed third in the show, a very high ranking up with some of the best newspapers across the country. The paper is run by the editorial staff, composed of 16 editors who run various sections and have individualized responsibilities, as well as a long list of writers who have contributed their own articles to the paper at different times during the school year. As the voice of an independent student body, Deerprints has accomplished a great deal in keeping the student body "in the know" for news around the school, and has continued to foster ties between the students, faculty, and administration.

WDHS is a vital organization for connecting students and faculty with what's happening in our school and community. Through the broadcast of shows in every classroom, WDHS brings news, entertainment, and fun into every student's day.

But the process of getting these shows made is where the magic really is. Television students become skilled in the processes and equipment used in the professional world of visual media, including script writing, filming and interviewing, and editing footage on up-to-date non-linear (computer) editing systems. Perhaps the "coolest" thing is having their productions air to a real audience of 1600-plus students and adults.

The DHS Jazz Band has a long, proud tradition of entertaining and dazzling their audiences. From fall to Spring, the band plays a wide array of gigs. Of course the band can be seen at traditional fine arts concerts. The DHS jazzers can also be heard at the fine arts assembly, before school during School Chest, and even at the annual Jazz Night.

In addition, Mr. Brame organizes Tuesday Afternoon Jazz, a group for intermediate musicians and Jazz Lab Band, where all students can explore an interest in jazz.

The start of the school year meant that the brand new R-Hall would open to the sounds of music. This year, the Symphonic Band had an especially fun time as band students adapted to the bigger and better band room. In addition to preparing for concerts, the Symphonic Band worked together on projects and learned the history behind woman composers.

The culmination of the year was February's band trip to Grand Rapids, Michigan and Toronto, Ontario. There the Symphonic Band met with band students from Michigan and explored the Canadian city.

Based on the theme of fear and phobias, Stunts-a-Phobia was a wonderful collaboration of comedy, music, and dance. This year, Theatre 3,4 performed a series of small comedic acts in between the scene changes. Other acts included bands, a video showcasing interviews with Deerfield residents and students, student-choreographed dances, and student-written skits including a take-off on the game, Clue. The Stunts band provided themed music in between acts. This year's student directors were Katie Ricciardi and Carly Schoestadt.

Student Executive Boards teach members responsibility and organization. The groups are always working very hard during the year. The boards start the year off on a running foot planning out Homecoming for their respective class.

During the year, the boards plan out different activities. The freshman board makes lunches for the homeless and serve dinner to them one night. The sophomore board works on the Senior Citizen Prom, junior board is planning the Senior Prom and the senior board is working on a selecting a gift for the school. Student Council is composed of elected members from each class. The group meets weekly in order to plan numerous activities. Members devote much of their time to unite the school and help others realize the value of kindness and leadership.

Council began the school year working hard to plan the kick-off dance and to decorate the school for homecoming. At an all night lock-in, Student Council members transformed the school into a festive movie scene.

Council is also responsible for many service projects throughout the year. The Canned-Food Drive was extremely successful, collecting over 10,000 cans. Other service projects include monthly trips to PADS shelter, serving breakfast at Inspiration Cafe, two blood drives and the Morenz Project. Each year student council also sponsors School Chest.

The efforts of this organization are made possible by their sponsors Mr. Heerman and Mr. Chung. 2003 was Mr. Heerman's last year, and his inspiration and compassion will be greatly missed.

In the spirit of the winter holidays, the entire Deerfield community comes together every year to raise money and support for a selected charity. This year's School Chest raised money for the leukemia department at Children's Memorial Hospital. The money was raised in honor of Claire Swanson, Dr. Hanson's granddaughter. The theme for this year's school chest was "We are the children so let's start giving."

Throughout the three weeks between Thanksgiving and Winter break, student council sponsors many different activities in order to raise money and spirit. These include: daily lunch sales, the kick it again dance, a dunk tank, pie-throwing contests, silent auctions, and the annual Pancake Breakfast.

All of the hard work and effort by the entire community truly paid off. School Chest raised a new record of $77,013.99! This year's School Chest has proven to be a defining moment for the student body and a show of commitment in part of Student Council.

GIMA

GIMA is Deerfield's all-girl organization. Each year, GIMA members are divided into three committees, each one responsible for managing one of the three major events throughout the year. One committee works on Mr. DHS, the annual fundraiser that brings in money for school chest. Later in the year, the turnabout committee plans and sets up decorations in the Exhibition Gym for the Turnabout dance. This year's theme was 'Over the Rainbow', inspired by "The Wizard of Oz." GIMA members also helped to organize the Women in Sports breakfast. On February 5th, girls who participated in fall and winter sports were invited to enjoy a delicious breakfast, guest speaker and video montage in honor of National Girls and Women in Sports Day.

This year, fifteen senior guys volunteered their time and enrgy to participate in the annual variety show, Mr.DHS. Attendance was at an all-time high, raising over twenty-one hundred dollars, the most money ever earned.

Contestants showed off thier many talents, including singing, dancing, playing instuments and acting. Mike Mondi helped to bring Elvis back from the dead with his rendition of Jail House Rock. Ben Levitt showed his skills at juggling while Judd Kiddie amazed everyone by solving a rubic's cube while taped inside a cardboard box. Ben Spreckman showed his karate skills and broke 2x4's with his bare hands. The guys all had a great time and came together to make this year's Mr. DHS a success.

Students who meet the admission criteria join the organization during junior or senior year. Even though much attention is given to their induction ceremonies, FHS & SHS give back to the community through the donation of holiday gifts and non-perishable food items. SOS

Student Outreach Service, SOS, is a group of students devoted to helping the community. Every Wednesday, the club gets together to discuss and plan the many options they have as a group to better the lives of others. They annually pack and prepare sack lunches for residents of the PADS shelter in DuPage. Other club activities include visiting the Robert Taylor Homes in downtown Chicago and accompanying the kids on a zoo trip and throwing them a holiday party. Each year, a deserving senior member of the organization receives special recognition and is awarded a scholarship for their dedication to helping others.

CARE is an open discussion group that meets Tuesdays after school and is sponsored by Ms. Foucault and Mr. Kramer. This year, the club's numbers have surprisingly increased, with a possible war on the way. Discussions have been intensely political and emotional as of late. Beyond just the aspects of war, the club's discussions have revolved around school policy, drugs, sex, abortion, the death penalty, terrorism, nationalism, and gun control.

CARE has become a club that constantly looks forward to expressing opinions. This club is rare because it allows people to talk about things that concern them without obligating them to act upon what they say. With that in place, CARE has become the one club where anyone can be cynical, critical, and uninvolved as long as they want to be.

A.W.A.R.E. (Action with Awareness of Rights for Everyone) is an organization that strives to educate the community on global and social issues. It provides an outlet for students to discuss their concerns and questions regarding current events and social injustices.

A.W.A.R.E. works throughout the year to develop forums in order to broaden people's perspectives on different causes.

Furthermore, A.W.A.R.E. hosts an annual Jam for Justice Concert. This is a great night where Deerfield High School bands come together to play music and raise money and awareness for selected political issues. Members of A.W.A.R.E. work hard in order to inspire others to take a stand for what they believe in.

DASA

Are you someone who likes to construct and launch rockets? If your answer is yes, than DASA is the right club for you. This year in DASA, there have been competitions to learn and understand the basic background behind physics. In DASA, there are both team and kit built competitions. During a team built competition, you and your fellow teammates have the opportunity to compare their rockets to the other team. When you are doing kit built competitions, you are allowed to build rockets and compare and contrast the differences between your members. The DASA members get judged on their building abilities and get points for a well-built rocket. The most important thing that the members at DASA get out of the program is how to construct high-powered rockets.

The team members are selected to compete based upon their expertise in the WYSE subjects: Math, Physics, Chemistry, Biology, English and Computer Science. At the regional competition, the two teams with the highest scores advance to the sectional and then state level. One of the best parts of WYSE is that competitors can advance as part of the whole team, or, if the team is defeated, as an individual in a single subject.

The Deerfield High School chorus is broken up into four separate groups. Treble Ensemble is made up of freshman girls, Concert Choir is freshman boys with the sophomore girls, and Chorale is made up of both male and female upperclassmen. Choraliers is a unique group that students have to audition for before becoming a part the group. Each group meets one period every day. The different choral groups sing a variety of songs. They range from being in Latin, German, French, or just plain English. This year's highlight was the trip to New Orleans made by Chorale and Choraliers. In New Orleans, the students got a taste of life in New Orleans and performed in various locations including a mall and a small arts school. The theme for this year's Choral Awards show, the last concert of the year, is Broadway. The Choral Award show also features numerous solos where students have a chance to display their talents away from the group setting.

Under the leadership of Mr. Velleuer, the orchestra has grown in experience and musical commitment. Its members bond socially and musically creating a sense of unity in the ensemble. Orchestra has had tons of fun this year at the combined fall orchestra retreat with Highland Park in Lake Geneva, spending time on a sunny day, playing Ultimate Frisbee, and going paintballing to name a few. The orchestra is also extremely excited to have moved into its permanent room in the new Fine Arts Wing. Various fundraising events throughout the year have helped the orchestra prepare for its February trip to New Orleans.

The group had a blast in the French Quarter working with professionals at Tulane University. The orchestra also reached out to the community through its Encore! Strings performances at local holiday services and office parties. The annual Orchestra Festival which invites district junior high orchestra students to spend a day rehearsing and performing with the high school group which has encouraged many to continue their passion for music. "Orchestra not only shapes us as musicians, but as people," said Senior Rob Gould.

Stage Write is Troubador's sister organization. Stage Write is a celebration of students' creative work, including poems, short stories, essays, drawings and photographs. A student board works to review, analyze and select the pieces to be presented in the actual Stage Write performance. Once selected, the author of each piece has the choice to read the piece in the show, or allow another student to recite it. The show is held in the Studio Theater each spring. Many students, staff, parents, and English classes attend and enjoy hearing the breadth of pieces performed.

Hockey is a great experience for those who want to learn about teamwork while physically pushing themselves at the same time. As a team, hockey players can accomplish goals of winning regional and state championships. This year, led by senior Sammy Dorf and junior Josh Kaplan, junior, the team had a very successful season. The Warriors beat many of the top teams in the state. Hockey has become one of the most popular sports in this school to watch and play, at both the JV and Varsity levels. As 2003 draws to a close, the Varsity and JV squads look forward to next year.

The WERCS is a drop-in center where students are offered assistance in writing and reading comprehension at all levels and in all subject areas. Staffed by English Department members and student volunteers, the WERCS's mission is to teach clear, well-supported writing. Both volunteers and staff members make many scheduling sacrifices to make the WERCS function.

WERCS volunteers work cooperatively with the English Department during all periods to provide exceptional writing instruction and better understanding to the students in need of aid. Whether a student needs help proofing a paper, formulating coherent sentences, or needs guidance on a book they are reading in class, the WERCS is the place to go. In addition, tutoring gives student volunteers a chance to reflect on and improve their own writing.

Every new class at Deerfield High begins as a concept in which a staff member will present it to the administration. students helping other students to succeed

The Early Bird tutors volunteer their time (quite early in the morning!) to help other students in all subject areas. Most tutors are recommended by their teachers and all tutors attend training in the fall. The program opens for business as soon as teachers begin to refer students to the program. Students must be earning a C- or lower to be eligible for the assistance. The pairings meet twice a week and usually last throughout the year.

The tutors help the students understand their material and prepare for quizzes, tests, and other related projects. Both students usually end up benefiting from the sessions: one student understands the material. The other student gains the experience and also creates a closer community within the school as students build relationships with each other. The program could not exist without such strong, dedicated, and kind tutors.

One Acts went under a renovation this year, as the previous productions had consisted of an evening of one act plays, was transformed into a showcase of scenes taken from some of the greatest plays ever written. The focus of the evening was teenage life and the many variances on the theme of being an adolescent. The show was the first production in the new, much larger, much more accommodating Studio Theatre. After seeing the great performances in the evening, the students only wished the school could produce full plays instead of one act performances. The One Act's 2002 production entitled "Strings Of Youth" is definitely a show that will be remember for many years to come. The production successfully created an evening of theatre revolving around a common theme.

The culmination of the year is the State Championship and Invitational tournaments, held each year in Springfield. 2003 was a winning year for the team. After a narrow second place finish in October, the team won the November tournament at Lake Forest. Snowball is a District 113 sponsored event open to all students who want to spend a weekend hanging out with friends, drinking hot chocolate, and talking about important issues in a teen's life. The weekend promotes healthy living and gives students the opportunity to better deal with peer-pressure, stress, and the temptations of destructive behavior. No Snowball experience is complete without a game of Ultimate Frisbee, a campfire, skits, and a crazy teen staff. Held three times a year, the program affords "snowballers" new and old with a chance to learn and grow. Once participants have completed this introductory course, they have the opportunity to take part in Snowball II, a program run completely by teens. More than anything else, the students who walk away from these weekends feel that they have a better understanding of who they are and what they value.

Peer Helping gives individuals a chance to express themselves as well as help others. In the fall, they help transfer students and freshman become accustomed with the school through assisting them finding their way and becoming involved in school activities. Then after training sessions, there are group sessions where Peer Helpers learn communicative skills as well as listening skills through activities. They are split into smaller groups which enable the students to express problems that they may encounter in relationships at home as well as in school. Peer Helpers discuss tactics for how to deal with sticky situations and how to use "people skills." The Peer Helping organization increases in size each year and each year it sends students off with a stronger sense of the feelings and emotions of others around them, ways to help them, and ways to express themselves.

A senior advisor is one of the most sought at job by seniors. They all want to see their class of freshmen succeed in life at Deerfield. From day one of freshmen orientation, the seniors are always helping the freshmen. During orientation, the seniors show the freshmen the way around the building, help them get their books, and tell them what life is like at Deerfield. During the year, the seniors help the advisor with the daily lessons, planning to lead in discussions about different social issues and different activities that bring unity to the class.

Senior Advisors are not just a senior advisor to freshman, but they are like a big brother or sister. Seniors set the example and the tone to the freshman that was once set by their own senior advisors when they were freshmen. In the near future the freshmen may pass that same example down to their own class of freshman.

Freshman and Sophomore gym just wouldn't be the same without the Senior Gym Leaders. On average, two to three Seniors lead a gym class, aiding in attendance, warm ups and instruction. The leaders are there to set the example of good Deerfield High School students. The leaders go through a year of instruction and guidance from Ms. Luehr, learning all the sports covered in the all the Freshman and Sophomore PE classes. The most commonly known symbol of a leader is the proud and loud whistle, always around the neck.

Have you ever dreamed of going to Harvard or the University of Chicago? Students involved in Model United Nations attend conferences held by students of both schools. With over 2,000 delegates from the United States and beyond, both conferences provided an opportunity to gain a greater understanding of international affairs by acting as diplomats, tackling issues from hyperinflation and sovereign debt reconstructing to AIDS orphans. This year DHS represented Costa Rica at Harvard and Cameroon at Chicago. MUN is a selective club that holds tryouts each fall, choosing students who want to learn more about international affairs. Led by veteran delegates, the team meets regularly to discuss issues facing the UN as well as their specific country.

Scholastic Bowl is an academic sport. Deerfield's varsity and frosh-soph teams compete against the other teams of the Central Suburban League in weekly matches. The competitions consist of two halves of fifteen questions. Topics include everything from history to mathematics to general knowledge. Five players for each team race to buzz in with the correct answer. Scholastic Bowl members practice twice weekly and research important topics for upcoming meets. In 2003, the team hosted the CSL Conference Tournament.

Mathletes is an organization of students, a team which competes among fifty-five high school teams in mathematics contests in the Chicago region. It is organized so that freshmen compete with other freshmen, sophomores with other sophomores, Juniors with Juniors, and Seniors with Seniors in topics made known to all at the beginning of the season of competition. Topics are chosen from algebra, geometry, advanced algebra, and Precalculus, respectively. A fifth category, the oralist, goes beyond the 4 written contests to the presentation of answers to three questions orally, alone at the front of a classroom, speaking to three judges who look for corrections to answers as well as how well the answers are presented. There are 5 contests within the organization, occurring approximately once a month. Competition also occurs in the State Mathematics Regional Contest in February, and if successful, the team may advance to State Finals in April. Team members obviously included students who really enjoy doing mathematics in competitions.

Chess Club is a fun environment for people to learn and play chess competitively or just for fun. The chess team meets twice a week and attends various matches and tournaments throughout the year, including the state tournament in March. Students from all grades battle against each other in intense matches in which strategy is everything, winner takes all, and the loser walks away with nothing but the knowledge that they have lost. Chess club members learn the value of a team while also striving towards personal goals of chess club domination. For people who love games, strategy, and fun, chess is the place to be.

Art Club is a unique opportunity for students of all grades who enjoy art to socialize and work on art pieces. Art Club focuses on many group projects every year. They work on play sets, large group paintings, murals, and brightening up DHS. Club members are also allowed to work on their own individual pieces and get helpful comments on them from other members. The DHS Art Club and the HPHS Art Club even get together sometimes to battle it out, or just to have some fun together. Art Club has a relaxing and fun environment for art students. Members meet new friends, and can even get involved in the Celebration of the Arts!

Open stage, open soul. Audiences at Good Karma Cafe shows are witness to expression. Performers bring work to the show from every imaginable media: art, music, song, comedy, poetry. What makes Good Karma unique is the variety of work shown and the diversity of the performances. At any given show one might hear a punk band, a stand-up act, a classical piano piece, an acoustic guitar solo and an original poem. The shows move quickly, with emcees Zach Weil and Greg Spero bridging the gaps and keeping the show moving. Audiences keep the energy high, occasionally coming up with something on the spot and performing at a moments notice. But overall, the positive atmosphere keeps bringing people back - now that's good karma!

Swim guard members give ten Saturday mornings every school year to teaching community children how to swim. The children range in age from 3 to 14, and of different swimming abilities. The most rewarding part of swim guard is watching a child that you have worked with for ten days developing new skills that they will use for the rest of their lives. The swim guard program has such a positive impact on the children in the program, that when they become students at Deerfield, they also join swim guard.

Earthworks is Deerfield High School's environmentalist club, where dedicated students can come to help make a difference. Club members are responsible for collecting and recycling cans from the lunchroom and throughout the school. Each year, on National Recycling Day the club sponsors a recycling booth in an effort to educate the student body on ways to recycle. In April, the club begins preparations for the annual Earth Day Fair, held April 22nd. Four times a year Earthworks members gather to clean up the two-mile stretch of a highway they adopted along Route 22.

Tumblers is a group dedicated to girls talented in dance, gymnastics and performing. Members are selected by an audition and they start preparing for the show at the end of August. Choreographers create original dances then select music to fit the mood. This year's "Black Betty" was the school's favorite. Practice for the performance is held every day after school for three months prior to the show. The program was presented to the school at the end of October and allowed the members to show their talent, hard work and commitment. In the end, it was a spectacular performance that everyone enjoyed.

The combination of a well choreographed piece accompanied by music and the eye catching team is sure to please any spectator. Just about anyone knows about the performances, but what many do not know is that the squad puts in hours and hours of practice time to perfect their routines. The 2002-2003 Cheer Squad doubled in numbers as they inaugurated a second JV squad for the first time in recent years! Due to a huge interest at try-outs, both a Varsity squad and a JV squad were formed. The girls started their season by attending an overnight summer UCA cheer camp. Both squads dominated and received multiple Blue Superior awards at camp, the highest award possible. Varsity also won 2nd place in an all-night camp spirit dance competition.

Other highlights of the year included participating in the annual Fourth of July Parade and Pancake Breakfast at Jewett Park, hosting a car-wash fundraiser, performing an amazing Pep Rally routine that incorporated dance, cheer and stunts, Red Room decoration, riding in the Homecoming Parade, and participating in a Junior Spirit Squad fundraiser. The girls perfected elite level stunts, such as Basket Tosses and Liberties, which provided entertainment and dazzled audiences at football and basketball games!

Focus on Sports

... smile and conic personality will always amuse your family and friends. You can achieve goals you set for yourself. Go for it. As you begin the next chapter of your life, we know that you will take with you all at your fine qualities. You are a bright, kind, honest, and decent young man. Don't even change! We love you. May your future provide a safe journey to higher ground. Travel your own road and follow your dreams. Your true success will be determined by the man in the mirror. We're so proud of you and admire you for your many talents. Remember to call home. We love you so much!! We wish you a wonderful life full of happiness, luck, and success. Whatever life may throw your way, know that your family and friends will be by your side. We are so proud of you! May your big heart, sensitivity, creativity, and endless compassion for others, continue to grow. Believe in yourself and all you dreams will come true. Be true to yourself. You have so many wonderful qualities, which will guide you through life; humor, intelligence, loyalty, spirit, love, beauty, optimism, strength, and the love of your family. We know you will sail forth with confidence! Good luck on the journey! Intelligence, loyalty, goodness, tenacity, integrity, and these are some of your finest qualities. Use them to help you accomplish your dreams. We're always behind you. Aim high, keep focused. You are bound to be part of a growing, and soon to be hard, generation of good, kind, and 'global thinking' leaders. Our world will be a better place because you are warm, generous, peaceful and giving. All our love. We have watched you grow into the wonderful, funny, intelligent and caring person that you are. We are incredibly proud of you. You have filled our lives with immense joy. Your outer beauty is only surpassed by your sweet and thoughtful ways. Pursue your dreams regardless of what people may think. Always be true to yourself and follow your heart. You have talent to reach the stars; the intelligent, know-it-all, true heart to understand future will be what you choose. We are proud of the young man you have become. You have exhibited maturity and determination. You have excelled in school, sports, and life. We are so proud of you. You have shown us that you are a leader and a role model. We love you and we wish you a future filled with health, happiness, and laughter. Completing high school is one of many important milestones you will achieve. You are an incredible daughter who is beautiful both inside and out. Remember that your opportunities are unlimited and the future is in your hands. Always look forward, never look back. We love you very much and are extremely proud of all that you have accomplished. Remember that there is "No day but today." From the day you were born we marveled at your illuminating smile, extraordinary efforts, and unending determination. We are so proud of the person you are, and confident that your best times are still ahead. Congratulations, and continue to enjoy each day! You've welcomed every challenge and surpassed our wildest dreams. You bring joy to our hearts, honor to our name, and music to our ears. Just continue your course, and happiness and success will follow. Love you forever. Go forward with confidence and pride in yourself and your abilities. Your smile, your compassion and your zest for life are what make you so special. We will always be behind you, to applaud, to love you and support you. Thanks for making us so proud! We love you! As you've grown, you've given us true joy in who you have become. Follow your heart towards your dreams. Let faith guide you to knowledge and passion in life. Be secure in our love for you- always. What a fantastic high school career you have had! Your energy, passion, creativity and dedication are inspirational. May the memories of these special years be stepping-stones to your bright and beautiful future. You have filled our lives with so much love, joy and happiness. We are so proud of all your accomplishments, and most importantly the wonderful young woman you've become. Continue to reach for the stars and may all your dreams come true. It's been joyful to journey with you. Parents teach children- children teach, too. You've taught about being human, strong, and willing to try. We are so proud of both of you and all the efforts and accomplishments you've achieved. May all your dreams come true! You are our sunshine. You make our world go round. Congratulations! We're so proud of your accomplishments. You are intelligent, spunky, and warm-hearted. Maintain a positive attitude, stay committed to your ideals, and most of all, enjoy life. All that you are, all that God has made you are our joy and delight. You have so many gifts to give and we will always be behind you, loving and proud. Go out and be a blessing to your world. We love you so very much! Congratulations on your graduation! You have achieved the unimaginable through great courage and deter-

Eric,
Adventure is an attitude we apply day to day- facing new challenges,
seizing new opportunities, testing our resources against the unknown and in the process, discovering our own unique potential.
Here's to your many adventures- we love
you, Lindsey, Jessi, Nicki, Mom, and Dad.

Blumenfeld

Eric

Congrats on making it through high school! Our best advice: find something you love to do, put your energy into doing it well, and maintain your incredible sense of humor always.
And remember, life's too short to be ordinary! We love you.

O*YAD Staff 2K3

Above: The O*Yad staff caught in action during an after-school work session. Editors often stay into the evening to finish pages (like this one) before a deadline.

Andrea Pataky - We're big fans of everything you do for us, Pataky. Your sense of humor always lightens the atmosphere and we're glad to have you on board.

Herb Regan - REGAN, we appreciate all the time you put in with us. We all know that your work and long hours here are the only thing between having this book and a "fall delivery." Good luck next year.

Special Thanks to... Jennie Ellman, Alex Higgs, Haley Meadow, Samantha Ford, Steve Ryan, the people Ford pulled aside in the hall, all DHS sponsors and coaches, and our parents.
